'DRYS' CARRY MAINE BY MAJORITY OF 575

Day of Surprises Began with Victory for "Wets" and Ended in Apparent Defeat.

"WETS" DO NOT GIVE UP

Congressman Hobson Says He Will Introduce Bill Next Winter for Federal Prohibition.

Special to The New York Times.

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 12.—Complete returns from every one of the 521 cities, towns, and plantations in the State indicate at 11 o'clock to-night that the "drys" have been successful in their effort to retain the prohibitory amendment in the Constitution.

After a day of fluctuation, figures favoring first one side and then the other, it was announced to-night that with reports from 350 of the 521 places in Maine, verified, the Prohibitionists had won by 515 votes.

The morning report gave the anti-prohibitionists a majority of 621 votes, with fourteen small towns to be heard from. These small towns polled about 400 votes, in the aggregate almost evenly divided, so that during the day the "wets" lost practically 1,100 votes by retabulation and corrections.

As late as 6 o'clock this evening it was found that a mistake of 200 votes had been made in the little town of Bethel, and in several other places the "wets" were credited with big votes which should have been in the "dry" column.

It has been a day of great excitement in Maine, and the newspaper offices have been besieged all day long, while the throngs have stood in front of the bulletin boards watching the constantly changing figures.

About the middle of the afternoon it became apparent that the prohibitionists were surely though slowly gaining, and the State Committee of the No License League, which in the morning had decided to petition for a recount, joyfully turned over that prerogative to the anti-prohibition leaders.

On account of the fact that the returns from all towns have not been absolutely verified the "wet" leaders have not wholly given up the fight.

Sheriff Lewis W. Moulton of Cumberland County and State Representative John Clark Scates, prominent "anti" leaders, to-night said that they were not satisfied they were beaten, and they further said they thought it very peculiar that all mistakes should have been found to be in favor of the prohibitionists.

With a "dry" victory assured, it will not be possible for the "wets" to obtain another referendum vote on the question until the Legislature shall again meet and by a two-thirds vote decide to resubmit the question to the people a second time. In this effort they will be bitterly opposed by the prohibitionists, so that the old battle which has been brewing for twenty-six years, since the last vote on the amendment in 1884, will have to be fought all over again.

To-night the prohibitionists are celebrating.

Of the three other referendum questions before the people yesterday, that proposing to make Augusta forever the capital of the State, and that favoring the Direct Primaries act were carried by large majorities, according to returns received to-night.

The referendum on the proposition to increase the debt limit of cities of over 40,000 people, which concerns Portland alone, showed 2,491 majority in favor. With no cities and only 196 towns missing out of 521, the vote on the minor propositions was as follows:

Retaining capital at Augusta — Yes, 48,295; no, 30,419.

Increasing debt limit—Yes, 34,413; no, 31,922.

Direct primaries—Yes, 55,840; no, 17,751.

All but two small places—Monhegan Plantation and the town of Otis—had been reported by late afternoon. Monhegan came in at 8:15, and was followed half an hour later by Otis. Monhegan is located on an island a few miles off Booth Bay Harbor, the only means of comunication with the mainland being a small steamer, which runs every other day. The steamer was due in at noon today, but because of unfavorable weather conditions did not arrive until 8 o'clock to-night. The vote—5 for and 7 against repeal—was immediately telephoned to this city.

The town of Otis is situated on a stage road twenty-eight miles from the city of Ellsworth, and it was not until this evening that the returns reached Ellsworth.

Bulletins issued during the day announcing the gradual changing of the complexion of the vote as first recorded aroused unusual attention.

Congressman Hobson of Alabama has promised Mrs. L. M. N. Stevens, President of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, according to her statement to-day, that he would introduce a bill at the next session of the House of Representatives at Washington providing for Federal prohibition.

Mrs. L. M. N. Stevens, resident of the National W. C. T. U., made the following statement to-night:

"On Sept. 9 England cabled: 'Hold the fort, the world watches.'

"We have held the fort against the terrible assaults of the united forces of the liquor makers, liquor sellers, and their allies, and the world will rejoice.

"For months the W. C. T. U. have worked and prayed, and as we have worked we have sung, 'Maine must keep her law,' and to-night a large company of our speakers and workers assembled at Maine W. C. T. U. headquarters in Portland have sung with reverent gratitude: 'Praise the Lord Who helped us, Maine has kept her law.'

"The Maine W. C. T. U. will go forward with its regular work under the heads of Prevention, Educational, Reformatory, and Legislative, and will unite with the National and World's W. C. T. U. and others in the great crusade to secure National prohibition."

Mrs. Stevens to-night sent the following cablegram to the International Conference on Alcoholism, which is in session at The Hague:

"Maine has kept constitutional prohibition."

Frederick G. Fassett, Secretary of the Maine Non-partisan Local Option League, said to-night:

"We do not concede that the amendment has been reaffirmed. There has been so much contradiction in the returns that we do not know what the result is. We shall wait for the official canvass of the vote and at that time shall decide whether or not to take steps to secure an inspection of the ballots."

SPRING LAKE, N. J., Sept. 12.—Gov. Plaisted of Maine, who is here in attendance at the Governors' conference, received word late to-night that Maine had gone "dry" by 250. He said the returns were not official, as the vote would have to be canvassed by the Governor's council, which is to declare the result on Sept. 28. Gov. Plaisted said

NEGLECT ENGLISH COLLEGES

Rich Men's Apathy Contrasted with Our Millionaires' Gifts.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—American millionaires' benefactions to universities are contrasted with the apathy of rich men in England in this respect by the Right Hon. Walter Runciman, President of the Board of Education, in the introduction to a Blue Book issued today.

Mr. Runciman says there was probably never a time when university education was in greater need of adequate encouragement, adding:

"The small extent to which university work is endowed by private benefaction in this country is emphasized if comparison is made with the measure of support forthcoming in other countries. The weakness of the appeal which university education makes in the present day to the imagination of the wealthy finds its counterpart in the apathy of the public at large, and this apathy is only too frequently reflected in the attitude of local authorities."

ENGLISH SCHOOLBOYS STRIKE

Trouble in Many Towns—Demonstrations Followed by Canings.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—Young England appears to be in a state of unrest, following the example set in the recent strikes by the laboring classes.

There have been strikes of schoolboys at London, Liverpool, Manchester, Hull, Sheffield, Grimsby, Llanelly, Bradford, Ashton-Under-Lyne, and even in Scotland, at Leith.

The boys drew up manifestoes, held demonstrations, and engaged in picketing just like their elders. They object to the use of the cane by schoolmasters, and also want an extra half-holiday on Wednesday afternoon.

At Islington to-day the boys smashed the school windows with stones, and in Hull there was promiscuous stone throwing, with much damage to windows in the neighborhood.

In most places the strikes collapsed and canings have been in order.

SENDS GOLF CLUBS TO TAFT.

Andrew Carnegie Has Set Made in Scotland for the President.

Special to The New York Times.

BEVERLY, Mass., Sept. 12.—A gift from across the sea brought by a lifelong friend made the President happy this afternoon. It is a set of golf clubs from Andrew Carnegie, who is in Scotland.

The golf clubs were brought to the President this afternoon by Jacob D. Schmidlapp of Cincinnati, an old-time friend of the President. Mr. Schmidlapp has been spending the Summer touring Europe, and was a guest of Mr. Carnegie at his Scotland home. Mr. Carnegie, knowing the President's fondness for golf, made the suggestion that perhaps the President would be pleased to have a set of golfing clubs. Mr. Schmidlapp thought the suggestion a very happy one, and offered to bring the clubs with him when he sailed for America. He made a special trip to Beverly to see the President and present the clubs.

Many of the clubs are of a pattern particularly adapted to the course at Myopia, and the President will use them when he plays to-morrow.

There were a number of callers this afternoon at Parramatta, including the Rev. C. Sylvester Horne, M. P., pastor of the Congregational Church in London, who is in this country with a letter to Ambassador Bryce from Sir Edward Grey, and embraced the opportunity of making a trip to Beverly to see the President and to pay his respects. Lloyd Bryce, recently appointed to the diplomatic service, and Mrs. Bryce and Charles E. Hatfield, Chairman of the Massachusetts Republican State Committee, also called.

Secretary Charles D. Hilles, who was here for a few hours yesterday, has been called to Lancaster, Ohio, by the death of his father-in-law, and may not be able to return to Beverly in time to leave with the President on the Western trip, which begins Friday night. Secretary Hilles, if he cannot return to Beverly in time, will join the President when he reaches the West, and will be with him for the balance of the trip.

RECONCILED TO ROTHSCHILDS

Their Estrangement from Miss Menn After Baron's Suicide Ends.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 12.—A reconciliation has been effected between the members of the Rothschild family and Miss Olga Menn, the Chicago girl whose fiancé, the young Baron Oskar Rothschild, killed himself two years ago, because the father, Baron Albert Rothschild, would not consent to their marriage. Dr. Rudolph Menn, who met his daughter and his wife when they arrived here to-day on their return from Europe, made this announcement.

The sad romance began in Chicago, when the scion of the Austrian branch of the Rothschild family met Miss Menn at a social event here. He was making a trip around the world. Baron Rothschild paid marked attention to Miss Menn, who later with her mother went to Vienna for the formal engagement. Everything went well until Baron Albert Rothschild told his son that he would not consent to an American girl becoming a member of his family.

Young Rothschild pleaded with his father in vain. He then went to his room, where he wrote a farewell note to Miss Menn and killed himself.

"I never intend to marry now," said Miss Menn. "The memory of Oskar will always be sacred to me."

MELLEN AND BOARD DISAGREE

New Haven's Head May Withdraw if Dividend Is Cut.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 12.—Efforts to reach President Mellen of the New Haven Railroad were futile to-day. The only statement the press department of the railroad could be induced to make was that he could not be reached. He is believed to be somewhere in Maine inspecting the Maine Central system. The railroad and financial men have been guessing since yesterday about the meaning of his retirement as President, which was announced yesterday morning and denied last evening by the press bureau of Mr. Mellen's railroad.

In financial circles the belief is general that the railroad Directors have President Mellen's resignation, and that they are at liberty to lay it on the table or accept it as they desire. It is also believed that the Directors, much against the wishes of President Mellen, have determined to reduce the dividend rate from 8 to 6 per cent., and that President Mellen's willingness to retire dates from their decision to reduce the dividend rate.

The absence of General Manager Samuel Higgins because of ill-health has led President Mellen to combine that office with the office of assistant to the President, which has been held by H. J. Horn. Mr. Horn has assumed the duties of both positions. It is not believed that Mr. Higgins will return to the railroad. This measure of economy will save the railroad about $15,000 a year.

GET CONFIDENCE KING WHO MADE $1,500,000

S. A. Potter Accused by Secret Service Officials of Using Mails in Old Green Goods Swindle.

$50,000 CASH BAIL REJECTED

Forfeited $23,000 Bond in Philadelphia Only a Year Ago—Also Used Fake Mine Game.

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—S. A. Potter, who is said to have obtained more than $1,500,000 from unwary investors of two continents in the last few years by means of gold-brick swindles, green goods, fake mines, and other confidence games, was locked in jail here to-night.

He was arrested to-day by O. F. Dewoody, Division Superintendent of the Department of Justice, after being sought for a year by United States Secret Service men and the police of almost every city in the country. English detectives of Scotland Yard also are said to have sought Potter.

Potter, who also is known as George W. Post, was wanted here on an indictment for swindling returned in the United States Court in July, 1910. Potter and a companion, Edward Starkloff, also are wanted in Philadelphia, where each forfeited a $23,000 bond in the United States Court a year ago.

In view of this forfeiture and the report that the confidence men, of whom Potter is said to be the chief, continually kept a large amount of protection money within reach, Chief Dewoody will make every effort to keep his prisoner under lock and key until he is brought to trial. A cash bond of $50,000 offered by Potter was refused by Federal officials, who declared nothing less than $150,000 cash bond would gain him his temporary liberty.

Potter was arrested at his residence on the South Side, where he is said to have lived for several months.

A great quantity of evidence was found, including what the secret service men termed a "sucker list" of former and prospective victims. The list is said to contain a greater number of names of residents of cities than of rural inhabitants.

After making the arrest Supt. Dewoody remained for several hours in the luxuriously furnished apartment occupied by Potter and his wife in the hope of capturing Potter's companion. The telephone rang once, but when Dewoody answered the man at the other end of the line became suspicious and hung up the receiver.

Potter and Starkloff have operated in nearly every large city in the world under numerous aliases, according to Supt. Dewoody. With other members of their gang they came to Chicago early in 1910 and opened an office in the downtown district. By sending out literature offering to sell paper bills printed from forms alleged to have been stolen from the United States Mint at Philadelphia at a discount of 50 per cent. they swindled credulous investors of large sums, according to Supt. Dewoody.

The band of swindlers also operated in gold-mine swindles, according to Federal officials. While Potter and Starkloff made their headquarters in Chicago or some other large American city, their companions went to London, Berlin, and other foreign cities to interest wealthy men in the gold-mine swindle.

Suspecting nothing, the victim would be brought to America and introduced to Potter, who would profess that the mine was worth millions, but could be bought cheap from Starkloff the owner.

"Starkloff is dying," he would say, "and he hasn't made out the papers for the mine. I must step over and see him again."

On his return he would say he could get the mine for $280,000.

Potter once handed $140,000 in real money to a victim who, after placing an equal amount in the satchel provided, went unescorted but watched to Allen's home. He received the deed to the mine and hastened back to Potter's apartments. When Starkloff received the money, he sprang from his "deathbed," summoned the other members of the gang, and took the money from the victim.

When victims insisted upon seeing the mine, they were taken to a tract of mountain land in Montana that had been "salted."

After jumping their bail in Philadelphia last year they flooded Wisconsin with green-goods literature, which was shipped from Chicago to New Orleans, where it was mailed.

Potter and Starkloff are under indictment in Chicago for illegally using the mails to defraud and operate a confidence game. An indictment charging illegal use of the mails also is pending against them in the Federal Court in New York.

Supt. Dewoody said:

"Potter is the cleverest confidence man in the world in my opinion. He and his companions have obtained $1,500,000 in a few years by means of the green-goods, gold-mine, and gold-brick swindles. They are known to the police of every big city. A certain percentage of their earnings was put aside for use in getting the members out of trouble in case of arrest, and as a result they always have a large amount of cash for immediate use.

"We have been after Potter and his companions for a long time, but found no trace of them until several days ago. We have not decided on what charge we will prosecute Potter, as he is under indictment in Chicago, Philadelphia, and New York for using the mails to defraud."

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 12.—S. A. Potter, alias George W. Post, who is under arrest in Chicago, is declared by Postal Inspectors of this city to be one of the "best known men in the green-goods business." He was arrested here in May of last year on the charge of using the mails to defraud.

The Postal Inspectors charged that Potter, together with E. Starkloff, dealt in gold mines that did not exist, and that their customers were Englishmen. It was their plan, the Inspectors say, to write to relatives of dead Englishmen who had been prominent, telling them that the deceased was interested in gold mines in America, and that a fortune awaited the heirs if the property was acquired. The postal authorities say that the two men, through money sent them by the heirs, amassed large fortunes.

The arrest of Potter and Starkloff in this city in May of last year created a sensation. Both maintained luxurious homes in a fashionable suburb, and they were considered business men of wealth, their families mingling with the exclusive social set of the neighborhood. They were each held in $23,000 bail, and failing to appear for trial the bail was declared forfeited.

The police of every country in the world were notified to be on the lookout for the fugitives, but until word was received from Chicago to-day nothing had been heard of either of them. The Postal Inspectors believe that Starkloff's capture will be soon made.

ITALY HAS DECIDED TO SEIZE TRIPOLI

Turkish Province to be Occupied by Her if Porte Does Not Grant Her a Protectorate.

THE ARMY AND NAVY READY

Dispute Over Morocco Regarded as Giving an Opportunity to Take Tripoli That Will Never Recur.

ROME, Sept. 12.—Premier Giolitti had a long conference to-day with the Minister of War, Gen. Spingardi, and the Minister of Marine, Admiral Cattolica, regarding the Tripoli question.

The Prime Minister, it is understood, said that if the Turkish Government were not ready to recognize Italian influence over Tripoli in some form of protectorate, the only recourse must be the military occupation of that Turkish province.

Both the Minister of War and the Minister of Marine declared that everything was ready for a military expedition, backed by the Italian navy. Indeed, the Engineer Corps has already made preparations for the occupation of the region should its services be required.

If the Government deems it necessary to use troops for this purpose they will be dispatched from Naples and Taranto.

The Italian press urges the Government not to allow the present chance to seize Tripoli to be lost, pointing out that, after a settlement has been reached in the Mediterranean between France and Germany regarding Morocco, such a favorable opportunity will never recur.

The Italian people as a whole do not display much enthusiasm over the prospect of Italy obtaining concessions in Tripoli, recalling previous Italian colonial disasters.

For a good many years Italian statesmen have been engaged in constructing a "Tripoli question," and it has been understood that in the event of the long anticipated division of the Turkish empire Italy would demand as her share at least that province (vilayet) which comprises about 400,000 square miles of desirable country bordering on the Mediterranean and bounded on the east by Egypt, on the west by Tunis and Algeria, and on the southeast and south by the Sahara.

The population is about 1,000,000, mostly Berbers, though there are many Jews. The Europeans number 5,000, principally Maltese and Italians. There are practically no Turkish settlers. The principal towns are Tripoli, the capital, with 30,000 inhabitants, and Benghazi, with 35,000.

There are said to be about 10,000 Turkish troops in Tripoli. The capital is connected by cable with Malta.

Tripoli was settled by the Carthaginians and was captured by the Romans. Later it passed into the possession of the Vandals and the Greeks, and in the seventh century was conquered by the Arabs. Ferdinand the Catholic captured the City of Tripoli in 1510 and afterward it was the property of the Knights of St. John. The country has been part of the Turkish Empire since 1551, though for more than a century previous to 1835 the Sultan's authority was practically non-existent and the country was a stronghold of pirates. In 1815 an American expedition exacted reparation for injuries done to American commerce. In 1835 Turkey sent a strong expedition to Tripoli and has enforced her authority since then, though there have been several rebellions.

WOMAN ALL AFLAME.

She Had Sewed Herself in Cotton Soaked in Oil—Ill of Religious Mania.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 12.—Quiet Pleasantville was stirred into a frenzy of excitement early to-night when a woman wrapped in flames from head to foot ran shrieking into the street from the home of William Goff, a real estate dealer in the "off-shore" town.

Nearly 200 residents of the borough were assembled at a public meeting in Red Men's Hall, a short distance from Mr. Goff's home, on Georgia Avenue, and as the vanguard of this throng reached the blazing figure of the woman they immediately set about beating out the flames. By the light of hastily procured lanterns the terribly scarred woman was identified as Mary Effort, a servant employed by Mr. Goff, and in a desperate effort to save her life she was conveyed at utmost speed to the Atlantic City Hospital in an automobile.

The woman came to Pleasantville from Baltimore, Md., three months ago. In the past few days she had shown signs of religious mania, shouting at frequent intervals in the day time that the Lord was calling her and prowling about the house at all hours of the night.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Goff left the house early to-night, leaving the servant alone to complete her housework. Shortly before 8 o'clock John Schoppey saw flames issuing from the kitchen window, and as he burst into the house the woman, all ablaze rushed shrieking past him into the street. She was yelling at the top of her voice: "The Lord is calling me!"

That she had contemplated destroying herself by fire was shown by the fact that she had sewed large quantities of cotton about her clothing, and after saturating it with oil, had set fire to her clothing at different places. She was a complete mass of flames as she burst suddenly into the view of the startled throng gathered at Red Men's Hall.

Many of the women who witnessed the terrible scene became hysterical. At the hospital the physicians consider her condition critical. Her death is expected at any hour.

SOLDIER DROWNS.

Canoe of West Point Private Overturns—Companion Reaches Shore.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Sept. 12.—Private Shultis of the Post Hospital Corps of West Point was drowned in the river near Constitution Island on Monday night.

Shultis, in company with the sixteen-year-old son of Bandman Rittenhouse, was canoeing from West Point to Cold Spring about 9 o'clock when his craft overturned. Young Rittenhouse managed to reach shore, but Shultis was drowned. Shultis seemed to have no control of the canoe after getting well into the river. His body has not yet been recovered.

MRS. W. L. SUYDAM, JR., MISSING FROM HOME

Well-Known Member of Society Gone for a Week—Young Friend Missing Also.

HE IS A PLUMBER'S SON

Young Woman's Husband Goes to His Father's Home at Blue Point, L. I. —Her Parents Summoned.

Society folk at Blue Point, L. I., and in the fashionable neighborhood surrounding learned with astonishment yesterday that Mrs. Walter Lispenard Suydam, Jr., wife of one of the younger members of the social colony there and in the highest New York social circles, had left her husband and home last Tuesday, and that her present whereabouts was not known to her husband.

At the same time it became known that Frederick Noble, son of Harry M. Noble, a boss plumber with offices at 389 Decatur Street, Brooklyn, who has had a cottage at Blue Point for many years, is also missing. The two had been very friendly.

Mrs. Suydam, Jr., who was Miss Louise Lawrence White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Jay White of New York and Washington, is 25 years old. She was married to Mr. Suydam, who is two years her elder, in the Church of the Heavenly Rest in this city in June, 1903. It was one of the fashionable weddings of the year. The Suydams are related to the Delafields, Lispenards, Sturgises, Halls, Whites, and other old families, including the Jays.

Young Suydam's father, Walter Lispenard Suydam, Sr., gave the young couple a cottage on the half-mile short-front estate near Blue Point, and when they were not there they were at their town house, in East Seventy-sixth Street. The young husband studied law at New York University, but was advised to abandon his studies and turn to an outdoor life. He devoted himself to fishing in Great South Bay, often taking his young wife with him on his forty-two-foot auxiliary sloop, Nemesis.

On one of these fishing trips, six years ago, Mr. Suydam engaged young Noble, then 15 years old, to assist in the cooking and work about the sloop. This was the first time that either Mr. or Mrs. Suydam had ever seen him. After a time Mrs. Suydam grew tired of this kind of life, and when her husband was away on his trips she found solace in social activities. Her husband did not care for society at all, always devoting himself to his outdoor pursuits.

This Summer her husband gave her an automobile. She learned to drive it herself, and within the last three months was often seen taking long drives with young Noble, and he was seen often with her about the neighborhood. When the local Improvement Society gave a fair last month, at which Mrs. Suydam was in charge of one of the booths, it was observed that the young man was very attentive to her.

Last Friday Mr. Suydam, having heard rumors of his wife's actions, is said to have asked her for an explanation, and that night he went to his father's house, a few hundred yards from his own cottage, leaving his life alone with the servants. He is said to have told her on leaving that he could not live under the same roof with her. He also telegraphed to Mr. and Mrs. John Jay White, his wife's parents, who were spending the Summer at Bar Harbor, Me., to come immediately to Blue Point.

The next day, Sunday, Mrs. Suydam was ill, and she was still in bed when her parents arrived on Monday.

On Tuesday the young wife, with the help of her maids, packed all her personal belongings and sent them to New York. Without the knowledge of her husband or parents, according to Mr. Suydam, she took an afternoon train for New York and has not returned since. At the cottage last night a maid answered the door bell and said that none of the family was at home. She said that Mr. Suydam was at his father's house. There he was quite willing to talk of his wife's departure. He said:

"I can give no explanation of why she left other than the one she gave me—that she loved Noble more than she did me. She has never been from under my roof a single night before, to my knowledge, and her leaving is a great shock to me. It is true that Noble went automobiling with my wife and was entertained at my house, but he never appeared when I was at home.

"It is true that I was often away from home on fishing trips, but my wife never complained of that to me. While blue fishing was good off Fire Island, fifteen miles away, during the Summer, I was in the habit of leaving on my sloop at sundown and staying away all night because that is the only time that one can catch blue fish successfully. In the mornings I returned with my catch, of course, selling my fish in the market just as any other fisherman would. When I reached home I never noticed that anything was wrong.

"I can't understand why my wife left me. I gave her everything she wanted, and I thought she was happy here. She never complained about a single thing. Her parents could not understand it, either. I have made no attempts so far to find her. I received by mail the mileage book she used on her trip to New York last Wednesday. It was inclosed in an envelope which was in her own handwriting and posted in New York. That is all that I have heard from her. She left no letter."

At the home of the Nobles it was admitted that young Noble had not been home since last Tuesday. His brother, Wallace, said that he had come to Manhattan with him on Tuesday morning. The family said that they had not had a word from their son since he left.

LAWYER THROWN FROM AUTO

Michael Sullivan's Motor Strikes Tree Near Highland Mills.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Sept. 12.—Michael Sullivan, 74, a lawyer, of 141st Street and Third Avenue, New York, was seriously injured in an automobile accident at Highland Mills last night, when his machine crashed into an elm tree and was wrecked.

Mr. Sullivan, accompanied by his son and grandson, was in an automobile on the State Road. When on the grade leading to Highland Mills, at the curve known as the Great Bend, he attempted to apply the brakes. These refused to work, and the machine, unable to make the turn, went off the road into the ditch, running twenty feet into the field.

Mr. Sullivan was thrown out and struck on his head. He was placed in a machine and taken to the Highland Mills Hotel, where Dr. Sprague attended him. Later he was taken to his home in New York.

FIRE RAGING IN ANTWERP.

Firemen Seem Powerless to Check It —A Railway Depot Destroyed.

ANTWERP, Wednesday, Sept. 13.—A great fire has started here, and five vast woodyards are blazing furiously. A large railroad depot and several houses have been consumed.

The glare is visible as far as Brussels. All the firemen of the district have been called out, but seem powerless to check the flames. The garrison has been ordered out to aid them.

The fire will, it is believed, prove to be the most extensive here in years. The damage is already estimated at millions. It will probably be several days before the fire burns itself out.

MARTIAL LAW AT BILBAO.

Troops Kill Strike Rioters—Business Stopped—Bridge Blown Up.

BILBAO, Sept. 12.—The strike situation in this city is seriously and is steadily growing worse.

A state of siege has been proclaimed and reinforcements of 5,000 troops are on their way here.

Business is at a standstill, stores are closed, and the tramways and railways have stopped.

Desperate encounters between strikers and troops are of constant occurrence. The soldiers have fired on mobs several times, and last night the Civil Guards wounded eight persons, two of them mortally.

Striking miners at Oviedo dynamited a railroad bridge in order to prevent the transport of coal from a colliery where the men refused to strike. Troops have been dispatched to that town.

STEAMERS TO ATLANTIC CITY.

Freight Boat Running and Passenger Steamer Under Construction.

A water freight service between New York and Atlantic City was opened yesterday by the Atlantic City Transportation Company, which has been operating a similar service between Philadelphia and Atlantic City for the last two years. Sailings are scheduled for every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday from Pier 8 East River at 5 P. M.

It was also announced that the company will within a few months put in service a passenger steamer between this port and the New Jersey resort. The passenger vessel is now under construction, and will be nearly as large as the Sandy Hook boats operated by the Central Railroad of New Jersey. The vessel will be operated the year round.

ALLAN RYAN NOT ILL.

Laughs When Told Story That He Was Stricken with Tuberculosis.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Col., Sept. 12.—Allan A. Ryan, son of Thomas F. Ryan, the financier, laughed heartily when told to-day of the report current in New York that he is seriously ill of tuberculosis. When seen at his hotel apartments Mr. Ryan answered the query with:

"Do I look very ill? I am simply out here for a vacation and have not the slightest idea of how long I will stay."

Mr. Ryan was dictating a letter and looking about as well as a man could look.

BIG CHICAGO POWER MERGER.

Consolidation of Concerns Controlled by Edison Interests Expected Shortly.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—It is expected that a consolidation of the suburban electrical lighting and power concerns around Chicago, controlled by the Commonwealth Edison interests, will be concluded shortly. Between 95 and 98 per cent. of the stock of the North Shore Electric, the Economy Light and Power, and the Illinois Valley Gas and Electric Companies has already been deposited with the Illinois Trust and Savings Bank for exchange in a new corporation to be formed to take over the properties.

The deal will be consummated, it is said, as soon as Samuel Insull can find time to divert his attention from elevated railroad matters.

RABID DACHSHUND

Bites Two Boys, Several Dogs, Cats, and a Cow at New Rochelle.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., Sept. 12.—Henry and Alfred Fanelli, young sons of Detective Joseph Fanelli of Fourth Street; several dogs and cats, and one cow were bitten yesterday by a rabid dachshund in West New Rochelle.

The dog was shot by the boys' father and the head sent to the New York Board of Health, where an examination of the brain showed indications of active rabies. The police have been unable to find the owner of the dog, and the residents of West New Rochelle have been advised to confine their cats and dogs and keep them under observation for at least three weeks.

The cow that was bitten belongs to an Italian resident, who locked her in his barn and is now buying milk from a dairy.

The Fanelli boys, when the report was received from the analysts, at once began to take the Pasteur treatment for hydrophobia.

COURT UPHOLDS REYBURN.

Rules That Philadelphia Mayor Can Remove City Officials.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Penn., Sept. 12.—The Common Pleas Court decided to-day that Mayor Reyburn has the power to remove public officials whom he appointed to office, and therefore acted within his rights when he ousted Mr. Stearns. The case was argued before a full bench of the court (Judges Breger, Magill, and Kinsey) by John G. Johnson for Mr. Stearns and by Mr. Alcorn, City Solicitor, for the Mayor. In fifteen minutes after the close of the argument the Judges agreed and rendered their decision.

"Personally," said Mr. Stearns, "I am more than satisfied with the opinion of the court, in so far as it relieves me from the duties of a service which I have many times desired to give up. My only object in fighting the case was to attempt to compel the Mayor to set forth reasons for his action."

The opinion of the court left open the question whether Harry A. Mackey legally holds office. There now exists a vacancy in the office of Director of the Department of Public Works.

GOVERNORS CLASH ON THE REFERENDUM

O'Neal of Alabama Stirs First Spring Lake Session with an Attack on Modern Prophets.

WILSON JOINS DEFENDERS

Tries Role of Peacemaker, but Brings Out Vigorous Retort from Southerner —Twenty-one Governors There.

Special to The New York Times.

SPRING LAKE, N. J., Sept. 12.—After a somewhat humdrum reading of papers for several hours the conference of Governors which began its sessions here today took on a lively aspect late this afternoon when the initiative, referendum and recall were brought into the discussion by Gov. Emmett O'Neal of Alabama, who read a paper on "Strengthening the Power of the Executive." He spoke in approval of the tendency in that direction and then denounced the opposite tendency as shown in the movement for direct legislation and the recall. Gov. Woodrow Wilson was one of those who took issue with him on that subject, and the discussion became very warm. To those who defended these new political nostrums Gov. O'Neal retorted that the recall "would concert the public officer into a spineless and servile hireling, stirred by every passing breeze of public opinion, obeying every popular impulse and yielding to every wave of popular passion or prejudice."

In his paper Gov. O'Neal had traced the power of the Executive in our Government from Colonial times to the present, and praised the modern tendency to extend it. Then he said:

"But there is another movement that seems to be gathering strength in certain sections of the Union which tends to weaken rather than strengthen Executive authority, and that is the system of the initiative, referendum, and recall. It is manifest that if the people can frame and enact laws without the aid or the intervention of the Governor or the Legislature, to that extent their control over legislation is destroyed. The Governor has no power to veto or amend a law initiated by the people and adopted by referendum. If the law is in violation of the Constitution, invades vested rights, or destroys individual liberty, the only remedy can be found in the courts; and where the system of recall of Judges prevails, overthrowing as it does the independence of the judiciary, the courts would no longer furnish a bulwark of defense against arbitrary power or the tyranny of the majority, but would degenerate into tribunals organized chiefly to register popular judgment on legal questions."

When Gov. O'Neal made this thrust everybody expected Gov. McGovern of Wisconsin, who has long been one of Senator La Follette's chief lieutenants, to come to the front for them, and they were not disappointed. It would be unfortunate, he said, for the idea to go out that the conference of Governors was opposed to the initiative, referendum, and recall for the reason that they would hamper the Governor. If the extension of the power of the Governor would facilitate his work in carrying out the will of the people, he was in favor of it, but if the object of such an extension was to permit him to defeat the popular will, he should oppose it.

"Don't attempt," he said, "to array the Governor under any conditions against enlightened public opinion."

Wilson as Peacemaker.

Gov. Wilson said an apparent difference of opinion had arisen in the conference which he believed was only apparent.

"It seems to me," he said, "that on the question of the initiative and referendum it is necessary that we carry the analysis a little further than it has been carried. A very important thing, a fundamentally important thing, is the source of the law. Some of the laws that we have are bad laws and they are bad for a reason that there is a suspicion as to their source. The people of the United States want their Governors to be leaders in matters of legislation because they have serious suspicion as to the source of the legislation, and they have a serious distrust of their Legislatures."

Gov. Wilson then cited Great Britain as an example of a country where the Executive undertakes to formulate practically all the legislation for the kingdam, and when the Legislature refuses to follow, the Executive dissolves the Legislature and goes to the people and says: "Will you send us men who will follow us or will you not?" As a consequence, he said, it is the strongest and most directly democratic Government in the world.

"Therefore," he continued, "what I would urge as against the views of Gov. O'Neal is that there is nothing inconsistent between the strengthening of the powers of the Executive and the direct power of the people."

He spoke of the caprice of the majority. "I have known of instances of the caprice of the mob," he said, "but I have never known of any instance where the vote of the pouulation was spoken of as a caprice. I have read of gentlemen speaking recently in distrust of the people and using that old, erroneous phrase, 'mob rule.'

"What is a mob? A mob is a body of people immediately associated with each other, acting under the impulse of passion, but that does not apply to a thousand men in a community in scattered portions casting their ballots.

"I don't believe there is any distrust of the fundamental principles of democracy. I believe we are all democrats, if we use a small 'd.' I wish for the salvation of your souls that I could use a large 'D' also. I believe that Gov. O'Neal feels as Gov. McGovern feels, and that we are merely at odds as to the best method of giving expression with reference to that great public opinion upon which all depends."

O'Neal Vigorously Retorts.

Gov. Wilson bowed and sat down. Gov. O'Neal sprang to his feet and shouted the reiteration of his belief.

"I would rather stand with Madison and Hamilton," he said, "than to stand with some modern prophets and some of our Western statesmen."

"The whole purpose of a Constitution," he also said, "is to protect the minority and limit the power of the majority. There has never been a government by the majority without a constitutional limitation on its power that has outlived a generation. Gov. Wilson has overlooked the fact that when I spoke of the caprice of a majority I was speaking of the recall of Judges. When you establish an arbitrary recall of Judges you have instituted mob law in this country. I agree that the British system is a good one, but that is quite different from the initiative and referendum. I believe that if the Legislature will not co-operate with the Governor to carry out the people's will he should have the power to appeal to them to commission other men as legislators, but not to enact laws themselves."

"Then don't you think," asked Gov. Hoke Smith of Georgia, "that it would also be in order for the Legislature to have a chance to bring about the recall of the Governor?"

"If the Governor doesn't carry out the will of the people," replied Gov. O'Neal, "let him try for re-election and he will soon find it out."

What Colorado Did.

"The trouble is," said Gov. John F. Shafroth of Colorado, "that lobbyists swarm in the halls of legislation and the people's will is ignored. The people have voted for certain laws explicitly, and yet they have been defeated year after year in the Legislature. In my own State certain proposals were adopted unanimously by the convention of my party and were largely indorsed by the other party, yet the Legislature adjourned without passing one of them.

"What would you do in such a case as that? Is it possible that the people should be helpless? I called a special session just before the time that the members were up for renomination, and they finally passed the initiative and referendum. In the election it was ratified by the voters 8½ to 1, but it had been beaten in the Legislature year after year. I don't believe the people would be willing to give me an increase in power if we as Governors stood remote from them. With the initiative and referendum the corporations will not pay money to men who can't determine legislation and who are not the final arbiters."

"I would like to ask," interjected Gov. Albert W. Gilchrist of Florida, "if it was not the caprice of a majority that foisted all of you into the executive chair?"

The question of strengthening the power of the executive was the subject of a paper by Gov. Edwin L. Norris of Montana, as well as by Gov. O'Neal. Gov Norris advocated giving the Governor power to remove peace and prosecuting officers. The people, he said, held the Governor responsible for the non-execution of laws which he was sworn to enforce, and yet the Governor lacked any power to compel an unwilling Sheriff or District Attorney to enforce them. As the people put the responsibility on the Governor he believed they would willingly give him the power. The Governor was also held responsible for the enactment of legislation that had been promised, and yet he had no power to bring it about. The Governor should have power to submit to the voters legislation he desired enacted. He should submit bills to the Legislature, and if they were not passed then they should be put before the people. He would thus have the power to carry out the pledges on which he was elected. Conversely, the Legislature should have power to submit to the voters a bill passed by it and vetoed by the Governor. In this way legislation desired by the people could not be defeated by a reactionary Governor or by an unwilling Legislature.

"Instead of needing Governors with more powers, we need Governors with more backbone," said Gov. Gilchrist.

Gov. William W. Kitchin of North Carolina seemed to envy the other Governors who complained of lack of power, and drew a pathetic picture of his own position. In his State the Governor has nothing to do with legislation, either to approve or veto it, and no power of appointment or removal, except a few boards governing State institutions.

"One of the questions Mr. Bryan has been asking," he said, "is, 'Are you in favor of the absolute separation of three functions, executive, legislative, and judicial?' If he asked anybody in North Carolina that he would get this answer: 'Yes, because that's the way we have it.' We have no Pardon Board, and the result is that the Governor is overrun with applications. When a Pardon Board is suggested they say: 'Oh, let the Governor attend to that; he has nothing else to do.'"

Gov. John Burke of North Dakota said the purpose of giving the Governor more power was not for his aggrandizement, but to give him the means of serving the people more efficiently.

Gov. Herbert S. Hadley of Missouri said the initiative and referendum would increase the power of the Governor as a leader in many cases and in others they would not. The recall would impair most seriously his function as a leader of thought and action.

Twenty-one Governors Present.

There were twenty-one Governors in attendance to-day and more are expected to-morrow. The presence of several who have been prominently mentioned as Democratic Presidential possibilities, such as Gov. Wilson of New Jersey, Gov. Harmon of Ohio, and Gov. Foss of Massachusetts, led to some pleasantries at the beginning of the conference. The Governors were welcomed by Gov. Wilson and Gov. Joseph M. Carey of Wyoming responded. He warned his fellow Governors against Jersey lightning, but said there was another kind of lightning most of them were on the lookout for.

"I understand," he said, "that there are only two Governors in attendance who are not seeking to be struck by the Presidential lightning. One is the Governor of Wyoming and the other is that Governor who was born outside the United States."

Gov McGovern, when he was introduced as Chairman of the morning session, related a story that he said had been told to him by ex-Gov. Peck of Wisconsin.

"After he had been Governor for some time," he said, "and long enough to reach the conclusion that he was a pretty good Governor, he felt that he had become a victim to the Presidential bee. His feeling was unusual but not unpleasant. One day he happened to eat a sour pickle and found that what was ailing him was only the mumps. He suggested that any others troubled as he was try a pickle."

Gov. Wilson and Mrs. Wilson gave a reception to the other Governors to-night at the State Cottage at Sea Girt. To-morrow, after a session in the morning, they are to go to Fort Hancock, where, by authority of the Secretary of War, the big guns will be fired in their honor. In the evening a business session is to be held to give the Conference of Governors, which was instituted by President Roosevelt in 1908 and met again in Louisville last year, a more detailed and comprehensive organization.

DEMOCRATS HIT TAMMANY.

Union Rails at the Tiger It Helped at the Campaign's Close in 1909.

Rebellion against Tammany Hall and denunciation of the Levy election law furnished the keynote for several speeches last night at the meeting of the Executive Committee of the Democratic Union. This is the organization, formed two years ago by Ernest Harvier as a protest against Tammany from within Democratic Party lines. It started out as a fusion organization in the municipal campaign of 1909, but finished the campaign an ally of Tammany Hall, and its attitude this year for that reason will be interesting to many Democrats.

There was a full attendance of the executive members at the meeting, which was held at the assembly room in the Pulitzer Building. Alfred B. Cruikshank, Chairman of the Executive Committee, presided.

Speeches were made by Mr. Harvier, Mr. Franklin, and Alderman James J. Mulhearn of the Bronx. The Alderman declared that the spirit of revolt against Tammany was abroad in his borough and that although Tammany did not feel friendly to him and his district was strongly Democratic, he would be renominated and re-elected.

MAUSOLEUM TO HOLD 2,000.

Fireproof Structure Costing $100,000 to be Built in Cincinnati.

Special to The New York Times.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Sept. 12.—A mausoleum fireproof in construction and gigantic in proportions is to be erected in Cincinnati. It will hold the bodies of 2,000 persons and will cost over $100,000.

Plans for the building have been completed and ground will be broken next Friday by Oscar J. Verkamp, President of the Cincinnati Catholic Mausoleum Company.

The interior will be of concrete and the exterior of stone, with granite trimmings. The crypts will be large enough to hold the biggest coffin yet made, and in case of a family desiring to bury a member in this manner an opening will be chosen. The coffined body will be slid into the opening, and as soon as the mourners leave, workmen, with mixed concrete, will cover the opening, thereby hermetically sealing the coffin and its contents.

Old Guard to Visit Atlanta.

At a meeting of the Old Guard in its headquarters, 220 West Fifty-first Street, last night Charles H. Rockwell was elected Captain of Company A; T. K. de Chutkowsky, Captain; J. Franklin Dunseith, First Lieutenant, and W. D. Magovern, Second Lieutenant of Company B. One hundred officers and members of the Old Guard, with a band, will leave for Atlanta, Ga., on Oct. 7, to be the guests of that city, and the Gate City Guard at the unveiling of the Gate City Guard monument. The command will visit the battlefields of Lookout Mountain and Chickamanga on their way south.

HE'S HERE TO EXPOSE THE CZAR'S POLICE

Leonid Menschikoff, an ex-Chief in the Service, Will Hunt Down Spies Here.

KNOWS ALL ABOUT THEM

Says They Ally Themselves with the Revolutionists and Then Betray Them in St. Petersburg.

Leonid Menschikoff, who as a former chief of the Russian secret police wormed his way into all the councils of that secret service for twenty years in order thereafter to denounce Azeff, Tartarov, and other supposed prominent revolutionists as actual paid agents of the secret political police, has come to America.

He announced his arrived at the Hotel Earlington, 49 West Twenty-seventh Street, last night, where later he admitted to reporters that he had come here ready to expose hired agents of the Russian Government who are posing as revolutionists, but against whom he says he has documentary evidence gathered while he himself was in the inner circle of the secret political police.

He said, too, that he had come here to expose to the American people and to the revoltionist sympathizers in this country in particular the full data he has gathered in his twenty years of police service, concerning the methods of espionage and oppression practiced by the Russian Government, not only toward suspected revolutionists, but even toward prominent foreigners utterly unconnected with the revolutionary movement. Such foreigners, he said, are spied upon even to the extent of having all their mail opened, copied by Russian spies, and then sent on, in Russia and other European countries.

M. Menschikoff was the man who supplied Bourtseff, the "Sherlock Holmes of the Russian revolution," with practically all the data that led to the exposure of Azeff and other hired agents of the police working among the revolutionists. Menschikoff himself in his youth was a revolutionist, but was betrayed to the police by just such a secret "agent provocateur." He was imprisoned and while in prison determined to learn the secrets of the police for later use in the revolutionary cause.

He began by "confessing" matters that had been discussed in the revolutionary council, which he knew the police spies had already ascertained. Winning their confidence in this way, he was released, and became a part of the system of espionage. For twenty years he worked there, spying on his own friends, and in many cases causing arrests among them, worming his way ever more into the councils of the police and learning all their methods and the names of all their secret agents who worked among the revolutionists.

In the Police Secrets.

Then, in 1905, when he was a chief of the secret police, and the Russian revolutionary movement had reached its zenith, he wrote a secret letter to the leaders of that cause exposing as hired police agents two of the most dangerous men, Azeff and Tartarov. Tartarov was put to death, but Azeff managed to clear himself and to report his case to the Chief of Police ta St. Petersburg.

Suspicion of having written the letter betraying Azeff soon centred on Menschikoff. He was first transferred to a minor post at Warsaw, and then to Finland. There matters grew too warm for him, and he fled to Southern France. He stayed there two years, compiling in that time all the records and documentary proofs he had gathered concerning the police methods and its secret agents, and exposing more than one hundred such agents to the revolutionary tribunals. He said last night that not a single agent had succeeded in acquitting himself of the charges he brought. Having cleared the field in this way in France, M. Menschikoff decided to carry his exposures into this country.

He arrived in this city on Monday, but would not tell last night on what ship or train. He said he had wanted to avoid a reception at the hands of the local revolutionary colony.

"My main object," he said, "is to expose here, where the press is free and the people in sympathy with the Russiana people as opposed to the Russian Government, the methods of Russian police espionage and oppression. I warned Premier Stolypin last Spring that I would do so, but he did not answer my letter. Thereafter I was simply shadowed by more spies. But, knowing all of them from years of police work, I did not mind them at all"

In connection with this espionage M. Menschikoff said he proposes to expose with documentary proof the system by which the Russian Government pursues its spying, even in foreign countries, often through secret agents with special letter-box keys, and often through bribed Post Office officials opening the letters of all revolutionary suspects, copying them, and then resealing the letters and sending them on to their destination.

In Bulgaria, Rumania, and France, he said, the Russian Government is helped in this respect by secretly subsidized Post Office officials, as he will show by means of just such stolen copies of letters forwarded to him while he was a Police Chief. In Russia, he added, the system is even more high-handedly carried out, the mail of nearly every foreigner of note, whether connected with the revolutionists or not, being detained, opened, copied, resealed, and sent on. He said he does not believe the same practice is possible or attempted in the postal service of this country.

Feels Safe in America.

At first M. Menschikoff tried to insist that his chief object in coming to this country was because he wanted to write a book embodying his experiences and discoveries; then that he came here because he felt that "America is the safest place in the world."

Moreover, he added, it is his ambition to live on a farm and there complete his memoirs. He might even, he said, try to become a citizen of this country. Finally, however, he admitted that he knew and had proof against a goodly number of hired agents of the Russian secret police who are still working as revolutionists in revolutionary circles in this country, just as did the 100 similar agents he exposed in France. He was unwilling to divulge the identity of any of these men, lest they escape, but he said he would bring the documentary evidence he has before a revolutionary tribunal if requested to do so.

Asked whether he had evidence against Evalenko, the supposed revolutionist whom Bourtseff accused of being a police spy, M. Menschikoff said, warily:

"I have documentary proof against one Evalenko of New York as a secret police agent. But his first name does not appear in the letters he sent to the Russian police, and so I cannot positively accuse this man. I shall be willing to submit what evidence I have, however, to the revolutionary tribunal, if it decides to reopen the case against Evalenko.

"I know several men who pose as ardent revolutionists in this city and start many revolutionist enterprises," he continued, "who are yet on the payrolls of the Russian Government's secret police and supply the police with information concerning revolutionists in this country and in Russia. Against some of these I have merely moral proof of guilt; against others I have documentary evidence gathered while I myself was in the councils of the secret police."

Comparing the strength of the revolutionary movement in Russia to-day with that in the turbulent days of 1905, M. Menschikoff said the revolutionary organization itself has probably not gained in strength, but the spirit of emancipation is much stronger among the people than ever before. This, he said, is due to the reactionary policy of the Government, which has turned even the most patient among the people against the ruling powers.

"The Premier, Stolypin," he said, "is merely a screen for the reactionary tendencies of the court and Czar. Stolypin's days are numbered, and a more reactionary man will certainly soon be put in his place—probably the present Minister of Finance, Kokovtsoy. Stolypin has served the purpose of the reactionaries—to cheat public opinion of Europe into believing for a time that Russia was entering upon a constitutional government.

"It is certain that every concession and reform will shortly be revoked or rescinded. Kokovtsov, who has long been hungering for the Premier's place, boasted openly in the Duma:

"'Thank God, we have no Constitution in Russia!'"

M. Menschikoff declared that he has no faith that Russia will change here attitude in the matter of the American passport which she has refused to honor when presented by American Jews and certain other Americans.

"It is but another example of the Government's oppression of certain classes," he said. "In view of the intensified nationalist feeling, moreover, at present stirring in Russia, with accompanying persecution of Jews and all upon whom the reactionaries can stamp the name of foreigner, Russia will most certainly refuse to yield an inch in the passport question, unless a very strong protest is made and sustained by this country."

M. Menschikoff is a tall, well-built man, with keen deep eyes, flaxen pompadour, beard and mustache. He cannot speak English, but started yesterday on the "Vicar of Wakefield" and Webster's Dictionary.

COMMISSION RULE ILLEGAL.

Oklahoma Court Decides That Guthrie Election was Improperly Called.

Special to The New York Times.

GUTHRIE, Okla., Sept. 12.—The Supreme Court of Oklahoma to-day decided that the municipal election by which Guthrie adopted the commission form of government several months ago was improperly called and that the city is still under the control of the old Aldermanic Board.

The decision reverses that of the lower court, which upheld the commission, the illegality being that the City Council did not join the Mayor in calling the election. Since the election Guthrie has had two sets of city officers, one serving under the commission form, the other under the Aldermanic. Much confusion in municipal afairs has resulted.

J. Carter, Commissioner of Public Safety under the commission form, instituted mandamus proceedings against Chief of Police Mitchell, elected under the Aldermanic form, to test the legality of the commission form. To-day's decision is not considered as a test of the commission form and applies only to Guthrie.

It is stated that there will be no action at present on the part of the commission advocates to have a new election, and the Aldermen will probably be permitted to serve out their terms.

A feature of to-day's decision that may involve the corporate existence of other Oklahoma towns is the court's ruling that the adoption of a new charter by a city does not create a new municipal corporation.

PULLMAN CO. YIELDS.

Suddenly Ends Objection and Lowers Rates to Jersey Coast Resorts.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 12.—The Pullman Company, at its hearing before the State Board of Public Utility Commissioners to-day, instead of contesting the order to show cause why it should not be restrained from continuing increased rates from Trenton to points along the coast, announced a reduced schedule, the new tariffs being even lower than those which existed before the recent rise. The board approved the new schedule, which will become effective on Thursday.

To-day's result was about the quickest ever obtained by the State Board. Previous to Aug. 18 last the only rate quoted for Pullman service between this city and the seacoast was 50 cents to Long Branch. To fix rates to Sea Girt and other intermediate points conductors either calculated them acording to mileage or charged whatever they deemed proper.

The new tariff is a reduction of about 40 per cent., based on the volume of traffic. It comes just after the Summer travel to the sea is over.

CLUE TO MURDERER OF MYRTLE HAWKINS

Two Men Believed to Have Been Implicated in Death of Girl Found in Lake.

FIND JEWELS IN THE WOODS

Witnesses Tell of Seeing Her with a Man on the Day She Disappeared.

Special to The New York Times.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Sept. 12.—It is now established beyond the shadow of a doubt that Miss Myrtle Hawkins, the seventeen-year-old girl of Hendersonville, whose body was found in Lake Osceola on Sunday, was murdered, and in all probability more than one person had something to do with the crime.

It now appears that the death of the girl was the result of an operation and the body must have been concealed in the woods near the lake, which is two miles from Hendersonville, from Thursday until Sunday, when it was taken to the lake by some unknown parties.

Last Thursday, when the family says Miss Hawkins left home for the last time, she was seen by several parties in the company of a young man whose name is now withheld. She was seen the same day sitting on a rock on the bank of the lake. The first supposition was that she had fallen into the lake from this rock, but this theory was soon proved false because of the fact that the body was found on the opposite side of the lake from this rock and in a different direction from the drift of the current. Further, the physicians after examining the body discovered that it had been exposed to the sun for several days and had been in the water only for a short time.

Pieces of jewelry are said to have been found in the woods near the spot where the actual murder occurred.

The post-mortem examination by the Coroner developed that death was partly the result of a drug. This condition became known to-day, coming from members of the Coroner's Jury.

A Hendersonville person is under suspicion.

The body was hidden in the brush along the lake until early Sunday evening, when it was carried to the place where it was found, face downward, in three feet of water. No one party could have possibly handled the body in its condition, say the police, but whoever the guilty parties, witnesses have been found who saw the dead girl with a man on several occasions, and the last time on Thursday, the day she disappeared.

The girl's father sent for detectives and will offer a large reward. To-night a citizen started a movement to raise $1,000 by popular subscription and offer this as a reward in the name of the town. The County Commissioners will add to these amounts and the State will be asked to do the same.

A dispatch from Johnson City, Tenn., to-night states that Hal Cooper, the girl's fiancé, is highly esteemed by his employers and a wide circle of friends there, and that he was not absent from Johnson City last week and knew nothing of the murder until late Monday night.

On Tuesday morning he boarded the first train bound for Hendersonville. He was very nervous before his departure from Johnson City. He knew of no reason why the young woman should have committed suicide, and was firm in the belief that she had been murdered. He was so dazed that he spoke incoherently and could not read the paper containing an account of the tragedy.

Mrs. Cooper, the young man's mother, said this afternoon that the family was greatly worried over the tragedy, but she did not think he and Miss Hawkins were engaged. Cooper is only seventeen years old.

Miss Hawkins visited Mrs. Cooper's sister, Mrs. John Scurry, who at time had rooms in her residence. Hal Cooper and the girl corresponded, and the last time he was in Hendersonville was in June.

It is stated positively in Hendersonville to-night that the couple were engaged, and that the engagement was to have been announced this week. It is also stated in Hendersonville that the Coroner will be petitioned to reopen the case and have the body exumed and an autopsy made.

CRITICISE COTTON REPORTS.

Growers Dissatisfied with the Government Figures.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Sept. 12.—One thousand men, representing every cotton growing State, met here to-day and conferred on ways and means to rebut the figures of the cotton report of the Federal Department of Agriculture, and to obtain a better price for cotton.

Senator E. D. Smith of South Carolina denounced the so-called gambling of the New York, Liverpool, New Orleans, and foreign cotton exchanges, and declared that the Southern farmer must become financially independent of these. He said the farmer should demand a fair profit on his cotton, and asserted that if the New England farmer had such a monopoly crop as the cotton crop, he would demand and receive 30 cents a pound for it.

Senator Smith also made an attack upon the inaccuracy of Government crop reports. He said the Southern farmer, because of it, had lost enough money to establish an insurance department to insure proper figures. He also criticised Attorney General Wickersham's policy regarding so-called cotton monopoly.

Senator Smith proposes to introduce a bill when Congress meets to require the Secretary of Agriculture to show in his monthly cotton report the amount of cotton in the field and the number of bales in warehouses and who owns these bales.

The convention will close Wednesday with a demonstration in honor of Oscar W. Underwood, leader of the House of Representatives. Senator John Sharp Williams of Mississippi is expected here at that time.

SEEK CLUES TO GIRL'S DEATH

Johnson, Hostile Neighbor of Lemberger, to be Questioned in Court.

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 12.—John A. Johnson, a neighbor of Martin Lemberger, to-day in a cell at Police Headquarters awaited a summons to appear in court and tell what he knows of the death of Annie Lemberger, the 7-year-old girl whose body was found in Lake Monona Saturday morning.

Lemberger testified at the inquest yesterday that he had had trouble with Johnson about three years ago and that Johnson had invited him to fight it out. Johnson's record includes two terms in the State Prison, two commitments in State insane asylums, and numerous jail terms for drunkenness and non-support. Johnson denies knowledge of the circumstaces of the girl's death.

PICKPOCKET GIVES ADVICE.

Success in the First Crime Leads to Prison, Says Old-Timer.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 12.—James Newman, known to the police of many cities as "The King of Pickpockets," was taken to the State Prison to-day to begin what will probably be his last term. Newman is 71 years old, and is suffering from a malady which will require an operation soon.

When Newman was taken from the Mercer County Jail to begin a ten years' sentence, he said:

> Never attempt the first misdeed, because success means temptation, and temptation means inevitable imprisonment.

Newman in his prime is said to have conducted a school for pickpockets.

DRESSMAKERS AGREE TO STRIKE ON SIGNAL

Demands for More Pay, Less Work, and Better Conditions Turned Down by Employers.

APPEAL TO SOCIETY WOMEN

Leaders Will Ask Them "In Humanity's Name" to See That Their Gowns Are Made Under Decent Conditions.

Upward of 8,000 men and women, whose business it is to manufacture tailor-made gowns for women of fashion, assembled in Carnegie Hall last night to discuss whether or not they should follow the precedent of their more humble companions of the cloak and suit industry in calling a general strike against their employers.

The issue, as to money, was that the $24 a week offered by the employers is too low, and must be raised to $26 per week, while they held that a nine-hour day is too long and must be shortened to not more than eight. Minor issues had to do with the abolishment of "cellar shops" and of the system of paying by the piece.

As a principal weapon against their employers, the leaders said, they had prepared a list of the women of fashion who buy tailor-made gowns to whom they proposed to appeal, "in humanity's name," to see that the conditions under which their gowns are made are sanitary and the workers decently paid.

The outcome of the meeting was that the dressmakers voted not to strike, but to remain on call, ready to do so on signal. They were insistent that there be no yielding of their terms, which the employers have rejected.

The employers, organized as the Merchants' Society of Ladies' Tailors and Dressmakers, were in session for four hours preceding the Carnegie Hall meeting trying to agree upon concessions that would be satisfactory to the workers. From their employes they received these demands:

> A minimum wage scale of $26 per week, instead of $21.
> Abolition of all piece work.
> Forty-eight hours per week a maximum. Only half a day's work on Saturday.
> Double pay for overtime.

After considering each of these demands the employers made these suggestions:

> That the piece work system be left as a subject for discussion and settlement by duly appointed committees from both sides.
> That the minimum weekly wage be raised to $24 per week, instead of to $26 as demanded.
> That the matter of abolishing basement, sub-basement, and cellar shops be left open for future discussion.
> That work cease on Saturday at 3 P. M. all the year around, instead of at 1 o'clock as demanded.
> That an increase of 50 per cent. in wages be allowed for overtime instead of the 100 per cent. demanded.

Upon handing a memorandum containing these suggestions to the union officials, Walter H. Bartholomew, Secretary of the Merchants' Society, stated that they went as far as the society would go without a struggle. He said that if the union should reject these demands that they could then go ahead and strike. If they did so and should tie up the business effectually, he added, the employers might consider arbitration, but before doing so an effort would be made to continue operations in spite of a strike.

Solomon Rosman, an organizer for the union, received the memorandum of the employers. He carried it to Carnegie Hall, where the leaders were unanimous in rejecting it. A vote of confidence by the workers left future operations in Rosman's hands.

The meeting filled Carnegie Hall except for a small portion of the upper gallery. A band opened the meeting with American patriotic airs, followed by the "Marseillaise," which brought the audience to its feet and started one man in the gallery to waving a red flag amid frantic cheers.

The demonstration was cut short by the arrival of a delegation from the Women's Trade Union League, whose officers financed the two previous strikes in the clothing industries. The women took places upon the stand and were wildly cheered. On their behalf, Leonora O'Reilly, who was a conspicuous leader in the shirtwaist strike, pledged the unanimous support of all the organized women of the city in case a general strike should be determined upon.

The reason why $26 a week seemed a fair wage was explained by Miss O'Reilly and by other speakers in Hebrew, Russian, Bohemian, and German, who said that the workers find employment only when society women are in the city. In Summer, when the customers are in the country there is nothing for the gownmakers to do. Most of those present last night, it was said, had been out of work since May.

The subcellar and basement work, they maintained, is carried on chiefly by famous shops, the work being relegated to the depths by the heavy demand for floor space.

The organization does not include more than 50 per cent. of those engaged in the industry, but in these 50 per cent. are employes of every one of the 1,000 shops affected. The sanction of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, with which the local union is affiliated, has been given for a strike, and the National organization's strike leaders are ready to respond.

Trouble has been encountered in the efforts to prepare for a general strike through the fact that many of the skilled gownmakers style themselves "designers" and carry into their work an artistic temperament which keeps them rather aloof from other workers and renders them indifferent to the union organizer's pleas.

Algernon Lee, who spoke as the representative of the Rand School of Social Science, asked all not to consider a nine-hour day, but to stick to the eight-hour day as if it were a very liberal concession while preparing to win a seven-hour or even a six-hour day.

"Fight it out," he said, "under the slogan that a seven-hour day means a steadier job and a six-hour day means work all the year around."

More conferences will be arranged to-day in an effort to reach an adjustment before the signal for a general strike is given.

UPHOLDS WOMAN MAYOR.

Gov. Stubbs Threatens to Oust Hunnewell Councilmen Who Oppose Her.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 12.—Victory apparently is almost in the grasp of Mrs. Ella Wilson, the woman Mayor of Hunnewell, Kan. C. W. Trickett of Kansas City, Kan., appointed by Gov. Stubbs to assist Mayor Wilson in her conflict with the council, announced to-day that drastic action would be taken at once to compel the councilmen either to resign or to support the Mayor.

The action of the council members last night in refusing to consider Mrs. Wilson's nomination for appointive offices, said Mr. Trickett, makes further delay

MAY HALT INQUIRY IN PHILADELPHIA

Disclosures of Graft Followed by Conference of Attorney General with Senator Penrose.

POLITICS IN THE HEARING

Opponents of Penrose and McNicholl Want Contracts Investigated That Might Involve Leaders.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 12.—Evidence tending to show alleged collusion between certain persons in the office of the Director of Public Safety and John R. Wiggins & Co., builders, was presented at to-day's session of the Senate Commission, which resumed its investigation into the conduct of the administration of Mayor Reyburn.

The irregularities charged by the Taxpayers' Committee, which instituted the present investigation, were in the letting of contracts for fire and police stations, bath houses, and other construction work on buildings used by the Department of Public Safety.

George M. Carville, a former estimator for John R. Wiggins & Co., testified that Carl Zellnziger, now City Architect, was a frequent visitor to the office of Wiggins & Co., and that after he was appointed City Architect he gave the builder advance information of specifications and plans for buildings on which bids were to be asked. Carville also testified that Wiggins received $29,288 for three contracts on work which, the witness said, could have been done at a cost of $16,484.

On a bath house contract the city paid Wiggins & Co. $27,520. Chester Albright, a civil engineer, said the bath house could have been built for $16,764, which included a fair profit to the contractor.

Attorney General Bell and Senator Penrose, following the hearing, held an important conference to devise prompt action to-morrow. The meeting between Mr. Bell and Mr. Penrose, who is directing the progress of the inquiry, was held in the Bellevue-Stratford at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon. It is understood that it is the purpose of the counsel for the commission to force criminal procedure without delay in the next week, or before the primary election.

As the result of the meeting it is predicted that Mr. Bell will take a step to-morrow which may end the hearing temporarily and turn the political maneuvring from the Senate Commission to a court.

"Will arrests be made soon, as the result of your meeting with Senator Penrose?" Attorney General Bell was asked.

"Arrests will be recommended, I believe, within a week by the commission, but not as the result of my talk to-day with Senator Penrose."

"What was the subject of the conference?"

"All that I can say is that I was advising Senator Penrose of an important step I shall take Wednesday, or very shortly," Mr. Bell said.

While declining to divulge the nature of the promised sensation, Mr. Bell told THE TIMES correspondent that it did not include the issuance of warrants.

In some circles it is said that the conference dealt with an alleged confession which implicated a city official and, based upon the confession which may be offered in the hearing to-morrow, criminal action will ensue.

Because of pressure being brought upon the commission to take up matters affecting Senator Penrose and Senator McNicholl, it is believed that the hearings will end very promptly, and the Taxpayers' Committee will resort to the courts. It is said that certain prohibition leaders will ask the commission to investigate the charge that Senator Penrose receives $6,000 yearly from the liquor interests to be used for campaign purposes and that this amount is greatly increased when the local option issues become uppermost.

Another feature of the investigation to be demanded by citizens opposed to Penrose and McNicholl is consideration of the contracts held by the Filbert Paving Company of which firm Senator McNicholl is said to be the controlling factor.

PAUL BEATTIE IN VAUDEVILLE

But Performances of Chief Witness Against Wife-Slayer May Be Stopped.

PETERSBURG, Va., Sept. 12.—Paul Beattie, chief witness against Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., will make his initial appearance in monologue on the vaudeville stage at a local theatre to-morrow night. At the close of the engagement here he will be booked for performances elsewhere.

Mayor George Cameron recently caused the arrest of theatre men for showing Beattie pictures, and it is expected that he will prevent the appearance of Paul.

'DRYS' CARRY MAINE BY MAJORITY OF 575

the vote to retain the constitutional provision in favor of prohibition if the report was corect was due to the fact that while the cities had understood the issue and had voted to repeal the constitutional provision, the people of the country districts had been misled by statements that its repeal meant free rum and a saloon on every corner.

"It was not in any sense my fight," he said. "The only part I took in it was that when I was asked my position I said I was for repeal. I made no speeches and no speaking campaign was made for repeal. The Prohibitionists, the Boston wholesalers, and the express companies worked actively to keep prohibition in the Constitution. They boasted that they had 600 speakers in the field. The churches preached against intemperance, held up the horrors of the saloon, which everybody admits, and confused the issue.

"It was a fight between the people who were trying to better conditions by regulating the liquor traffic in the cities and those who favored prohibition that didn't prohibit.

"I don't believe the issue will die out in Maine. No question is ever settled till it is settled right. If constitutional prohibition had been reaffirmed by a majority of 20,000 as it looked two months ago, the matter might have been dropped, but the people in the country have got to be educated. Just as the prohibitionists have told them untruths, they've got to be told truths until they understand the question aright."

BRIDE POISONED; FORMER SUITOR HELD

Georgia Woman Drank Strychnine Put Into a Bottle of Headache Powders She Used.

REVENGE ALLEGED MOTIVE

R. C. Kennedy, Who Resented Mrs. Childers Marrying His Rival, Bought the Poison, Say Police.

Special to The New York Times.

AMERICUS, Ga., Sept. 12.—Mrs. Mary Childers, a bride of six months, is dead as a result of strychnine being placed in a bottle of headache powders which she kept on the dresser in her room at a hotel here, and R. C. Kennedy, a prominent young man, is under arrest charged with her death.

Mrs. Childers before her marriage was known as the most beautiful girl in this section of the State, and Childers and Kennedy were rivals for her hand. For some time she showed no preference for either of the two young men, but six months ago she suddenly married Childers. Kennedy was deeply angered, and it is alleged he made threats that he would be revengd.

It is said that for a time he refused to speak to Mr. and Mrs. Childers, but finally seemed to become reconciled and began to visit them at their apartments in the hotel.

The theory of the police is that Kennedy put the strychnine in the bottle of headache powders while visiting Mr. and Mrs. Childers. The officers say they can prove that Kennedy bought strychnine a few days before Mrs. Childers died.

All the families involved are prominent and wealthy. The trial of Kennedy promises to be sensational.

The detectives allege that Kennedy so managed that suspicion was cast on Childers, but few credited this charge, as the couple had been only six months wedded, and their married life seemed ideally happy.

Friends and relatives of Childers indignantly refuted the aspersion thus cast upon him, and it was they who employed detectives to hunt the supposed slayer of the young wife. The warrant for Kennedy's arrest was sworn out by a brother of Mr. Childers.

The hotel where Mr. and Mrs. Childers had apartments is conducted by Kennedy's father, and it is asserted that young Kennedy had every opportunity to put the strychnine in the bottle of headache powders, which the young wife kept on her dresser. It is said that the detectives have evidence that he entered their suite during their absence.

Immediately after the death of Mrs. Childers Kennedy left Americus for Carrolton, Ga., where he was arrested last night. He was brought here to-day and placed in jail. There is much feeling against Kennedy. His friends stoutly insist that he is falsely accused.

RACE RIOT FOLLOWS MURDER

Mob Shoots Negroes After Student Has Been Killed.

Special to The New York Times.

ALEXANDRIA, La., Sept. 12.—As a result of the killing of a college student and the serious wounding of another a race war has broken out here. This morning a mob of 300 men, seeking the slayer, mortally wounded two negroes. A third negro, accused of attacking the students, is under arrest here, and open threats of lynching are heard upon the streets. Scores of negroes have left town.

The trouble started Sunday night. William W. Ellis, who has just entered Louisiana College, the Baptist State institution here, was walking down the main street with Byron B. Long. In their hurry to get to church they accidentally jostled a negro, who angrily turned and seized a fence picket and brained Ellis, killing him instantly. Turning upon Long, he dealt him a terrific blow. Long may recover. The negro escaped.

Last night the rioting continued. Before daybreak to-day several parties were scouring the countryside. At Alpineville, a suburb, a fusillade of shots was fired, and almost the entire colored population stampeded. When the Sheriff and Deputies arrived they found Mose Williams, a negro, with four bullets in his body. James Woodward was shot in the arm and side.

Jack Sales was arrested on complaint of the Rev. J. C. Williams, who asserts that the negro insulted two white women.

NO COMMISSION FOR ORANGE.

City Rejects the New Form of Government by a Close Vote.

By a majority of 88 votes Orange rejected government by commission tonight. The city will stick to the old form of government until the special committee of citizens appointed by Mayor Seymour makes its report on a new Charter, and this is adopted. Had the figures been the other way the outcome would have been the same, for the necessary 30 per cent. of last year's vote had not been registered in favor of commission government. The tally showed 1,289 for and 1,377 against it.

The vote polled last year was 5,300, so that 1,600 had to be in favor of the new government to-day if it was to have even a chance to win.

The surprise of the vote was the strong opposition. It had been said in advance that the opponents of the plan would content themselves with merely keeping voters from the polls, but to-day was a registry day, and that was found early to be unpractical. The only open campaigning was done by the advocates of commission government, but the politicians of both parties were known to be working quietly against it.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 12.—Because of disagreement with her family, Miss Margaret J. Smith of Colonie left all her ten-thousand-dollar estate to her servants. FUR THIEVES DROP IN THROUGH THE CEILING

Same Method Used in Two Recent Burglaries That Netted Them $7,000.

DEALERS ALL ALARMED

Police Unable to Get on Track of the Burglars—Stolen Goods Promptly Shipped Out of Town.

The police of more than one precinct and the detectives of more than one casualty company are on the look-out just now for a group of burglars who specialize in furs. They have been unusually successful of late and more perniciously active than ever before. Two robberies, bearing marks of strong similarity in method, have been achieved within the last few days, and these two are simply the most recent of many. Meanwhile the furriers of the city are noticeably nervous, each wondering whose stock is to be robbed next. It is the time of year when their stockrooms are filled with dressed skins.

On Monday morning, when the store owned by I. Mittelmann, on the ground floor of a loft building in West Twenty-sixth Street, near Seventh Avenue, was opened for the day, it was found that more than $2,000 worth of dressed skins had been carried away since Saturday night. They had been lifted from a wall at the rear of the stockroom, and taken away through a hole cut in the ceiling. The ceiling of Mittelmann's place is made of decorated tin, designed to resemble plaster. The floor of the room above was sawed through, forming a hole big enough for a rather slim man to squeeze through and drop to the room below. The entrance door to that upper room had been jimmied, and although Mr. Mittelmann's own store was provided with an alarm system, he suffered through the lack of such a system in the neighboring loft.

This burglary was almost exactly like one which was reported to the police last Saturday morning as having been done the night before in the offices of Edgar Lehman & Co., at 106 West Thirty-second Street. On that morning, when the clerk opened the store, the first thing that met his eyes was a gaping hole in the ceiling, where a large section of the tin had been cut and allowed to hang. The clerk peered up into the room above. A quick inspection of the stock showed that about $5,000 worth of dressed skins had been stolen. The Lehman floor was the only one occupied, and entrance to the floor above was effected through a window looking on the hallway. The skins were mink, white fox, fisher, stone martens, fitch broad tails, and Persians. Enough were taken to make several large bundles.

In the Lehman burglary, all the implements were left behind, lying about the hole in the floor of the room above. There was an augur, a saw, a hammer, a chisel, and a long knotted rope, conveniently arranged for one man to lower a companion into the stockroom. The burglars who invaded Mittelmann's place, two nights later, left nothing behind. The principal difference in the workmanship, however, lay in the selection. At Mittelmann's, all that could be carried away were removed from the hooks in a straight line. The burglars took cheap goods and expensive goods alike. At Lehman's, they made a careful inspection of the entire stock, and selected only the most perfect and costly skins. The selection made was that of an expert.

Both the police and the insurance men believe that furs so acquired are hastily shipped out of town for their market. Stolen bolts of silk, impossible to identify, are easily disposed of on the east side, but the dressed skins are almost invariably marked with the owner's name, somewhere on the head, and the name is usually burned in, so that it is difficult to efface. Manufactured furs are rarely stolen. It is the dressed skin which is taken, rushed to an unscrupulous market, and turned into stoles and muffs and coats.

The manager of the burglary department of a big surety company downtown said yesterday that the insuring of furs against thieves was one of the most dangerous lines for a company to carry. Many have declined to handle such business at all, and some are considering closing it out. Others confine their handling of the business to a few houses by imposing heavy conditions, such as requiring the presence of a night watchman and the installation of burglar alarms. At best it has proved a profitless department to the surety companies, for the fur trade is beset by a group of skilled thieves who not only know burglary well, but know furs, too, and besides find an easy market.

It is supposed that the burglars who went into Lehman's and Mittelmann's had a wagon of some sort in which to pile their plunder. When Menczer & Nadler's was burglarized in May, with a loss of $10,000 worth of their best dressed skins, the police believed that a milk wagon or a baker's wagon was driven up before the place at dawn, and some such innocent-looking vehicle is believed to have been used at Mittelmann's. A wagon was seen in front of the place about 5:30 o'clock Monday morning by a watchman of a neighboring building, whose suspicions were not aroused.

The police of the West Thirtieth Street station are at work on the Lehman case, and it is understood that they have some clear finger prints to use for identification. But capture is difficult in such cases and conviction harder. Last year the detectives at that station camped out near a furrier's establishment where they had been informed that the lock had been tampered with. Their care was rewarded by the appearance of two men in the middle of the night, and an examination of the men showed them wrapped round and round with roomy bags. One of them carried a jimmy, and that was conclusive enough to earn them both heavy sentences after conviction.

One of the most conspicuous fur robberies of recent times was the burglary of a Chicago house, where $21,000 worth of mink was taken in one night.

MANY VISIT CHINESE CRUISER

Bluejackets to Get Shore Leave This Week—Admiral Kwang to Washington.

The Chinese cruiser Hai-Chi, which arrived here Monday, was visited by hundreds yesterday. The Chinese residents of New York flocked to Seventy-ninth Street and the North River, and chartered every boat in sight to get on board the only vessel flying the flag of their country that has ever been in American waters. Several hundred Americans also took advantage of the opportunity to look over the trim Chinese cruiser, and all came away impressed with the courtesy of those on board and the spotless condition in which the cruiser is kept.

None of the bluejackets were given shore leave yesterday, but they are not to be denied that pleasure long. Within the next few days they will be sent ashore in parties in charge of their countrymen who live in New York, who will show them the interesting sights of the city. The merchants of Chinatown are preparing to give them a warm welcome, and everything in the quarter will be free as far as the bluejackets are concerned.

Many of the officers came ashore yesterday and spent the day sightseeing. Some went to the theatre, others took rides through the city, still others spent the time getting acquainted in Chinatown, while a few like Dr. Ho, who has been here before, went around renewing old friendships. Dr. Ho has attended two of the military surgeons' conventions in this country and numbers hundreds of army and navy surgeons among his friends.

Rear Admiral Chin Pih Kwang left for Washington yesterday morning, accompanied by Commander George F. Cooper, U. S. N., who is acting as his aid while he is in the United States. To-day the Admiral will call on Acting Secretary of State Huntington Wilson and Acting Secretary of the Navy Beekman Winthrop. Mr. Winthrop will give a luncheon in his honor.

This afternoon the Chinese Admiral will leave Washington for Boston and on Thursday he will go to Beverly to be a guest of President Taft.

MRS. MULLIGAN DEFENDANT.

Woman So Often a Plaintiff Now Sued by Lawyer Osborne for His Fee.

Mrs. Agnes K. Murphy Mulligan, who has appeared annually for six years as plaintiff in Supreme Court suits growing out of her ejection in 1898 from a shack in a lot at 777 Tremont Avenue, which resulted, she said, in personal injury to herself and for which she wanted $25,000 damages from Charles S. Barson and ex-Sheriff William J. O'Brien, may soon appear in the same court as a defendant. James W. Osborne, the lawyer, has started suit against her for $1,250.

Mr. Osborne represented Mrs. Mulligan, herself a lawyer and a real estate operator, in her last suit against Messrs. Barson and O'Brien, in May of this year. As usual, on that occasion Mrs. Mulligan had a baby with her in court, the sixth which, at various times, has accompanied its mother to one of her famous trials, until her actions came to be known as the Mulligan baby shows.

But neither Mr. Osborne, Mrs. Mulligan, nor the baby seemed able to win a verdict for the woman. Now Mr. Osborne says she neglected to pay his bill. He wants $250 a day for five days, which he says is in accordance with his agreement with Mrs. Mulligan.

MUSTACHE WRONG COLOR.

"French Billy" Held as a Swindler Despite Virginian's Error.

Lawrence Herrle of Mount Vernon, Va., caused the arrest yesterday of Leopold Williams, known along Broadway as "French Billy." Herrle pointed out Williams to Lieut. Kelly as the man to whom he had given $195 to be changed into German money, and who, he said, had disappeared in the building at 25 Liberty Street and 56 Maiden Lane. Lieut. Kelly, who knew Williams, was much surprised, but made the arrest.

When Williams was taken before Capt. Dunn, in Police Headquarters, they exchanged friendly greetings. Capt. Dunn said he had known Williams for twenty years, and that he was a man of excellent character. M. Jesse Henry, Williams's counsel, said his client was a civil war veteran, and had a fortune of $50,000.

In the Tombs Court Herrle weakened and declared that the man who had swindled him had a gray mustache. Williams's mustache is black, but Magistrate Harris said he wolud hold Williams in $2,000 bail for further examination today.

PLAN OHIO GERRYMANDER.

Congressmen Propose Special Session of Assembly to Increase Delegation.

Special to The New York Times.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 12.—A meeting of Ohio Congressmen will be held in this city to-morrow to discuss calling a special session of the General Assembly to enact a congressional gerrymander. It is admitted that there will be some opposition to the proposal.

National Democratic leaders are urging State chiefs to increase the number of members in the lower National House. It is believed a majority of the Ohio Representatives will ask Gov. Harmon to co-operate in the movement. The Ohio Legislature is safely Democratic and his influence would be strong enough to produce favorable results.

While the Democrats have a majority in the Ohio Congressional delegation the fact is faced that this is due to a landslide and that the coming election in 1912 may reverse conditions. The present apportionment and redistricting is due to Republican action twenty years ago.

Some State leaders fear that there is danger in the reassembling of the Legislature, because of the bribery scandals and the warfare over certain bills. Those who are behind the movement say this can be neutralized and even obviated by an agreement that no business will be transacted save the passage of the gerrymander measure.

If the session is called it will be the first one ever held in Ohio for purely partisan purposes.

SAVED BY THEIR TRESSES.

Youths Seize Girls by Them and Swim Ashore After Launch Explosion.

Special to The New York Times.

FLINT, Mich., Sept. 12.—Two youths saved their own and the lives of two New York girls here last night by each seizing one by the hair and swimming half a mile to shore.

The boys were Roy B. Diamond and Leroy Havers, local students, and were out on Lake Lond in a gasoline launch with Charlotte Temple and Grace Devan of New York, when the gasoline tank exploded and set fire to the boat. With their clothing on fire the men cried to the girls to leap into the water.

Neither girl could swim, but they jumped and the men saved them. The launch was a total loss.

HIT BY SLAIN BOY'S SISTER.

Outbreak by Girl at Inquest Which Holds Cobbler to Grand Jury.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Tony Melano, a cobbler, was to-day held by a Coroner's jury for the Grand Jury in connection with the murder of fourteen-year-old Harry Smith. Young Smith's body, with the skull crushed in, was found in Melano's shop last Sunday morning when firemen extinguished the flames which had been set to conceal the murder.

While the inquest was in progress today, Myrtle Smith, sister of Harry Smith, becoming hysterical, sprang at Melano, and before she could be restrained, struck him, clutched his throat, and hurled him backward. She had almost overpowered him when she was torn away. She had been hysterical ever since her brother's murder, and tried on Sunday night to throw herself into the Potomac River after identifying the body.

FLIER FOWLER HURT, HIS BIPLANE WRECKED

Forced to Seek Landing in Mountain Gorge, He Crashes Into Trees and Falls.

WILL REPAIR IT AND FLY ON

Has Covered 158 Miles on His Continental Flight—In a Hospital with a Sprained Back.

Special to The New York Times.

AUBURN, Cal., Sept. 12.—Crumpled and broken, the big biplane of Aviator Robert G. Fowler, who started yesterday from San Francisco to fly across the continent for the $50,000 prize offered by William R. Hearst, lies in a rocky gorge near Alta, at an elevation of some 3,000 feet. Fowler himself is at Alta in a sanitarium. He suffered severe bruises, but otherwise is unhurt. His machine can be repaired in two or three days, and Fowler expects to resume then his interrupted flight to New York. Only the greatest nerve and skill in handling the disabled aeroplane saved the aviator from death.

Before leaving Auburn to-day Fowler had his first trouble with his engine, when a wire of the magneto circuit pulled out. The wire was repaired, but it is believed this defect caused the later trouble.

In his own statement of the accident Fowler said:

"For some reason the vertical steering device refused to work shortly after I started. All I could do was to swing in circles and descend slowly. I struck a couple of trees and fell to the ground. I will try again as soon as I can get the machine repaired."

Fowler spent the early hours of the morning in overhauling his aeroplane, and at 9:37 o'clock gave the signal for the release of the machine. He rose gracefully, and, after making a circle or two to gain elevation, turned north and east along the line of the Southern Pacific. At an elevation of a little more than 500 feet he covered the first eleven miles in eleven minutes. He passed over Dutch Flat going at a high rate of speed, and apparently was having little trouble with mountain currents.

When almost over the town of Alta, about forty miles from this city, his aeroplane was seen to swerve suddenly from its course and then it began to circle over the hilltops. Gradually Fowler brought his machine down, but the country in that section is rough and rocky, and as he was following a gorge traversed by the railroad landing places were hard to find. He reduced the speed of his aeroplane and came down to a height of about 100 feet with the machine careening in a most dangerous fashion as he vainly tried to control its movements.

Fowler finally selected the only fairly smooth place in sight and made an attempt to land along a narrow ledge high up on the shoulder of a ridge. He was then about 75 feet from earth. Directly in front of him were two big pine trees. To make a successful landing it was necessary to take his damaged biplane between these two trees, although the space between them was only a little wider than the spread of the planes. But Fowler nerved himself for the trying ordeal and bravely drove his damaged airship for the narrow opening.

One of the planes caught in the top of a tree and swung the machine half around against the other tree. There was a cracking of wood and a tearing of cloth as the weight of the machine broke the frail structure against the trees, and then the machine dropped 50 feet to the ground, striking stern first. The rear of the aeroplane was badly smashed, but the descent was comparatively slow owing to the branches of the trees, and Fowler probably owes his life to this fact.

As the machine tipped backward Fowler was thrown with considerable force against the motor and was tangled in the wreckage of the aeroplane when it struck the ground. His back was badly strained and he was somewhat bruised, but as he himself said when assistance arrived a few minutes later: "No bones are broken and I will finish the trip all right."

Previous to the accident Fowler was making such good headway that he felt sure of covering a great deal of ground during the day. Contrary to expectations he had little trouble with air currents in the mountains, although he did strike variable winds. Fortunately they were light.

During part of his short journey he had as companions a special train and many automobiles which left Auburn with him. The aeroplane soon distanced all of these, however, as it attained a speed of better than a mile a minute during the early part of the trip.

The wrecked aeroplane is now about 158 miles from the starting point.

WARD ON LONG FLIGHT.

Will Start from Governors Island To-day on Trip to San Francisco.

James J. Ward, the second of the aviators to make a try for the William R. Hearst $50,000 prize for a flight from ocean to ocean, will start this morning from Governors Island at 9 o'clock. The machine is a Curtiss biplane, with double motors of fifty horse power each, and is twenty-six feet wide.

Major Gen. Grant and Hudson Maxim will be the official starters. Ward will make a few circles around the island preparatory to the real start, whereupon he will make for the Erie Railroad Station in Jersey City. It is his intention to follow as closely as he can the tracks of this road, for the first few miles of which he will be guided by white flags on the towers.

A pilot engine, liberally bedecked with white flags, will show him the way out of the maze of tracks in and about Jersey City. Middletown, N. Y., will be his first stop, this being sixty-eight miles away. At Callicoon, 137 miles from the start, he will stop for fuel, after which he will make an attempt to reach Susquehanna.

Ward fancies that he can make Buffalo in a day, but all of his friends are of the opinion that he is too sanguine. He got the machine out early yesterday afternoon and expressed himself as satisfied with the way in which it behaved.

C. P. Rodgers, a Wright aviator, telephoned from Dayton, Ohio, last night that he would leave there for New York to-morrow, and that he expected to start from this city on Saturday in his attempt to fly to Los Angeles for the Hearst prize. Rodgers will fly a new Wright machine, which he tested in Dayton yesterday and in which he said he made a speed of sixty-five miles an hour.

ANOTHER AIRMAN KILLED.

Lieut. Chotard of the French Army Falls Three Hundred Feet.

PARIS, Sept. 12.—Lieut. Chotard, a pupil of the Military Aviation School, was killed to-day while making a flight at Villecoublay.

Chotard was making his second trip alone when a gust of wind capsized his machine. He fell from a height of 300 feet.

VILLERS-EXEL, Department of Haute-Saone, France, Sept. 12.—Aeroplanes, about forty of which are in use in the various commands participating in the Autumn manoeuvres, are a feature of the mimic war, which will culminate to-morrow in a collision between the two branches of the French Army.

No serious accident has so far occurred. Lieut. Ludmann had a rough fall to-day, when his Breguet machine capsized. The Lieutenant was stunned, but escaped with whole bones. A sapper who accompanied Ludmann was slightly injured.

WOMAN FLIES 136 MILES.

Helene Dutrieu Makes New Record in French Competition.

BOUY, France, Sept. 12.—Hélène Dutrieu made a new record in the competition for the Women's Cup to-day by flying 136.63 miles.

The Woman's Cup is offered for the longest continuous flight made by a woman aviator in the present year. Jane Herveux had previously covered 63 miles.

SEEK REUBEN GROSSMAN.

Vanished When Alone with Jewelry Worth $1,000.

Reuben Grossman, a guard on the Ninth Avenue Elevated Railroad, is missing from his home, 68 East 117th Street, where he left a wife and six young children. Isaac Harrison of 15 West 111th Street, for whom Grossman sold jewelry on commission during spare moments, has reported to the police that $1,000 worth of jewelry which he had in a tin box in his office on Sept. 5, when Grossman called to see him, has also disappeared.

Eleanor Block, who keeps a lunch room at 2,517 Eighth Avenue, patronized by elevated railway employes, told the police that Grossman paid ardent court to her and endeavored to persuade her to elope with him on the day the jewelry disappeared.

The National Conference of Jewish Charities has sent Grossman's photograph broadcast over the country, and the police of many cities, as well as the detectives of a large private agency, are hunting for him. He has a brother in Texas and one in Mexico. He told Miss Block that he was going to Passaic when he said good-bye to her. He did not inform her that he was married.

The missing jewelry consists of a man's diamond ring set with three gems valued at $300, a $150 diamond stick pin, a woman's $300 Tiffany ring, a pair of diamond earrings valued at $200, and a $50 gold watch. According to the statements made to the police by Harrison, his father Henry and his brother Samuel, Grossman called at their home on Sept. 5 and was ushered into the room serving as Isaac's office, in which were a safe and a rolltop desk. Grossman was one of many spare-time salesmen employed by Isaac on commission. While Isaac was talking to him Samuel entered the room and remarked to his brother that since he was going to one of the beaches for a swim he would leave his jewelry to be put in the safe. Isaac put the $300 ring and the $150 stick pin in a little tin box he had taken from the safe and which was before him as he talked to Grossman. He put the tin box in a pigeon hole, after Grossman had said that he did not believe he could dispose of any of the pieces in it, and as he did so, Henry Harrison, the father, called both of his sons into another room, leaving Grossman alone. Grossman remained and talked with Isaac after he had completed his conversation with his father, and Isaac closed the rolltop desk without looking for the tin box. The next morning when he opened the desk he discovered that the tin box was gone.

On making this discovery Isaac Harrison went over to Grossman's home on East 117th Street and saw Grossman's wife. She told him that she had not seen her husband since Sept. 2. On that date she said that she and her husband had quarreled violently, and he had left the house with the threat:

"You'll be sorry for this! I'm going to elope with a better woman than you are!"

When she heard of the disappearance of the jewelry Mrs. Grossman picked up her youngest child, a babe of three months, and with it in her arms, set out to hunt for her husband. She walked so far with the heavy youngster in the hot sun that she collapsed and was taken to her home in an ambulance. She became hystorical there, and was removed to the psychopathic ward of Bellevue Hospital for observation. Her situation was so pitiful that it was thought she had become insane from grief. But she regained her self-control and was released in the custody of her brother.

Miss Block told the police that for a long time Grossman, who posed as a single man, had pestered her with his attentions and protestations of affection. On the Friday before his disappearance he had asked her, she said, to go away with him and be married. He showed her $300 he had drawn from a savings bank and three gold watches. He noticed a $75 diamond ring which she had on her finger and told her that he would have larger stones placed in it. He took the ring from her hand and went away with it. He had informed her, she says, that he was going to Passaic, N. J., to sell a house which belonged to him. He seemed very downcast, she adds, when she refused to elope with him.

It was learned by the police that, although Grossman has been in the United States fifteen years, he did not take out his first papers as a citizen until a week ago Friday.

NATIONAL BANKS' CONDITION.

Preliminary Report Indicates Contraction of Loans and Discounts.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Preliminary figures showing the condition on Sept. 1 of National banks in New York, Boston, Baltimore, St. Louis, Pittsburgh, and Cincinnati indicate in the aggregate a contraction of loans and discounts, a loss in individual deposits, and some contraction of currency. The figures for Sept. 1 are compared with those of June 7, the previous call made by the Controller of the Currency.

New York shows loans and discounts of $885,500,000, a loss of $18,000,000; due to other National banks, $322,000,000, a loss of $26,000,000; individual deposits, $766,000,000, a loss of $11,000,000. The loss in the item due other National banks is probably caused by the movement of bankers' deposits to the interior for crop moving.

Boston shows loans and discounts $192,000,000, a loss of $2,000,000; individual deposits, $172,000,000, a loss of $5,500,000.

The situation in Pittsburgh, St. Louis, and Cincinnati is the reverse.

St. Louis shows loans and discounts of $119,000,000, no change; individual deposits, $78,500,000, a gain of $2,500,000.

Pittsburgh shows loans and discounts $139,000,000, a gain of $2,000,000; individual deposits $124,000,000, a gain of $2,000,000.

Cincinnati shows loans and discounts $63,500,000, a gain of $2,000,000; individual deposits $44,500,000, a gain of $500,000.

Baltimore's loans and discounts were $63,500,000, a gain of $2,000,000; individual deposits, $47,000,000, no change.

The banks in the six cities named substantially have increased their holdings of bonds and other securities. This item represents the new Panama 3s and various other issues. The banks have taken on the latter to offer as security for postal savings deposits.

REGISTERING EXEMPT BONDS.

The Deputy Controller Took In More Than $18,000 in Fees Yesterday.

A large number of holders of bonds subject to the provisions of the new tax exemption law called at the office of Deputy Controller Julius Harburger yesterday to register their securities and pay the one-half of 1 per cent. fee. More than $18,000 was taken in by E. W. Buckley, agent for the Controller, and his fifteen assistants. This is the largest amount received under the new law in any one day since it went into effect on Sept. 1.

Among the largest amounts registered in order that the bonds might be freed from further taxation were the following:

George H. Diehl, $50,000 in bonds of various railroads and electric lighting companies.

Fifth Avenue Trust Company, $6,000 United States Steel bonds.

Standard Trust Company, $200,000, consisting of 1,000 Southern Pacific and 1,000 Norfolk & Western bonds.

Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, $12,000 various railroad bonds.

James H. Oliphant & Co., $38,000 in Barrett Manufacturing Company bonds for a client.

Herzog & Glazier, $180,000 Western & Southern Railway bonds.

Cyrus J. Lawrence & Sons, $228,000 Western & Southern Railway bonds.

A. Iselin & Co., $594,500 various railways, industrial, gas, and power company issues.

Day & Heaton, $129,000 railway and coal company bonds.

J. Ellis Postlethwaite, $238,000 steam and electric railways.

Charles Moran, $582,000 railway bonds.

Ladd & Wood, $61,000 railway bonds.

New York Trust Company of New York, $195,000 railroad bonds.

Alfred B. Osgoodby Asks Divorce.

Alleging that his wife has been seen in various hotels in this city and in Asbury Park with men, Alfred B. Osgoodby of 126 West 103d Street, began suit yesterday for divorce against Lillian Osgoodby in White Plains. The couple were married in Ocean Grove in 1897 and for ten years lived happily in this city. Two years ago, according to Mr. Osgoodby, he began to observe conduct on the part of his wife that displeased him. His complaint accuses her of misconduct in September, 1909, followed by other instances up to and including the present Summer.

AERONAUT, FREEZING, CUTS OPEN BALLOON

H. P. Shearman, Williams College Aeronautical President, Uses Knife When Rip-Cord Fails.

UNCONSCIOUS IN THE BASKET

Falls Into a Field and Is Taken to Hospital—Record New England Flight for Single Aeronaut.

AUBURN, Me., Sept. 12.—Half benumbed by a swift flight through rain, hail, and cold air currents, and unable to make the outlet valve, or rip cord, of his balloon work properly, H. Percy Shearman climbed up through the ropes, slashed the silken bag with a knife, and fell back unconscious into the basket. The balloon dropped swiftly to the ground, and to-night Shearman, resting comfortably at a local hospital, was able to tell something of his experiences.

It was on a farm on the outskirts of this city that Shearman, who is President of the Williams College Aeronautical Society, this forenoon ended the longest balloon flight ever made in New England by an aeronaut unaccompanied. The distance from Pittsfield, Mass., where he ascended early in the morning, to this city is approximately 200 miles.

Soon after leaving Pittsfield, early today, in an attempt to fly to Canada as one of his qualifying trips for a pilot's license, Shearman's balloon, the Springfield, ran into a severe rainstorm, later changing to hail. No sooner had he passed through this than he encountered a very cold air current. Feeling the effects of the exposure, Shearman several times tried to descend, but was unable to deflate the bag. His strength was nearly exhausted when he finally resorted to his knife.

The physicians who examined Shearman at the hospital said that they found no evidence of injury, and that his condition was due entirely to exhaustion and exposure. No serious results are anticipated.

BALK AT REGISTRY LAW.

Many New Jersey Voters Refuse to Answer the Questions Put.

Yesterday was the first day of registration in New Jersey under the new Geran law, put through the Legislature by Gov. Wilson. In Jersey City the Election Boards were unfamiliar with the law and there were mix-ups. Personal registration was not necessary for the primaries, which take place Sept. 26. Many voters refused to answer the questions asked by the election officers and required by law and left the polling places without registering for the election.

For the primaries the election officers in many districts wrote the names of Democrats and Republicans in the one book without making the party designation. This will mean a mix-up on primary day.

Exactly how well the first registration day in Newark under the new law worked could not be determined last night. It was 9 o'clock when the registration closed and definite figures of the totals were not obtainable. Approximately, it was said, the vote eligible for the primary election this year will be about the same as it was last year. It was estimated that about two-thirds of the names of those are of men who voted at the last general election, the carrying of which is permitted by law, and one-third are newly registered names. Newark has twenty-seven new election districts this year, or a total of 171, the lines of the old districts having been changed in order to bring the number of voters in each within the legal requirement.

It was rumored during the night that gangs of men had been imported from New York and Brooklyn to register for the primaries and delay the work of the election officers so as to interfere with the registration of legitimate voters and to disgust them with the long waits and thus discredit the new law. Denial was made of the story.

For an hour before the registration places closed long lines of men who could have registered earlier were in some of them. It was denied that this was prearranged to prevent rapid work by the Election Boards. It was figured that the average time required to register each voter and record his answer to the fourteen questions fixed by law was six minutes.

HOPES GERMANS SEE FUTILITY OF WAR

Norman Angell, Author of "The Great Illusion," Says They Must Do So Sooner or Later.

HIS THEORY BEING PROVED

Morocco Developments Exhibiting Financial Interdependence of the Centres of the World.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Sept. 12.—Although it is generally known that France's reply to Germany's demand for economic privileges in Morocco is a decided No, the public continues to watch the negotiations with exemplary calm. The whole country realizes the strength of the Government, which proved its mettle as soon as it came into power.

The figure of Premier Caillaux stands high to-day as that of a clever politician, and, above all, an able business man.

It is now realized here that he has succeeded in eliminating all sentimental elements from the Moroccan question and in reducing it to a mere matter of business.

In fact, the financial development in the Morocco situation appears as a dramatic confirmation of the theory advanced by Norman Angell in his remarkable book, "The Great Illusion," which aroused such world-wide interest recently. The theory propounded in that book is that, owing to the financial interdependence of the great economic centres of the world, it is to-day impossible for one nation to inflict damage on another without damaging itself, and impossible also, for that reason, to achieve any economic advantage by force of arms.

Paradoxical as this theory sounds, the developments of the last few days give it striking confirmation, and what has taken place is precisely what Mr. Angell declared two years ago would take place if Germany, in the pursuit of her ambitions, should throw the economic machine of Europe out of gear.

THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent to-day saw Mr. Angell, who is in Paris, pointed out to him how his theories are being confirmed by facts, and asked him whether he regarded war as impossible.

"No, I don't," he replied without a moment's hesitation. "I never said was was impossible. What I have said is that profit by war is impossible, but, until people see that, war is not only possible, but likely. I think, however, that if we have a few more 'Black Saturdays' in Berlin it will lead some statesmen to ask a few useful questions. If mere rumors of war cause runs on banks and cost German finance and industry millions, what would war itself do?

"The crisis was really caused by the failure of Germany's foreign creditors to renew loans. Now, Germany might be the most powerful country in Europe, but she could not compel European bankers to lend her money unless they wanted to do so—that is, unless they thought the security good and had funds available. But if a victorious Germany, acting on the false assumption that it could enforce for itself an advantageous economic position by virtue of its military power, or that it could in some way exact tribute from other nations, attempts to place other countries at a disadvantage, those other countries will not have funds available and the security will not be considered good.

"France holds the purse strings, and Germany, whatever she believes to the contrary, cannot open them by cannon or bayonets. German financiers, merchants, and manufacturers will not get their loans renewed by having their Government declare war on France, and even if a free present of Morocco were made to them, German industry as a whole could not make from that country what it would lose by having its credit facilities stiffen for it in the great economic centres of Europe.

"It is not the 'money power' plotting to frustrate the aims of Germany. There is no plot, and the money power is mainly mythical. It is simply that if Germany wants her neighbors to lend her money she must let those neighbors go about their business undisturbed by threats of military interference, and she must make it plain to them also that an ordinary commercial contract is not going to be interfered with by military aggression.

"But if she does these two things she is going to renounce her schemes of conquest, interference, and aggression. That is what will ultimately take place, and it is only a question whether it will be sooner or later. The 'mailed fist' in the business world is out of date. It belongs to the economic era of the robber baron."

FRENCH REPLY DECIDED ON.

Cabinet Holds Long Meeting—Germany to Have the Note This Week.

PARIS, Sept. 12.—A momentous meeting of the Cabinet was held this afternoon to consider France's reply to Germany's counter-proposals in the Moroccan negotiations.

The meeting lasted three hours. The terms and a rough draft of the document were laid before the Ministers by Foreign Minister de Selves, and were discussed and scrutinized from every aspect.

Although the Ministers formally refuse to satisfy public curiosity by making any statement whatever as to what passed at the historic council, it is understood that the Cabinet accorded its fullest approval to the reply prepared by M. de Selves, which is no less explicit than the document submitted by Germany. It sets forth in the clearest possible manner France's position with regard to the question of principle raised by Germany and lays particular stress on the necessity of maintaining commercial equality for all powers in Morocco and on the assurance to France of an absolutely free hand politically in that country.

The Foreign Minister will proceed to Rambouillet to-morrow to submit the decision of the Cabinet to President Fallières. He will then have drawn up the definitive text of the reply, which will be dispatched from Paris without delay and will be in the possession of the German Government by the end of the week.

The Temps affirms that France's answer negatives most of the conditions for a settlement put forward by Germany. The paper regrets the "optimism by command" shown by the important German newspapers in order to quiet the financial excitement, saying that it is imprudent, and adding that the realities of the situation will, consequently, come to public knowledge as an unhappy surprise.

BERLIN, Sept. 12.—Although public anxiety regarding the differences between France and Germany has been largely allayed, stocks opened somewhat weaker on the Boerse to-day owing to the unsatisfactory course of the New York and Paris markets yesterday.

A report printed in the foreign press that the Russian Government had withdrawn great sums of money from Berlin is authoritatively denied, and it is asserted that the withdrawal of French credits from German houses has been much exaggerated in the press reports.

HAVOC FROM ETNA VOLCANO.

Lava Destroying Everything in Its Path—Railway Threatened.

CATANIA, Sept. 12.—The crest of Mount Etna now presents a terrifying spectacle. Heavy smoke lies over it, with frequent brilliant flashes, and the explosions, which are continuous along a line nearly two miles in extent, are like the firing of heavy artillery.

A torrent of burning lava, estimated to be 2,000 feet wide and 4 feet deep, is pouring down the slope. Everything in its way has been carried before it. Groves of trees have been uprooted and set on fire, and the laval stream is sweeping through the fields, sending out for miles around hot, resinous waves of smoke.

The peasants have left their homes, carrying with them the aged, the sick, the children, and whatever meagre belongings they were able to get together.

Whole regions covered with hardened lava from past eruptions have been torn open by the frequent earthshocks. Many of these have been of great violence, and the peasants fear a repetition of the Messina disaster.

Sixteen new fissures have opened in the volcano. The great stream of lava moves at the rate of 1,250 feet an hour and has covered several miles in the direction of Linguaglossa, a town in the foothills to the northeast of Etna.

Linguaglossa and Randazzo, to the northwest, are on elevations and are not threatened by the flow of lava, though storms of ashes beat upon them. The people, however, are panicstricken, and some have deserted the towns.

The river of lava will, it is expected, soon reach the railway line circling Mount Etna at a point between Linguaglossa and Randazzo and interrupt communication between the two towns.

EX-SHAH IN FULL FLIGHT.

Reported to Have Returned to the Persian Port at Which He Landed.

TEHERAN, Sept. 12.—The deposed Shah, Mohammed Ali Mirza, whose attempt to re-establish himself on the throne has met with many reverses, is reported to be in full flight and to have reached Gumesh Tepe with seven followers.

Gumesh Tepe is the port on the Caspian Sea near the Russian border, at which the ex-Shah landed in July on his adventure against the reigning Shah.

A large amount in gold captured from the rebel leader, Arshad ed Dowleh, has been delivered to the Persian Treasurer General.

CONDEMN SLOT MACHINES.

Inspectors Put False Weighing Devices Out of Commission with Placards.

Inspectors of the Bureau of Weights and Measures, under orders of Commissioner Walsh, began a crusade of "tagging" against slot machine scales as well as other types in use throughout the city yesterday. Every machine found out of order was plastered with red and black placards containing this sign:

> CONDEMNED
> by the > Mayor's Bureau of Weights and Measures,
> City of New York.
> WARNING!
> Do not remove this tag under penalty of $25. When this instrument has been repaired and is ready for reinspection notify the Mayor's Bureau of Weights and Measures, Room 7, City Hall.

Some threescore machines were found to be defective. The crusade will be continued to-day.

GENERAL REBELLION IS FEARED IN CHINA

Revolt in Sze-Chuen Province Likely to Spread if It Is Not Quickly Suppressed.

TROOPS ARE MUTINYING

English Women and Children Left Cheng-Tu, but It Is Not Known if Missionaries Have Departed.

PEKING, Sept. 12.—An Imperial edict issued to-day says that the ringleaders in the disorders in Sze-Chuen Province intended to proclaim independence. As a consequence the Chinese Government has ordered the Viceroy to destroy the rebels to the last man.

The Viceroy's attention, however, has been called to the fact that many of those taking part in the disturbances are misguided, and the Government instructs him to distinguish between them and the actual rebels in imposing punishment.

The possibility of very serious results in Sze-Chuen is considered grave. If the rebellion is not promptly suppressed it is likely to spread to other provinces, where there has been much discontent of late.

Some of the newspapers are urging the people to join in the uprising, but the merchants everywhere are fearful that if the rebels are successful it might be the beginning of a general conflagration.

The Japanese Legation has received a dispatch indicating that Chinese troops are among the rebels who are besieging Cheng-Tu. No reports have reached here as to the extent of the affected area. The Yang-Tse section of the province has not yet joined the revolt, though it is ready to participate in it if the movement seems to be successful.

It is not known whether the American and Canadian missionaries have left Cheng-Tu or are besieged in that city. Their latest telegram announced their intention of sending the women and children forward. If they left the city and made the journey in safety by the river they should reach the Yang-tse in a day or two. The best means of travel would be by junk, where the fugitives would be less conspicuous than if proceeding by carts across the country.

The British Legation received a telegram to-day stating that the first party of refugees from Cheng-Tu had arrived in safety at Sui-Fu. Evidently these refugees, all of whom, the dispatch says, are British citizens, came down the river by junk and were met by a British gunboat. They number seventeen, most of them being women and children.

A belated dispatch to the British Legation, dated Cheng-Tu, Sept. 9, says: "The other missionaries remain at Cheng-Tu upon the advice of the Viceroy, who is confident. The troops easily repulsed both the attack on the Government house and the later attack on the gates of the city."

The Government for four days has tried in vain to communicate with Cheng-Tu.

CHENG-KING, Sept. 12.—A serious rebellion has begun in the district of Cheng-Tu. The soldiers refuse to obey instructions, and are trying to bring force against the Governmental control of the railway.

The schools are closed and business has been suspended.

Unless the uprising is stopped it may lead to a general rebellion. Conditions are precarious.

The missionaries are concentrating here. Four foreign gunboats provide protection. The uprising is not at present directed against foreigners.

MUTINY ON HAITIAN SHIP.

The 17 Septembre on Fire Also—60 of the 210 Passengers Landed.

CAPE HAITIEN, Sept. 12.—The dispatch boat 17 Septembre lies off Port de Paix with mutiny and fire on board. The steamer Eclaireur, which went to the assistance of the dispatch boat, returned here to-day bringing sixty passengers who had been transferred from the 17 Septembre.

One hundred and fifty passengers remain on the vessel. These include the Medical Commissioners who are on their way to Quanaminthe, which town is stricken with disease and where the people are without proper supplies and food.

The Commissioners will come here and proceed by land to the suffering town. Dr. James Donnelly, an American physician, is here and will join the commission.

ARRESTS IN STANSFIELD CASE

Two Witnesses to be Fetched by Force—Convict Examined in Sing Sing.

Justice Tompkins at White Plains signed attachments yesterday for the arrest of two important witnesses in the Stansfield separation and divorce suits, and they were placed in the hands of the Sheriff. One of the witnesses who knows a good deal, it is said, about the marital troubles of Samuel Stansfield and Mrs. Eugenia Stansfield will be brought from the western part of the State, and it is understood that another witness will be arrested in Manhattan.

The names of the unwilling witnesses have been withheld, as it is said that they have endeavored to evade the service of a subpoena. Judge Tompkins, in company with the lawyers for plaintiff and defendant, went yesterday morning to Sing Sing Prison, where he took the testimony of a convict named McNutt, who had been sent there for swindling a Miss Jacques, who was a friend of Mrs. Stansfield, and, Mr. Stansfield alleges, caused the first break between his wife and himself. The nature of the convict's testimony was not revealed.

Following the conclusion of the separation and divorce trial, there will be another contest between the couple to determine who owns the Manor House at Purchase. Mrs. Stansfield says that she purchased it with her money, and Mr. Stansfield asserts that he spent $30,000 in beautifying and improving it.

PAWNS LANDLADY'S GEMS.

Boarder Is Traced to St. Paul and Arrested After Indictment Here.

Constantine Narlean, an accountant, who boarded with Mrs. L. O. Fullen in the Bashford Hall apartments, 610 West 144th Street, and who, Mrs. Fullen said, had a habit of pawning her jewelry, was indicted yesterday for grand larceny. News of the indictment was telegraphed to St. Paul, where Narlean was arrested, and Detective Brennick will start to-day with requisition papers to bring him back.

Mrs. Fullen said that on June 20 she discovered that three unset diamonds and a bracelet were missing from her bureau. She accused Narlean of taking them. She said he produced pawn tickets, one for a loan of $160 on the diamonds and another for a loan of $20 on the bracelet. Narlean redeemed and returned the articles and continued as a boarder.

On Sept. 2 Mrs. Fullen missed a diamond brooch containing eighty-two diamonds and a large moonstone, and as Narlean had disappeared she notified the police. Detectives Collinge and Brennick found that the brooch had been pawned for $200 by Narlean, who was traced to St. Paul.

MORE POVERTY THIS YEAR.

Sickness the Most Important Cause, Says Charitable Society.

The Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor announced yesterday that an investigation of conditions surrounding the families that have been referred to it for relief since June 1 showed there has been an increase in the number of families in need of assistance over that time last year.

The two most striking points, it was said, was the large number of families reduced to poverty by sickness and the insignificant part intemperance played as a contributing cause. Of the 1,573 families in the association's care this Summer sickness was the cause of poverty in 681 cases, or 43 per cent. Intemperance caused a trifle less than 2 per cent. of the cases.

Unemployment was the second most important cause, with a percentage of 25. Insufficient income led 12 per cent. to seek relief; death and accident were each responsible for 2 per cent., and in 1 per cent. non-support and old age were the causes. Other contributing causes were imprisonment, fire, mental deficiency, immorality, and insanity.

Little Girl Gets $3,000,000 by Senff Will

Special to The New York Times.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Sept. 12.—By the will of the late Charles Senff, who died recently in Whitestone, L. I., it was said here to-night that the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cameron of New Windsor would inherit $3,000,000, half of the estate. She was his favorite niece. A bequest of $1,000,000 is said to have been made by Mr. Senff to Mrs. Lee, wife of H. C. Lee, a Cornwall artist and a nephew of Mr. Senff.

AMERICANS DEFEAT BRITONS IN TENNIS

Victors Earn Right to Go to Australia to Play for Davis Challenge Cup.

FINAL MATCHES AT WEST SIDE

Larned and McLoughlin Again Beat Lowe and Dixon in Singles in Preliminary Ties, Making a Total of 4 Points to 1.

Americans will play the Australian holders of the Davis International Challenge Cup. That was decided when William A. Larned, the seven times National champion, defeated Arthur Holden Lowe of the British team at 6—3, 1—6, 7—5, 6—1, and Maurice E. McLoughlin, the young Californian, disposed of the veteran Charles P. Dixon, Captain of the Britons, also in four sets to the score of 8—6, 3—6, 6—3, 6—2, yesterday on the turf courts of the West Side Tennis Club, 238th Street and Broadway. The two victories came almost simultaneously, while the crowd of 5,000 spectators which packed every inch of space about the courts cheered the players. The two matches brought the international ties to an end, the Americans having won four points by tallying all of the singles, while the British took one point in the series by winning the doubles, in which C. P. Dixon and A. E. Beamish defeated Thomas C. Bundy and Raymond D. Little.

These results were better than had been looked for after both Dixon and Lowe had held their opponents to five sets last Saturday, when the series began. But the British steadiness and driving, wonderfully clever though it was, could not prevail yesterday against the slashing spectacular net attack of McLoughlin, who played Dixon to a standstill, nor the splendid blocking tactics of Larned, who came up to close range and crossed off the stinging drives which Lowe sent over the net. It was a battle of the net tactics against base-line manoeuvring in both of the matches, and the dashing aggressiveness of the Americans was successful.

The margin between victory and defeat in the Larned-Lowe contest was not a wide one. Larned scored a total of 112 points to 90 for the Briton. The surprising feature, however, was that the American champion not only outplaced his opponent, with the total tally at 23 to 22, but he also had the advantage of him in steadiness, as the outs tallied 31 to 52 and the nets 42 to 34. That left the American the slight advantage of 13 points for the four sets, exactly the difference in the point totals.

McLoughlin surprised even his most ardent admirers by disposing of Dixon to a better score than had Larned last Saturday, when the American title holder was forced through the limit of five sets. McLoughlin tallied a total of 141 points to 122. By his phenomenal smashing and cross-courting of the ball he earned a total of 63 aces by placement, while Dixon had, approximately, only half that number, with 36. Then the Californian was far more accurate than it was expected he would be, for he only made 34 outs to Dixon's 28 and 46 nets to the Briton's 41. In the last set alone McLoughlin made the ball hum through Dixon's court for 14 shots by placement, a truly remarkable performance.

WOMAN GETS BRIDGE STAND.

Part of Space from Which Antonopolus Was Ousted Is Leased.

Part of the stand under the Manhattan entrance to the Brooklyn Bridge, which has figured from time to time in the news columns, was let yesterday by Park Commissioner Stover to Miss Antula Papademetri, a Greek, of 431 Seventh Avenue, Brooklyn. It will probably be used for a flower stand.

The new tenant will have to pay only $600 a year for the stand, but she will get only about a third of the former space, or a section about twelve feet wide and extending to the sixteenth step of the big stairway. John Antonopolus, who was put out by Commissioner Stover, paid $8,400 a year for the original space. The new lease extends to July 1, 1912.

APPEAL TO GOVERNOR TO REMOVE GRESSER

Dix Listens to Arguments For and Against Borough President of Queens.

NO CHARGE OF DISHONESTY

Defenders Present Petition Signed by 6,000 Asking That Gresser Be Retained.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Sept. 12.—Gov. Dix, with William Church Osborn, sat at his desk in the Executive Chamber for four hours this afternoon to hear arguments on the report of Samuel H. Ordway, the Commissioner appointed by Gov. Hughes to take testimony on the charge made that Lawrence Gresser, President of the Borough of Queens, was incompetent and should be removed from office.

The forces for and against Gresser were about equally divided in numbers and filled the big chamber, but the Gresser adherents were better organized. Mr. Gresser occupied a seat directly in front of the Governor, and at times showed much uneasiness when Charles Pope Caldwell, who represented the Citizens' Committee, in urging his removal, recited some of his alleged shortcomings, and contended that the report of Commissioner Ordway made it plain that it was the Governor's duty to remove Mr. Gresser.

Pointing his finger at Mr. Gresser, Mr. Caldwell said: "The evidence taken by Mr. Ordway will show you that Mr. Gresser was not only incompetent but crooked."

That Mr. Gresser was crooked, Mr. Caldwell declared, was shown in the evidence relative to the campaign contributions. He called upon the Governor to stand by his ante-election pledge that in the interest of the Democratic Party he would strive to prevent the waste of public funds, and would remove any official who was recreant to the trust imposed in him. Mr. Caldwell laid particular stress on the Governor's statement that he "would turn on all the searchlight and drive the 'Black Horse Cavalry' out of business."

Mr. Osborn reminded Mr. Caldwell that there was nothing in Mr. Ordway's report questioning Mr. Gresser's honesty. "You are arguing for the approval of the Ordway report, and this exonerates Mr. Gresser from any implication of personal dishonesty."

Mr. Caldwell denied that Gresser had "cleaned house," and said the latter gave no excuse for his failure to discharge incompetent men. He pointed to "Cragin, the postage stamp thief," who was reinstated by Gresser and was still in office.

Robert S. Binkerd, Secretary of the City Club of New York, said that the rules laid down by Gov. Hughes in the removal of Borough Presidents Haffen and Ahearn were sound ones. Borough Presidents, he contended, are the trustees of public rights, and he should do the same as though he was a trustee of private rights. He had heard it said that Gresser should not be removed for fear a worse man would be elected, but this was not borne out in the removals of Haffen and Ahearn.

George W. Foren of Far Rockaway alleged inefficiency of subordinates of Mr. Gresser and charged that they were at the bottom of the trouble.

In opening Mr. Gresser's defense Chase Mellen said that not a single act of dishonesty, corruption, or misconduct had been proved against Mr. Gresser, the only overt acts proved being against his subordinates.

"Mr. Gresser is giving the best government we have ever had," he declared with emphasis. "Why turn Gresser out because there were some incompetent men under him who had to be ousted?"

Alrick H. Man described the conditions surrounding Mr. Gresser during his appointive term and asked "all who favor the retention of Mr. Gresser to stand up."

"Hold!" Mr. Caldwell interposed, "all who are not officeholders, special privilege enjoyers, contractors, and politicians."

"I accept the amendment," said Mr. Man. Thereupon half a dozen of the sixty-odd rose.

Mr. Man offered a petition signed by 6,000 voters of Queens, which was objected to by Mr. Caldwell. William H. Williams, who prepared it, stated that the charge that many of the signatories were non-residents was not true.

Mr. Caldwell said that this petition was prepared to influence the Governor, and he thought it improper and should be rejected.

"We think the Governor is entitled to know how the people feel. This petition was taken up by independent citizens who are in sympathy with good government," said Mr. Man.

The Governor admitted the petition, as well as one signed by John W. Weed of Flushing, who followed Mr. Man.

Mr. Weed said the 100 signatures in his petition represented the greatest interests in the borough and that the borough would be best served by the retention of Mr. Gresser.

William F. Wyckoff said that incompetency and inefficiency were not grounds for removal, which should be left for the people to decide. The only thing which comes out of the mass of evidence collected by Mr. Ordway, he said, was the contention that Gresser is incompetent.

From the business man's viewpoint, John Adikes of Jamaica, spoke warmly of Mr. Gresser's work for rapid transit and the elimination of grade crossings. He asked that Gresser be allowed to remain.

Martin J. Verdery, Secretary of the New York Stock Exchange, asserted that Gresser had kept faith in an ante-election promise to perform the duties of his office with honesty and integrity. This led to handclapping, whereupon the Governor asked that no such interruptions be made.

Harry Sutphin, who said he was the only official under Gresser who was not indicted, started to read a long "open letter" in support of the contention that Gresser should be removed, but the Governor cut him short, saying he might hand the letter to the stenographer.

John O'Donnell of Jamaica declared that it was impossible to make good roads with an incompetent head.

Joseph Molloney, representing 8,000 members of the American Federation of Labor, who were residents of Queens, favored the retention of Mr. Gresser, while G. Howlan Levitt, Chairman of the Queens County Chamber of Commerce, urged the removal of Gresser.

The Governor gave the counsel twenty-four hours in which to file briefs.

READY FOR ALBANY INQUIRY.

Osborne, Investigators' Counsel, Looks Over the Ground.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Sept. 12.—James W. Osborne, counsel to the special committee of Senators, which is to investigate the administration of Albany City and county offices, reached the city to-day and spent several hours in consultation with Democratic State Committeeman Patrick E. McCabe and others, who have information which will form the basis of the inquiry. Mr. Osborne declined to discuss the investigation, declaring that Chairman Bayne would speak for the committee.

"I am here to look over the ground," Mr. Osborne said. "I am not in a position to speak of the committee's work, and all I care to say is that I shall welcome information from any faction or other source, and any facts submitted will be treated confidentially."

The committees' counsel believes he will be ready to present the case to the committee in ten days or two weeks. It is understood that the Department of Public Safety, including the Police and Fire Bureaus, will be the most important subject of attack. William Barnes, Jr., the local Republican leader, has engaged Peter A. Delaney of Albany, an anti-McCabe Democrat, to co-operate with Corporation Counsel Arthur L. Andrews in looking out for the city's interests before the committee.

IN AID OF CLEAN PRIMARIES.

Political Bodies Must Observe the Corrupt Practices Act.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Sept. 12.—In anticipation of the primary elections to be held in the interior of the State next week and in New York City the week following, the Association to Prevent Corrupt Practices at Elections has made public a circular letter addressed to the "Charmen, Treasurers, members and agents of all political committees, and to candidates for nomination at conventions or by petition," notifying them that the provisions of the Corrupt Practices act now applies to primary elections and to candidates for nomination, as well as to the general elections and candidates thereat.

"Every payment, including those made to poll worker, watcher, or messenger," says the circular, "must be given in detail, together with the name and address of the payee, and nature of the service rendered. The association invites the assistance of public-spirited citizens for the better enforcement of the Corrupt Practices act."

Indorses Dix, Huppuch and Legislators

HUDSON FALLS, N. Y., Sept. 12.—The Democratic General Committee of Washington County, the home of Gov. Dix and Winfield A. Huppuch, retiring Chairman of the Democratic State Committee, has adopted resolutions which were given out to-day, indorsing the Governor's administration, the work of the Legislature, and the retrenchment shown by various State officers in the administration of their departments.

TO CUT OUT EIGHT CROSSINGS

Long Island Railroad Submits Plan to Improve Montauk Division.

Another plan for the elimination of grade crossings in Long Island was put forward yesterday at a hearing before Commissioner McCarroll of the Public Service Commission. Ten of the grade crossings on the Montauk Division of the Long Island Railroad were under consideration, and the proposal put forward by John R. Savage, chief engineer of the Long Island Railway, did away with eight of them.

He suggested that the tracks should be depressed for about 5,000 feet to the east and west of Bushwick Junction, where occurs the double crossing of Metropolitan Avenue and Fresh Pond Road, which has a particularly evil reputation. Then for a considerable stretch the tracks would be elevated and would thus pass above Flushing Avenue, Grand Street, Maspeth Avenue, Berlin Avenue or Haberman's factory, Clifton Avenue, and Hobson or Washington Avenue. Further to the west there are grade crossings at Penny Bridge and at Greenpoint Avenue, but they were not included in the plan submitted yesterday.

Mr. Savage testified that the elimination of the crossing at Bushwick Avenue would cost from $370,000 to $400,000 and the entire improvement would consume $750,000, exclusive of the real estate that it would be necessary to purchase. This would bring the entire cost up to about $1,000,000.

CLEAR HART OF KILLING WIFE

Police Had No Evidence Against Him and Coroner's Jury Acts Promptly.

Without leaving their seats yesterday a Coroner's jury exonerated Edward F. Hart of responsibility for the death of his wife, Irene, who was found dead in her home, 151 East Twenty-seventh Street, last Thursday. The jurymen found that death came to the woman "at the hands of some person or persons unknown."

When Hart returned home last Thursday he discovered his wife's body on the kitchen floor, with five bullets in her body. He at once called the police. The autopsy showed that any of the five wounds were sufficient to have caused instant death, and Hart was held without bail. He disclaimed any knowledge of the revolver found lying beside his wife, and said he knew of no one who would be likely to shoot her.

During the inquest Hart wept continually, but did not take the witness stand. Coroner's Physician Weston said it would have been impossible for the woman to have committed suicide. As the jury filed out of the box each member shook hands with the man, after which Coroner Feinberg discharged him.

Both Assistant District Attorney Rubin and the Coroner said that no other verdict was possible, as the police had absolutely no evidence to connect Hart with the shooting. They commented on the fact that Mrs. Hart had several enemies, any of whom might have killed her.

TWO FATHERS CLAIM THIS ITALIAN CHILD

One Says He Adopted Her Nine Years Ago—The Other Declares She Was Stolen.

LONG SEARCH ENDS HERE

Foster Parents Willing to Give Her Up if Other's Claim Is Upheld by the Court.

A little black-haired girl, dark-skinned and dark-eyed, stood nervously in Supreme Court Justice Gavgan's court yesterday, glancing anxiously from big, heavy Giuseppi Sambardini to Oreste Marengo, shorter and less stocky. Sambardini the child had known for nine and a half of her eleven years as her father. Oreste she looked at nervously, anxious to love him if he were her father, as he said, but doubtful still of the stranger whom she never recalled having seen until three weeks ago.

She listened wonderingly while the claims of the men were urged to Justice Gavegan. Sambardini, deadly in earnest and hopeful that the Justice would award the little girl to him, told how, nine and a half years ago, he and his wife had lived in Naples, their happiness marred only by the fact that they were childless. They thought long before taking the step, he said, but finally determined to adopt a child from some institution. Accordingly they selected Caterina, then only eighteen months old.

From the first they had loved the little girl as their own daughter. They had reared her tenderly and carefully, and since their arrival in this country, some years ago, had seen to it that she attended school. They had never revealed to the child the history of her birth, believing it best that she should look on them as her real parents.

The first rift in their happiness came on Aug. 24. Sambardini, his wife, and the little girl were together in their home, at 2,457 Belmont Avenue, the Bronx, when there came a ring at the bell. Sambardini admitted three strange men. One of them fell on his knees before Sambardini, grasped both his hands, and covered them with kisses. Then he sprang up and grasped Caterina. Pressing her closely to him, the man hugged and kissed her, crying out:

"My little girl. My own little girl. At last I've found you."

The little girl was frightened, and struggled to escape from the stranger. At last the man set her down. Then the two other men stepped forward. One was a detective, the other a representative of the Italian Consul's office, they said. The man who had caressed Caterina was her father, Oreste Marengo, they told the Sambardinis, and he had come to take her away. Sambardini was impressed by Marengo's companions. If it was the law, he dared not protest, and he allowed Caterina to be taken away.

But after the little girl had gone he began to fear that Marengo was not the real father; perhaps he had kidnapped the little girl. Throughly frightened, Sambardini went to Charles C. Levenson of 912 Brook Avenue, the Bronx, a lawyer, and told him the story. Levenson got a writ of habeas corpus, and yesterday Marengo produced Caterina in court.

He declared that Sambardini's story of his adoption of the little girl was false. He said that the child was really his, and that he had given his daughter to Mrs. Sambardini to nurse, that the latter, childless, had kidnapped the child, and with her husband had come to America. Since then, declared Marengo, he had searched everywhere for trace of his lost daughter.

He was in business in Algiers, he said, but in the last nine years had made frequent trips to Italy in quest of news of his daughter and thrice had made the long journey to this country, only to find that the clues which he followed were false. Now he had found her, and he prayed that Caterina might be given to him for good. He had written to his wife in Algiers to come at once with their three other children, that Caterina was found, and that they all would make their home in this country.

Justice Gavegan decided that the case would bear more investigation, and he postponed the hearing until next Tuesday. Meantime he allowed the little girl to stay with Mrs. Emilia Mischol of 2,234 First Avenue, in whose charge Marengo had given her. Marengo declared that were the child returned to Sambardini, the latter and his wife would run off again, and that it might be nine more long years before he could get trace of his little girl.

Caterina went obediently with Mrs. Mischol from the courtroom, but as long as she could keep her eyes on them her wondering gaze rested first on Sambardini and then on Marengo.

Under Hypnotic Spell, He Says.

GLOVERSVILLE, N. Y., Sept. 12.—James L. Whitehouse, 30, appeared in the office of City Attorney Scribner this morning and asked him to prosecute a person whose name he would not divulge, who he said worked a hypnotic spell upon him eighteen years ago. It is supposed that the man is mentally unbalanced. A story regarding a hypnotized family of boys living in Hamilton County under the influence of their mother may have given the man the suggestion for his mania.

STOLE TO HELP HIS FATHER.

Clark Tells Police He Also Needed Money to Buy a Trombone.

Lambert Suydam, a broker, with offices at 25 Pine Street, complained to the police yesterday that $2,500 in money and valuable papers had disappeared from his safe in the last three months. A. C. Quackenbush, who occupies an adjoining office, added that he had lost $37 in cash and four pearl studs valued at $100 each. Detectives Collins and Yore of the Oak Street Station were assigned to investigate.

Yore concealed himself in Suydam's office after the employes left yesterday afternoon. He saw Charles Schaefer, a clerk employed by a brokerage firm in the same building, enter the office and make out reports by comparison with Suydam's reports as had been his daily habit. Then, Yore said, he saw Schaefer go over to Suydam's safe, open it with the combination, and take out $30 in new bills, which had been marked and placed in the safe. Yore said Schaefer pocketed the bills.

Following Schaefer to the ground floor and out into the street, Yore arrested him. At first he protested his innocence, but when the marked bills were found on him after a search in the station house he begged for mercy. He declared that his peculations had been made to provide support for an aged father, who recently lost his place in the Post Office and to buy himself a new trombone.

Schaefer is a musician in the band of the Thirteenth Regiment, Coast Artillery, and lives at 676 McDonough Street, Brooklyn. While working for Suydam he learned that Quackenbush, who has an old-fashioned key safe, kept the key in Suydam's safe, of which he knew the combination.

CHILDREN ON COLUMBUS DAY

To Compete for Places on the Floats in the Afternoon Parade.

The Columbus Day Celebration Committee held a meeting yesterday in the Aldermanic Chamber at City Hall to perfect plans for the observance of discovery anniversary. It was decided to have school children compete, under direction of their teachers, for positions on the floats in the afternoon parade. George W. Loft, Chairman of the committee, said afterward:

"This committee has been appointed by Mayor Gaynor for the purpose of arranging a fitting and proper celebration of Oct. 12 next, which will be the first civic recognition in the City of New York of the discovery of this continent by Christopher Columbus.

"The committee purposes that this celebration shall be a memorable one. The present plans embrace a mammoth historical parade during the afternoon, with a large number of educational floats showing memorable events in the life of the Genoese sailor. The afternoon programme includes specially conducted games and amusements in the parks for the city's children.

"In the evening there will be a banquet of upward 2,500 plates at popular prices.

"Believing that all citizens will agree with the Mayor and the committee that this celebration is worthy of their support the committee will be pleased to receive voluntary contributions, addressed to its Treasurer, Alfred H. Seligman, at its headquarters, 53 Park Row."

CHAUFFEUR CARRIED A GUN.

Brought It with Him from Jersey and Must Stand Trial Under Sullivan Law.

John Schmidt of Red Bank, N. J., a chauffeur, arrived in this city yesterday morning with a party of theatrical people, including William A. Brady, the producer, and Katherine Gray, actress. On his way back to Red Bank Schmidt was halted by Policeman Roth at Cortlandt Street for having two license tags on his automobile. While telling Schmidt that he was violating the law, Roth noticed an empty revolver holster lying on the seat of the automobile. He asked Schmidt if he had a gun with him. Schmidt denied this, but the policeman searched him. Not finding the gun in Schmidt's pockets, he looked into the tool box, where he found a revolver.

When arraigned in the Tombs Court Schmidt admitted that he had a revolver, and said that his brother, also a chauffeur, had recently been held up and robbed in New Jersey, and that ever since then he had carried the revolver for self-protection. Magistrate Harris said:

"I am sorry that you managed to get arrested, as I think you were justified in carrying a revolver, but when you come into this State you must get rid of it according to a new law. All I can do is to hold you in $300 bail for trial in Special Sessions."

Crowded Court Room Pleased by Little Girl's Piano Playing

Startling Demonstration of Success of Learning at Home Without a Teacher.

This little girl affirmed under oath she did not know one note from another when she received the first lesson from the U. S. School of Music, and since had received no other instruction than that of the U. S. School of Music. Her playing won the applause of a crowded court room.

It was testified that these lessons were ABSOLUTELY FREE and that her only expense had been for music, which amounted to only about two cents a day.

Among other truths disclosed was the remarkable fact that thousands, all over the country, had learned to play their favorite instrument—PIANO, ORGAN, VIOLIN, GUITAR, MANDOLIN, BANJO, CORNET, 'CELLO, or SIGHT SINGING—without the aid of a teacher.

They had all received a free course of lessons from the famous U. S. School of Music and included people in every walk of life.

Testimonials are printed in the explanatory booklet from clergymen, doctors, bankers and business men stating that either they or their children had found the lessons so simple that they learned without effort.

No one should say they cannot learn music until they have read all the particulars about the FREE TUITION OFFER of the U. S. SCHOOL OF MUSIC. All you have to do is to write and say what instrument you would like to play.

Orientals

The Largest Specialty Rug House in America.

Fitting a Rug to a Room

It's a long sweep from the sands of the desert to a hardwood floor.

Which is to say, the architect of an Oriental rug was not the architect of your house.

His idea of a home may have been a tent on the plain, or merely his rug spread under the stars.

What a New York drawing room in 1911 would look like—what colors in decorations would be fashionable—what furniture would be in style—were beyond the horizon of his colorful imagination.

He walked upon the rug with his sandals removed. He thought neither of Old English dining room furniture nor of French hangings and fixtures.

Whether Daghestan, Turkish or Persian weave would be best for foyer hall he knew not, nor did he care.

Many Americans with splendid taste and with refined homes have only a limited knowledge of the rug productions of the East.

Sometimes they are at the mercy of a VERY LIMITED SELECTION, even when great piles of rugs are on the salesroom floor.

There is a great difference between rugs bought in quantity and rugs ALL SELECTED FOR PARTICULAR PURPOSES.

The exhaustive study of the American room with its multiplicity of requirements, and of the Oriental rug with its innumerable possibilities, has made a distinctive character for Wild's Orientals.

You will find a Wild's Oriental, at an appropriate price, to exactly harmonize with your room.

We have long made a specialty of sending a trained expert to survey your rooms—to assist you in determining the character of rug, the sizes and the precise color tones, to make a harmonious whole.

There is no charge for this—no obligation to buy. We count ourselves amply repaid by the cases where sales ARE made, in thus being able to better suit our customers. This service would be useless if we did not have access to EVERYTHING GOOD that the Oriental rug markets of the world afford.

The Wild collection is acknowledged by rug buyers everywhere to be the largest and best ever assembled in America.

SECOND STRIKE VOTE ON ILLINOIS CENTRAL

Decided On Following Machinists' Complaint of Leaders' Delay in Declaring Walkout.

MACHINISTS LACK FUNDS

Nevertheless They Will Stand by the Vote of Other Crafts if a Strike is Called.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—Shop employes of the Illinois Central will take another strike vote. Notices to that effect were sent out to-night under orders of the international union officers of the nine shop crafts which had demanded recognition of the federation. It will be at least two weeks before the returns on the vote can be canvassed. This procedure was decided upon by the international officers of the nine crafts after two conferences had been held to-day.

P. J. Conlon, Vice President of the machinists, hurried to Chicago to attend the conference, after he had received word from the men on the Illinois Central that they were highly displeased with his delay in deciding whether or not the machinists should sanction a strike.

The reason for taking another strike vote is that Conlon and the other officials of the Machinists' Association decline to give their sanction to a strike call because there are no funds in the treasury of the organization to pay strike benefits.

According to President J. F. McCreary of the Federation, the machinists on the Illinois Central will stand by the other crafts in spite of the lack of funds.

The situation on the Illinois Central is one of the most delicate that labor leaders in Chicago have ever encountered. James O'Connell, the recently defeated President of the machinists, and Conlon are accused by the employes of having Socialistic tendencies and of not having represented the interests of the men in the shops. Thirty formal protests against the methods used by O'Connell and Conlon in dealing with the situation were filed by locals along the Illinois Central.

The protests in some instances were so bitter tht O'Connell and Conlon found it necessary to take action at once. Conlon went to Chicago and another meeting of the international officers was called. At its close to-day the labor leaders announced that they had drawn up a formal letter to be sent at once to the men along the line explaining Conlon's attitude in delaying the calling of a strike, and referring the whole subject back again to the men themselves for a final vote.

If the employes decide that they are willing to take chances with the machinists in spite of the lack of a benefit fund, the international officers will issue a sanction for a strike call.

As the machinists are the biggest craft at work on the Illinois Central, the vote is bound to represent their attitude. They are so much stronger in numbers that a strike vote without their support would be lost.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 12.—A sudden, but unexplained, change to-day in the plans of J. W. Kline, International President of the Blacksmiths and Helpers' Union, who arrived yesterday from San Francisco with the intention of going East by way of Salt Lake City, calls for his return to San Francisco to-night, according to his own statement.

He declared that there was no change in the situation resulting from the refusal of Julius Kruttschnitt, Director of Maintenance of Way on the Harriman system, to recognize the Federation of Shop Crafts. Mr. Kline said that if a strike was called, it would not be before he and other international officers held a meeting in Kansas City.

LIVINGSTON, Mon., Sept. 12.—For the purpose of forming a trades federation similar to that on the Harriman railway lines, delegates representing shopmen employed by the Northern Pacific Railway are here from Tacoma, Seattle, and Spokane, Wash. Others are from Helena and Billings Mon., from Duluth, Brainard, Staples, and St. Paul, Minn., and other points. The sessions probably will end Thursday night.

REJECTS TRACKMEN'S DEMAND.

Lackawanna Refuses to Have Foreman's Reinstatement Arbitrated.

SCRANTON, Penn., Sept. 12.—President W. H. Truesdale of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad, rejected the proposal of the trackmen that reinstating the foreman, M. J. Foley, be arbitrated by the New York Labor Commissioners or a board to be selected by the company and trackmen.

"The management of this company," Mr. Truesdale writes, "cannot, in justice to its best interests, submit to any outside parties or board questions involving its right to discipline its employes for such willful disregard of orders, nor the policy it shall adopt and pursue in dealing with questions of this kind."

P. J. Downey, Deputy Commissioner of Labor of New York, and A. B. Lowe, National President of the Trackmen's Union, went to New York to-day to confer with Seth Low, Chairman of the National Civic Federation, with a view of interesting the Civic Federation in getting the dispute adjusted.

Mr. Truesdale had been given until 3 o'clock to-morrow afternoon to agree to arbitration or "take the consequences," which the trackmen say means a strike on the entire system from Buffalo to New York, and on the Syracuse and Utica Divisions.

SAVED FROM ALASKA WRECK.

Fishermen Rescue Thirty Passengers on Sinking Steamship Ramona.

Special to The New York Times.

SEATTLE, Sept. 12.—A brief wireless message received here to-day tells of the loss of the steamer Ramona, which struck the rocks near Cape Decision in Frederick Sound, about 200 miles this side of Ketchikan, Alaska, late Sunday, in a dense fog, and was slowly pounded to pieces.

Wireless messages sent out for hours by the Ramona were finally picked up, and the crack liner of the Alaska Steamship Company, the Northwestern, Capt. J. C. Hunter, took aboard the passengers and crew. The Ramona is a total loss.

The Ramona had a long list of first-class passengers, including many Eastern tourists. She was proceeding to Seattle via the dangerous inside passage. The Pacific Coast Company officials, owners of the Ramona, are unable to tell who was on board, and will not know until the ship's records are received here.

The Northwestern had passed the scene of the wreck, which is quite out of the beaten path. Local marine men marvel at Capt. Hunter's feat of turning the big Northwestern around in the dangerous inside passage and picking his way back to the wreck.

This is the third steamer the Pacific Coast Company has lost this season.

The passengers of the Ramona, who barely escaped with their lives, so speedily did the ship sink, saved nothing but the clothing they wore. Thirty of the passengers and crew were picked up by the fishing steamer Grant. The remainder landed on Spanish Island, which is timbered but uninhabited, and remained there a day and a night. The freight steamer Delhi came along, and the shipwrecked voyagers rowed out to the Delhi and were taken aboard. Subsequently the Northwestern took the passengers from the Grant and the Delhi, and all are on their way to Seattle.

The Ramona left Skagway Sept. 8, and was calling at the various canneries to take passengers and freight. She carried a crew of twenty-four. The vessel was valued at $200,000.

NO GUN LICENSE NEEDED.

Dangerous Weapon Law Doesn't Apply, Says Conservation Counsel.

ALBANY, Sept. 12.—It is not necessary under the Sullivan dangerous weapon law to obtain a license in order to possess rifles and shotguns, in the opinion of George V. S. Williams, counsel to the State Conservation Commission.

The opinion states that the law does not affect "the carrying or having in possession by a citizen over the age of 16, of shotguns or rifles of such size that they are incapable of being concealed upon the person, unless the weapons are carried or possessed with intent to use the same unlawfully against another."

The Attorney General's office has been flooded with requests for opinions on various phases of the law.

HURT IN BARGAIN RUSH.

Women Pushed Through Windows in Fight to Get in a Store.

In their desire to obtain bargains yesterday in a newly opened dry goods store in Grand Street, near Driggs Avenue, Brooklyn, a dozen women were pushed through a large show window and many were hurt. There were more than a thousand outside the store, and when the doors were opened the women fought to get in.

Word reached the Bedford Avenue Police Station that several had been mortally hurt and the reserves had to fight their way through the crowd. The women most seriously hurt were Mrs. Mary Cozzins of 244 South Third Street and Julia Klockman of 250 Havemeyer Street. Both were cut and bruised and internally hurt. They were removed to the Eastern District Hospital.

NAMES FOUR LAWYERS IN A DIVORCE PLOT

Mrs. Nugent, Whom a Bookmaker Is Suing for Freedom, Tells of Supplying Evidence.

FORCED TO DO IT, SHE SAYS

When Destitute $25 a Week Was Offered to Her to Do as She Was Told—Papers Withdrawn from Court.

Papers containing allegations by Mrs. Sophia Nugent, wife of Charles Nugent, once a well-known bookmaker, connecting four lawyers with an alleged conspiracy to obtain a divorce for Mr. Nugent, were withdrawn from the County Clerk's office yesterday by Mrs. Nugent's lawyer, Lyman M. Warren, with the consent of Supreme Court Justice Gavegan. With the withdrawal of these papers there remains no official record of the charges which Mrs. Nugent made and in which were freely mentioned the names of the attorneys she accused.

Examination of the papers prior to their withdrawal showed that Mrs. Nugent had incorporated her charges in an application for $75 a week alimony and counsel fees of $1,000 through the trial of her husband's suit. Mrs. Nugent is charged with wrongdoing at the St. Paul Hotel on June 15 last, the Belmont Hotel on June 17, the Hotel Werner on Aug 3, and various other places.

In denying the charges, she declared that when her husband left her on July 15, 1910, she was evicted from the Hotel Ansonia and her possessions there were sold to satisfy a board bill of $850. Soon after this she was informed by Clarence Boyd, a cousin of her husband, that Lawyer A. H. Gleason had $300 for her, her effects having brought $1,150 at the sale. She went to Gleason, she said, and was referred by him to another lawyer.

This lawyer, said Mrs. Nugent, told her that $1,500 had ben left with him, and that he would pay her $25 a week while the money lasted, provided she would follow his instructions. Then he told her that it would be necessary for her to provide evidence on which Nugent might get a divorce, and suggested that he send a detective to her.

Mrs. Nugent, in her application, declared that she had refused to take part in any such proceeding, but finally, being destitute, had been driven to it.

She telephoned to the lawyer, she said, that she must have money. His reply was to send a detective to her house. According to Mrs. Nugent this man declared:

"This is dirty business, but it's got to be done."

Then, according to Mrs. Nugent, he told her that it would be necessary for her to accompany him, and she did so, going to the St. Paul Hotel, where the detective hired a room. They were sitting there, said Mrs. Nugent, when two men broke into the room, looked about them, and hurried out. Then the detective gave her an envelope containing $25 and left her.

Mrs. Nugent believed that she had earned her $25 a week then, but a few days later she said she received a second visit from the detective, who said that the evidence had not proved satisfactory and that if she wanted the $25 she would have to accompany him to the Hotel Belmont in West Forty-fourth Street. This she did, said Mrs. Nugent, removing her waist at his instruction and then leaving him and going into another room. Presently the same two men burst in, looked about and hurried out again, and once more she received $25.

Again, however, the detective appeared and insisted that once more she must accompany him before his principals would be satisfied. This time, she said, the detective ordered drinks served in a room at the Belmont, though she did not drink anything. Once more the men burst in and out, and the detective then left her.

Once more she was annoyed by the detective, she said, who told her that the evidence was sufficient but there must be something to prove that she really was Mrs. Nugent, and so he forced her to accompany him to the Hotel Werner, where the two men, accompanied this time by a tailor who had done work for her and knew her, broke in. The tailor identified her as Mrs. Nugent and then he and the men left. The detective went too, and Mrs. Nugent went home.

Since then, said Mrs. Nugent, she had received the $25 a week regularly from the lawyer until a short time ago when he told her that he was no longer connected with the case and referred her to another attorney.

The latter told her, she said, that there were some papers which it was necessary for her to sign, and directed her to the attorney she had seen first, who in turn sent her to another lawyer in Wall Street. The latter, after asking her if she had been served with papers in a divorce suit, asked her how much she wanted to let Nugent get a divorce. Mrs. Nugent declared that it was for him to make a proposal.

Nothing further was contained in the papers concerning the conspiracy which Mrs. Nugent charged had existed.

She said that she and Nugent were married on Feb. 1, 1899, and had lived happily together until July 15, 1910, when he left her suddenly and ceased contributing to her support. His income, she said, was large, permitting him to spend some $15,000 a year, and in their life together he had given her fine clothes and jewels, automobiles, and had allowed her $500 a month pin money.

Efforts last night to reach the four lawyers named in the papers were unavailing.

VOTE TO OPEN HEADQUARTERS

Jersey Democratic Committee Acts Despite Attorney's Warning.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 12.—At the meeting of the Democratic State Committee in the Hotel Sterling here to-day Chairman Edward E. Grosscup advised the members that Assistant Attorney General Nelson B. Gaskill had informed him the committee has no legal right to take part in the party's State convention. The Chairman expressed the opinion that the committee should refrain even from making preparations for the meeting, but Gen. Dennis F. Collins said he thought a place for the convention should be selected at least. His motion to this effect was adopted, Mr. Grosscup being authorized to appoint a committee for the purpose.

Action was also taken for the opening of State headquarters here, Chairman Grosscup being empowered to obtain suitable rooms. An assessment of $50 was levied upon each member to defray expenses.

Ex-Chairman James R. Nugent, Charles H. Gallagher, and Frank S. Katzenbach were not at the meeting. August Vandeventer represented William L. Saunders, the new Somerset member, while Assemblyman Eugene Burke carried the proxy of ex-Judge Cutler of Morris. James R. Carrow attended for his father, Judge Howard Carrow. Senator George C. Low's proxy was held by Secretary William C. Devereux.

The Chairman announced that Gov. Wilson had given assurance that he would go into every county in the State in an effort to have Democratic members of the Legislature elected.

These committees were appointed by the Chairman:

Finance—Daniel Fellows Platt, William M Sanders, David S. Crater.

Hall—Frank S. Katzenbach, Jr. and Charles H. Gallagher.

Campaign—Robert S. Hudspeth, Gen. Dennis F. Collins, David S. Crater, Thomas Flynn, and Chairman Grosscup.

IN NEW JERSEY.

JERSEY CITY.—The first registration under the new Goran act in New Jersey was made yesterday between 1 and 9 P. M. The new law requires much fuller particulars about the voter than the old law. The registration in Jersey City, Bayonne, and Hoboken, where the campaign is enlivened by factional fights, was lively. The primaries will be held Sept. 26.

NEWARK.—Edward Knox, a seventy-year-old veteran of the civil war, who was formerly an inmate of the Soldiers' Home at Goga, Me., asserted in the First Precinct Court yesterday that he had been beguiled out of about $800 by Mrs. Stella Saundree of 197½ Plane Street; and that she was making further demands upon him of $10 a month out of his pension of $45 a month. Mrs. Saundree admitted having gotten $600 and other small sums from the old soldier, but denied that she had made any demand for $10 a month. She was dismissed with a warning not to bother Knox any more.

MONTCLAIR.—The thirty local policemen are to learn to shoot and march under the tutelage of officers of the National Guard of New Jersey. Commencing next week they will be drilled in the armory of Company K, Fifth Regiment.

SOUTH ORANGE.—The ban upon athletic sports has been lifted from Seton Hall College. It is four years since the students were allowed to have a 'Varsity baseball team, and longer since they chased the pigskin. For the first time in the history of the college a seminarian was yesterday elected Vice President. He is John J. Clark of Hinsdale, Mass., a graduate of 1909, and now in the Seminary of the Immaculate Conception. He succeeds Father Baird, who is curate at St. James's Church, Newark. A brother of the new Vice President is the Rev. Father Clark of St. Joseph's parish, Newark.

TRENTON.—A hearing was held yesterday by the Public Utility Commissioners on the request of the City of Asbury Park that railroad companies be ordered to stop Sunday trains at the main station there. The railroad officials say they are prevented from so doing by an agreement with the Ocean Grove Camp Meeting Association.

STRIKERS SPILL MILK IN BOSTON STREETS

Twenty Men Attack Wagon, Smash Bottles, and Cut Traces Before Police Arrive.

SUPPLY SHORT FOR HOMES

Union Drivers Urge Former Customers to Refuse to Receive Milk from Strikebreakers.

BOSTON, Sept. 12.—Striking milk wagon drivers remained firm to-day in their demand for increased pay and a better arrangement for helpers and new men, with the result that many milk consumers, hotels, restaurants, and steamship companies here did not receive their usual supply of milk until after the business of the morning had started. Many families were without milk because the delivery was suspended in some sections, as there were not enough men to take the places of the striking drivers.

After a midnight meeting of the striking union drivers efforts were to-day made to persuade the strikebreakers to leave their wagons. It was also announced that a delegation from the strikers planned to meet the officials of the companies affected. The officers of the companies refuse to recognize the union in the manner demanded, and say that the terms of the proposed agreement are one-sided.

Twenty men attacked a milk wagon of the Elm Farm Milk Company in Roxbury. They pulled out a number of cases containing filled milk bottles, smashed the bottles, cut the traces of the team, and departed as the police appeared on the scene.

The strikers to-day began a campaign which they maintain will end the strike in their favor within a few days. The men who are out personally visited their old customers and asked them to refuse to accept milk from non-union drivers, with the request to tell the strikebreakers to take the milk back to their employers. The strikers claim to have met with general success in this move.

The three companies affected by the strike say that milk is being delivered to all their customers.

OLD PUPILS HONOR RETIRING TEACHER

Give a Dinner to Charles F. Hartman, Who Was in the Service Fifty-four Years.

CHANGES HE HAS WITNESSED

Vast Growth in the School System and a Wide Difference in the Pay and Staff.

The boys who went to school fifty-four years ago didn't use chewing gum, or if they did have something of the kind when the teacher said sternly "take that stuff out of your mouth," they didn't tell him that the doctor said it was necessary for their constitutions.

Charles F. Hartman, who has taught in the public schools of New York for that number of years told a NEW YORK TIMES reporter yesterday afternoon this and pointed out some other differences. For the last nine years he has been Principal of Public School 106, at Rivington and Suffolk Streets. He concluded his fifty-four years of service in looking after the youth of New York at the close of the Spring term, and last night his friends among the teachers, many of his old-time pupils and other friends, 300 all told, gave him a dinner at the Café Boulevard.

Congressman Goldfogle presented a silver loving cup to Mr. Hartman as a gift from those who had studied under him.

Twelve members of the class which was graduated in 1871 from School 34, at Broome and Willard Streets, responded to their names, read by Mr. Hartman from an old roll call still in his possession. One of them, Frank Rayner, came from Chicago to be present and respond to his name.

It was in the afternoon at his home at Waldorf Court, Flatbush, that he did a little thinking backward for THE TIMES.

The Rivington Street school is one of the model buildings, a boys' school, seating 2,500 of them, and including two kindergartens. It was in 1857 that Mr. Hartman began his work as a school teacher in Public School 14, in Twenty-seventh Street, between Second and Third Avenues, a year later going to the school in Forty-seventh Street, between Eighth and Ninth Avenues, having been a pupil in each of the schools previous to his teaching.

"There were no model school buildings in those days," he said. Both those schools were three-story brick buildings heated by long stoves in each room in which were burned big logs of hickory, oak, and pine. The logs were sawed in the school yard and the monitors of the school helped to carry them up. I used to do that myself as a pupil for my sister, who was one of the teachers.

"There was only the janitor to take care of the building, and it was to help him that the best boys were allowed to carry up the logs, and of course they liked it—anything to keep from studying.

"It was not an open country around the school, but it was not densely populated as it is now. There were no tall buildings holding many families, but two-story buildings holding two families, perhaps. There was not much difference between the boys of that day and those of to-day. The nationalities have changed a little. Those boys were Americans and Germans, and Irish-Americans. The Jewish element had not begun to come in and there were no Italians.

"Games for the children were about the same as they are now. There was no basketball, but they had baseball and football and in Winter they had snowball matches, class against class. Perhaps there was more snow in those days. I used to come to school sometimes in a four-horse public sleigh. The snow lasted longer, for it was left at the sides of the roads, the car companies cleaning only the centre with snowplows.

"There were more Principals than there are now and different grades of pupils in one building. While we had only 300 in one school, that would include boys and girls and a primary department, with a man for the boys' Principal and women as Principals for the girls and the primary department. If we had that proportion of Principals now, at the rate that they are paid it would be necessary to have an appropriation of $70,000,000 a year instead of $30,000,000 for the schools.

"Corporal punishment, which is not allowed now, was used then. But it was only the Principal who punished the pupils, and then with the rattan.

"In School 34, in Broome Street, the Jewish element presently began to come in and the Italian to some extent, but not much. Since then I have been teaching Jewish boys largely. They are ambitious little fellows, naturally pretty good, and keep up well. The Americans don't always keep up as well because they are too much coddled at home. The Jewish boys are apt to think nine times out of ten that the teacher is right, and naturally they learn better.

"There were not many barefooted boys in those earlier days. There are none now. If a teacher saw a boy come to school without shoes she would be pretty apt to put her hand down in her pocket and get him a pair or find some one who could.

"They think slates are germ breeders now, but we always used them. Sometimes one would fall and make a little noise, but the chief trouble was that when we wanted to copy anything to keep for several weeks the slate was not large enough and we had to get paper. The boys didn't chew gum in those days. We didn't let them. They didn't have the penny-in-the-slot machines where they could get such things. They did have licorice and some other things, but if we told them to stop chewing they didn't say they were doing it on the doctor's advice."

Among his former pupils Mr. Hartman numbers doctors, dentists, two ministers, a veterinary surgeon, many lawyers, and some teachers. Congressman Goldfogle was one of his pupils and so was his partner, Charles F. Cohen. The two were inseparable in their school days.

Mr. Hartman has a good record for the fifty-four years during which he was a teacher. In that time he was late to school only twice—two days in the big blizzard of 1888, and he was absent only five days, and that was because of sickness and death in the family.

JEWISH ORDERS UNITE.

Societies with 1,200,000 Members to Work for the Betterment of All.

A permanent organization of Jewish fraternal orders, representing 1,200,000 members in eleven orders, has been effected, under the name of the National Jewish Fraternal Congress, to work for the establishment of uniform insurance rates, somewhat in excess of the present rates, which have been found inadequate, but lower than the rates recently agreed upon in the Mobile bill by Insurance Commissioners of various States and delegates of the National Fraternal Congress.

The orders represented in the new organization are the Independent Order of B'rith Abraham, Order of B'rith Abraham, Independent Order of Free Sons of Judah, Ahavath Israel, B'rith Sholom, Order of King Solomon, Workmen's Circle of New York, Sons of Zion, Order of the Western Star of Chicago, Independent Order of Sons of Joseph, and Sons of Jacob. Four other orders, representing 225,000 members, are to join the congress. They are the Independent Order of Free Sons of Israel, Sons of Benjamin, Knights of Joseph, and Progressive Order of the West.

The officers of the new organization are: President—Leon Sanders, who is Grand Master of the Independent Order of B'rith Abraham; Vice President—Sam Dorf, Grand Master of the Order of B'rith Abraham; Secretary—Sigmund Fodor, Secretary of the Free Sons of Judah; Treasurer—Dr. S. R. Schultz of the Order of B'rith Sholom.

Besides the main object of agreeing upon uniform insurance rates, the new organization will concern itself with the suppression of professional organizers who in the past have preyed on Jewish fraternal orders by swelling, for a consideration, the membership of one order with members lured away from others. Many of these "organizers," it is said, have accepted large fees for such services.

The new organization will take an active part also in Jewish interests in general and in the familiarizing of immigrants with American conditions and institutions, with a view to making American citizens of them. Sub-committees have been appointed to report plans for the branches of the work to the orders at their individual conventions.

SUFFRAGIST BABIES ON VIEW.

Prizes for the Prettiest and Brightest at the Pure Food Show.

The Woman Suffrage Party has completed arrangements for a baby show and a pure food booth at the Pure Food Show to be held in Madison Square Garden Sept. 23 to Oct. 4. As a means of striking at the arguments of the antis that the suffragists do not give to the commonwealth the due number of babies, and do not care as much as they should for the food and housing of the grown members of society, the suffragists expect to make a brave showing of their babies and of their interest in pure food and good housekeeping.

The district leaders met yesterday in the Metropolitan Building and laid the plans, and after they had decided to support a large booth and give prizes for the prettiest and the brightest babies a question of making money for the cause was brought up, and it was moved and seconded that votes for the most popular baby be sold for 10 cents each. This was objected to by one of the members.

"Suffragists do not believe in selling votes or in buying votes," said this member. "How could we offer to sell votes and escape just censure?"

This came as a shock to the others, and the ethical point had to be argued at length before the member would admit that it was any less evil to sell a vote for a baby than for a Congressman. The vote-selling plan prevailed, however.

As the party has 40,000 members they expect a great number of babies and a large sale of votes. The proceeds will go toward a $100,000 fund that the meeting voted to raise for political work.

The booth to be presided over by the suffragists will vary its goods from night to night. One night they will offer only candy and the next only flowers, and on a third they will offer 157 varieties of foods. The daughters of the suffragists will sell the articles, and there will be speeches on subjects related to pure food and better housing. Mrs. Martha Wentworth Suffern, Mrs. Raymond Brown, and Myles M. Dawson will speak on the relation of woman suffrage to these questions.

SIGN NEW SUBWAY CONTRACT

Chicago Firm Gives Personal Bond for Section 12 in Lexington Avenue.

The Oscar Daniells Company of Chicago signed yesterday the contract for the construction of Section 12 of the Lexington Avenue Subway, between 105th and 117th Streets, with stations at 110th and 116th Streets. The contract price is $2,825,740.74, and work must be begun within sixty days. Bonds for $400,000 were signed by the company, Luther P. Friestedt, Oscar Daniells, and Albert C. Dennis.

In accepting personal bonds the Public Service Commission adopted a rather unusual course, though the Bradley Contracting Company was allowed a short while ago to withdraw its $250,000 cash deposit in connection with its contracts and to replace it with personal bonds.

The signing of the Oscar Daniells Company contract leaves only Sections 5, 7, and 9 of the Lexington Avenue line still to be awarded. The contract for Section 5, from Fourteenth to Twenty-seventh Street, was awarded to the Metropolitan Construction Company, but was held up by the Board of Estimate. The contracts for Section 7, from the Grand Central Station to Fifty-second Street, and for Section 9, from Sixty-seventh to Seventy-eight Street, will have to be readvertised.

HE'LL SUE BILLIE BURKE.

Rothenberg Says the Actress' Auto Seriously Injured His Son.

Samuel Rothenberg of 86 Cannon Street wants to sue Billie Burke, the actress, for $25,000 damages because his son, Barnett, 11 years old, was injured by her automobile last month. Justice Gavegan granted Rothenberg's request yesterday that he be appointed special guardian of his son to bring the suit.

The father says that the automobile, which was driven by Charles W. Flagg, hit his son in Broadway at Twenty-sixth Street on Aug. 19, and that he was injured so badly that he has ever since been confined to his bed.

SHORT SUGAR CROP CAUSE OF BIG RISE

But New York Market Did Not Respond Further Yesterday to Speculative Advance Abroad.

TRUST'S PRICES THE LOWEST

While Raw Stocks in This Country and Cuba Show Heavy Loss Those in Europe Have Increased.

Alhought there were no further advances in the price of sugar, either raw or refined, in New York yesterday, brokers were interested in the cables from Paris telling of a rise in prices there to the highest recorded since 1893. In New York raw sugar is selling at 5.75 cents per pound and granulated at 6.75 cents, the American Sugar Refining Company's price, and 7 cents per pound, the price made by all the other refineries at present in the market. These levels have not been touched before for twenty-two years, or since the Summer of 1889, when raw sugar went to 8.06 cents per pound, and granulated to 9.06 cents for net cash.

The short Cuban crop last season, which was about 300,000 tons below normal, coupled with the practical failure of the European sugar beet crop, is at the bottom of the rise in sugar prices, which has amounted to about 2 cents a pound in two months, but brokers suspect that speculation has also had a large share in forcing the rapid rise. Ordinarily Europe's sugar beet crop suffices for home demands and supplies a surplus for the English market. This year the shortage has put the price up abroad, and, although we are taking no beet sugar from Europe, has allowed the Far Eastern cane producers to fix prices at a point just under that at which it would be profitable to import European beet sugar.

Sugar is a speculative commodity abroad, and sugar certificates are traded in much as cotton and coffee contracts are in this country. Much of the advance in foreign prices is attributed to widespread speculation for the advance, which began abroad early in the Summer as soon as the droughts made it evident that there would be a shortage in the beet crop.

There is normally a difference of from sixty-five-hundredths to seventy-five-hundredths of a cent only per pound between the prices of raw sugar and granulated, this difference representing the cost of refining and the profits of the sugar-makers. There is a wastage of about seven pounds in the hundred which, with the higher cost of raw sugar, eats correspondingly into the profits of the refiners. This, coupled with a probable decline in consumption, as the retail price advances, is looked upon in the trade as certain to make the season a lean one so far as the refiners' profits are concerned.

The present shortage is illustrated by the fact that stocks in the United States and Cuba are now only 170,741 tons of raw sugar against 190,845 tons in the previous week and 365,649 tons in the corresponding week last year. In Europe, however, stock are larger than in 1910, now amounting to 1,081,000 tons, against 932,000 tons last year. One of the features of the present situation is that, ever since the rise began early in the Summer, the American Sugar Refining Company, which under the old Havemeyer management had the name of keeping up the price of sugar to the highest point that the trade would bear, has made the lowest prices in the market. With the American Sugar Refining Company's price at 6.75 cents per pound, the Federal and Arbuckle prices yesterday were 7 cents. Granulated sugar sold between 4 and 5 cents per pound from the first of the year up to June. The average price for June was 4.894 cents per pound, and in July it had jumped to 5.125 cents per pound. The rise has been steady since.

BETRAYED BY TATTOO MARKS

Alleged Forger, Caught by Police in England, to be Brought Here.

Detective Flood of the District Attorney's staff will sail for London on the Mauretania to get Henry Pahanny, alias Herman Anthony, who is being held by the London police for extradition to this city on an indictment charging him with forgery.

It was learned that Pahanny formerly lived in Denora, Penn., and that while there he managed to get hold of two drafts on a bank in that place. According to Flood he has confessed that he filled out one for $1,800 in the name of the cashier of the bank, H. C. Craven, and made it payable to himself. He had an apartment at 539 East Seventy-eighth Street in this city and there made the acquaintance of a man named Unger, who has a furniture store. According to the indictment Unger identified Pahanny at the Bank of Europe at First Avenue and Seventy-fourth Street and got the draft cashed.

The fugitive sailed on the Olympic on Aug. 19. He was identified by tattoo marks on his arms after he had managed to elude the Scotland Yard authorities by going to Plymouth as a stoker. There the police caught him.

Flood is armed with a Federal warrant. He says that his man is married and that his wife is in England attempting to get her husband liberated.

BERGER'S AMPHIBIOUS STEED

When Swimming Days in Rockaway Were Over He Swam Out to Sea.

Isaac Berger, who sells smoked fish at 187 Orchard Street, bought a Montana mustang a year ago, at a price which, in conjunction with the color and other qualities of the animal, presently won for the horse the name of Chestnut. Chestnut drudged uncomplainingly all Winter at his daily task of purveying smoked fish from Berger's stall to east side hotels and homes. Then, when Summer came, Chestnut, together with the other members of the Berger family, went splendidly to the seashore and sniffed the cool and restful breezes of the ocean, when he faced it, and of smoked fish when he faced the other way. For Berger mingles pleasure with business, and opened a Summer trade in smoked fish at 326 Boulevard, Rockaway Beach.

The brightest hour in Chestnut's life at the seashore, and the proudest in Berger's was at 4 o'clock each afternoon, when, leaving smoked fish and business cares on shore behind them, both swam out into the surf. Berger was the only one of all the bathers who had the proud distinction of bresting the waves with a dashing steed. Often it was all he could do to keep up with said steed.

"Max," said Berger to his son yesterday morning. "We go back, I think, to New York. Hitch up Chestnut and take him over."

Max shook his head:

"The horse will sure be sorry he is going away," he said.

A few minutes later, the son came running back in great excitement:

"The horse was stolen!" he cried. "He is away from the stable!"

Sure enough, Chestnut had vanished.

Father and son ran clamorous toward the police station to announce the theft and to start a quest for Chestnut. On the way, however, several small boys stopped them and pointed out toward the sunlit sea.

There about fifty yards out, they saw Chestnut, swimming chest-high toward Europe, literally leaping over the waves in his joy.

It took half an hour for the two Bergers and a dozen other seasiders to catch up with the amphibious horse, and finally to get a hold on his bridle. Even then it required some tugging and much coaxing of "Chestnutleben" to bring the sea-steed back from the realm of life to that of smoked fish.

Later in the day, when the humdrum buzz of the east side was again around Chestnut, and the rattle of the fish-laden cart on east side streets behind him, he heard the sound of leaping waters, in passing the fountain at Seward Park. In a moment the amphibious horse was once again on the rampage, and the fish-laden cart was all but capsized against the railing of the park.

"I think I must take him back to the seashore for a last swim before the season closes," concluded Berger, as he jumped out of the cart and led his Chestnut back to the street.

ROBBED BEFORE HIS EYES.

A. L. Loewe Sat Unsuspecting in Front of His House While Burglar Worked.

A. L. Loewe, a wealthy resident of Bensonhurst, Brooklyn, was robbed of about $800 worth of jewelry, bric-à-brac, and silverware, at his home, 2,168 Eighty-second Street, Monday night. To add to his resentment, Mr. Loewe believes that the robber actually worked almost before his very eyes, as the theft was committed while he was sitting on the porch of a neighbor, directly across the street from his own home.

The robber, if that was the case, worked without fear of detection, as he was able to pick out the plunder he wanted, while having the owner of the house all the while under surveillance. The only feature of the latter's presence that was distasteful to him was the fact that he had to work in the dark, as a light would have invited capture. There was much plunder in the house that the robber overlooked.

Mr. Loewe and his family had been to their Summer home all the season, locking up the one at Bensonhurst, but on Monday night Mr. Loewe decided to visit the latter and see that everything was in order.

The robber entered the Loewe house by a rear window and escaped by the same way. Mr. Loewe returned to the house some time later and went to bed, little suspecting what had taken place. It was not until he awoke yesterday morning that he learned of it.

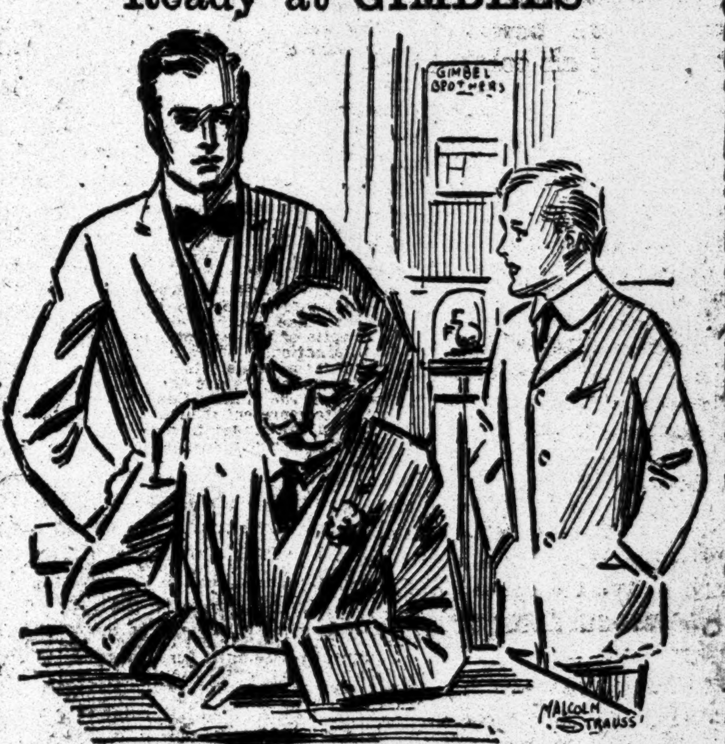
The New Fall CLOTHING for MEN Ready at GIMBELS



Fashion's unwritten law, rigidly enforced, marks September Fifteenth as the Day when Summer apparel becomes obsolete.

Perhaps it is the prompt observance of this dictum of good form that has much to do with making New York City famous the world over for its well-dressed men.

In good time the Gimbel Clothing stocks are amply ready with Autumn Suits and Overcoats of distinction and correct fashion. They come from several of the world's greatest wholesale tailors. Fabrics are choicest selections from foreign and American mills. Styles are irreproachably correct. And Gimbel Clothing is already famous for its perfect fit, with fewest alterations.

Men of discrimination are especially invited to examine the new Suits and Overcoats today.

THE NERVES OF WAR.

In the same issue of THE TIMES—that of Monday—appeared two articles bearing on the defensive resources of France, should she, by any sad necessity, be involved in an armed conflict with Germany. One was a letter to The Army and Navy Journal from an evidently expert and well-informed correspondent, describing the three series of strongholds by which the French hope to offset the acknowledged superiority of the German armies in numbers and in preparedness for rapid movement. The first series is close to the frontier and consists of four groups of fortifications, forty-three in all, stretching along the frontier, from Verdun to Belfort. The second series consists also of four groups, with fifty-two fortifications, from Laon to Besançon. The third surrounds Paris with twenty-seven forts, making a ring of some seventy-two miles in extent, and an average diameter of twenty-four miles. Behind these successive barriers, armed with modern guns, surrounded by modern obstacles to approach, manned by trained soldiers and commanded by competent officers, the Government of France feels its position to be practically impregnable. If the policy of that Government remains, as it is likely to be, defensive, or only defensively aggressive, the feeling is not unwarranted. The cost of a German victory in the direct expenditure of life and treasure would be inevitably so great as to make war, literally, the last resort.

But in the second article to which we have referred there was disclosed another preventive of war between Germany and France of quite a different nature, which may well prove even more efficacious than the consideration of the cost and risk of reducing fortified places. It is the commercial and financial intercourse of the two countries. It so happens, in the curious evolution of human qualities, that the French have acquired an extraordinary efficiency in saving money and the Germans an extraordinary efficiency in the use of money in industry and commerce. Within the last twoscore years, while each nation has felt itself compelled to devote an enormous amount of capital and a still greater amount of the energies of its population to preparation for war, German enterprise has been fed by French loans, and German captains of industry, vigorously pushing into every quarter of the globe, and making ever-growing profits, have become, directly and indirectly, the debtors of France. This is particularly true of the vast interests in the Rhine province and those which have their home centres in the great seaports, from which foreign trade had advanced steadily toward wider and richer activity.

When the German Government, in the pursuit of a policy doubtless deemed advantageous, and even needful, made its sudden demonstration on the Atlantic coast of Morocco, and set the war dogs in the German press to barking or growling, the disturbance was felt not only in the moneyed centres of France, but in those of Germany as well, and, shortly, in the mills and factories and shipping offices from Hamburg to Frankfort besides. The reasoning of French financiers was simple and conclusive. War became a possibility. Among a noisy and not inconsiderable class of German papers it was openly discussed as probable and even desirable. The excitement promptly and necessarily extended to England, the centre of even greater traffic in credit than Paris. War is a contingency for the approach of which, however remote the signs, financiers must prepare, and the first, essential, imperative step in such preparation is the calling of loans, the restriction of credit, the strengthening of reserves. That step the financiers of France felt forced to take. In their own interest they observed all possible caution, but the net effect was unavoidable. It checked the flow of the life-blood of trade and enterprise; it lessened the energy dependent on that current, and it compelled thousands of able and intelligent men to face the possibilities of the future and reckon their consequences. It is reported that the French Government used pressure upon the financiers in the matter. It is possible, but such pressure was not needed. The facts of the situation were decisive. The bearing of this perfectly normal experience upon the peace of Europe and of the world is obvious, and its significance is encouraging. It is reflected in the firmness displayed by France throughout the negotiations, and especially in her rejection, reported yesterday, of the latest demands of Germany, which she regards as extreme and not founded on any rights in Morocco which Germany can justly call her own.

PROHIBITION PROBABLY WINS.

The returns from remote districts in Maine are now all in, and it seems probable that the hidebound Prohibitionists have defeated the efforts, in which the most enlightened citizens joined, to repeal the Constitutional amendment prohibiting the sale of liquor, and thus prepare the way for a new and effective liquor law. It seemed until last night that the vote for repeal was somewhat larger than the no-license vote. In nearly all the cities large majorities of the voters favored repeal. The failure of the movement, however, is not fairly to be regarded as a triumph of total abstainers over the liquor interests. Distillers and liquor dealers worked vigorously to secure the repeal of the amendment. On the other hand, it is not unlikely that the manufacturers of certain patent "medicines" composed largely of alcohol worked as vigorously to defeat the repeal, in the fear that their sales in temperance communities might be curtailed. But Maine, if the amendment had been repealed, would still have been under a prohibition law, and the movement, supported largely by the most intelligent and respectable people in the State, to secure the substitution of an effective liquor law to supplant prohibition which notoriously has not prohibited would only have been begun.

Prohibition has had a long trial in Maine. The present State law was placed on the statute books in 1857, a previous prohibition law having been repealed. In 1884 the strict prohibitionists, alarmed by the many efforts to induce the Legislature to repeal the law of 1857, contrived to get a prohibition amendment attached to the Constitution. The success of the high license party in Monday's voting would not have indicated that free liquor would prevail in Maine, that drunkenness would increase in the State, or that larger profits would accrue from the sale of intoxicants. The blind tiger has stalked through the cities for half a century, untaxed liquor of vile quality has been sold, and even in small towns the prohibition law has been frequently defied. We do not believe that prohibition necessarily invites drunkenness, but it is certainly true that drinking men in prohibition States drink bad liquor and seem to drink for the sake of quick intoxication. The plan of the intelligent advocates of repeal included local option and high license. The blind tiger would have been driven from the State.

There is still a faint hope for repeal, as the official returns may wipe out the exceedingly small prohibition majority. But it is a very faint hope. The true reformers, however, will not lose courage, and will be sure to keep up the fight for intelligent liquor legislation until Maine is on the same sane basis, in regard to the liquor traffic, as Massachusetts and New Hampshire.

THE HOUSE OF GOVERNORS.

The Governors of the majority of the States now gathered at Spring Lake, N. J., form a deliberative body. They will enact no laws. They will make few or no written agreements. If they make "gentlemen's agreements" in the interest of comity and harmonious legislation little will be known of them until the next sessions of their Legislatures. Then a "model law" of one State may find its place upon the statute books of many, amended, it may be, to fit local conditions.

The enactment each year of one such law by most of the States would justify the existence of the House of Governors. Its origin was in revolt at the paternalism of President ROOSEVELT during the Governors' conference at Washington in May, 1908. Disgusted State Executives then resolved, at an independent committee meeting, to have their own conferences in future. Mr. WILLIAM GEORGE JORDAN, now Secretary of the Governors, had just renewed his proposal of a permanent organization, different, broader, and more far-reaching in purpose than Mr. ROOSEVELT's convocation. Gov. WOODROW WILSON's remarks, in welcoming his official brethren yesterday, did not lack significance:

> The vitality of this conference is manifested by the fact that it has released itself from Federal guidance. We are now an independent body.

The field of the Governors is that of the immense reserved powers of the States. They will work in this field, not in the old spirit of revolt, but in that of hearty co-operation and of leadership. The heads of the States are becoming more powerful. They are seeking added powers and responsibilities. The public approves their ambition.

THE COMING OF THE AFRICANS.

A distinguished correspondent sets forth in a letter printed elsewhere the idea that, following the tide of swarthy immigrants from the Mediterranean littoral, Africa itself may begin to send thousands and millions of blacks to these shores, submerging in its flood the strains of Northern blood that peopled them in the country's early history. He emphasizes the racial differences of the Northern and Southern European peoples, and adverts to the conclusions of the anthropologists that the nations to the south may have an African ancestry. But do these peoples "differ radically from the Anglo-Saxon," and would their coming and intermixture with the blonder elements mean "race murder"?

Undoubtedly, should the unrest of a new civilization stir the nations of blacks in their African home, they will become to some extent migrant nations. The blacks of the West Indies have already invaded the United States and are in this city in great numbers, distinguished by their Spanish accent. The Portuguese negroes of the Cape Verde Islands are coming in—a very sober and industrious people. But the early slave trade brought in enough of this race to complicate our political and industrial problems for centuries to come. If the fresh arrivals of Africans should become formidable exclusion laws would certainly be enacted against them, as they have been enacted against immigrants from the Mongolian nations.

But perhaps the immigrants from the Mediterranean countries are not so markedly different from the inhabitants of the British Isles as our correspondent supposes. The English inherit from the swarthy Britons, who were fundamentally the same as the ancestors of the Southern Europeans. There is to-day a strain of nigrescence throughout Great Britain and Ireland. This substratum is, indeed, observable in every country of the Continent. The long-headed blondes of the northern nations differ physically only in pigmentation from the Southern Iberians. High authorities hold that their ancestry is common. The remingling of their bloods could hardly result in "race murder." Quite possibly, however, sporadic reversions to types that have been obliterated in the course of racial evolution might work unfortunately, but the scientists have not thus far found evidence of them.

The United States is already committed to the most tremendous experiment of racial intermixture in history. In its original colonies not less than eighteen languages were spoken as early as 1644; only one-half of the colonists were of Anglo-Saxon stock. More than one-seventh of the aggregate American population has for half a century been of foreign birth. Two millions in this city were born in Europe. Excluding the negroes, almost one-half of the American people are made up of the foreign born and their children. Yet our laws, customs, and traditions remain essentially and strongly English. Our civilization is not threatened.

THE FLOOD OF MOLASSES.

The flood of molasses in New Orleans is doubtless no joke to the residents of the neighborhood of the collapsed tank. In its way it is as serious as any other collapse of a reservoir. The tank used by the sugar company to store its million gallons of real New Orleans molasses had been used for water, and was believed to be unbreakable. Walls said to be twenty feet thick, buttressed with steel, suddenly gave way, indicating that confidence in the security of the tank had been misplaced, and that somebody is guilty of an error of judgment. If human lives had been sacrificed, as might easily have happened, the flood of molasses would have been a calamity. As it is, it seems a joke to the rest of the country and a prodigious nuisance to New Orleans folks. Damaged streets and buildings, a plague of flies, (which may in time prove a blessing, as some millions of the musca domestica will perish,) a sickening odor, and much undesirable work for a small army of laborers are the only noteworthy results.

The sugar company says that it has lost $150,000 worth of molasses, which when the retail price is about 32 cents a gallon for the best quality, seems a great deal of molasses. The undesirability of having that much afloat and under no restrictions will be comprehended by anybody who knows the havoc that can be caused by a small child with his slice of bread and molasses. On the whole, New Orleans deserves sympathy rather than ridicule. The sugar company, however, deserves rebuke if not something more severe. It has got rid of a worthless tank in a very easy manner. If the walls had withstood the pressure a little longer, and then burst under a heavier strain when many human beings were in its immediate neighborhood, there would have been nothing to laugh at, and the company would have been liable for much heavier damages, if it escaped criminal prosecution.

TESLA'S NEW ENGINE.

Mr. CHARLES WILSON PRICE, editor of The Electrical Review, does not say that NIKOLA TESLA's latest invention of a rotary engine operated by steam or gases will save most of the 30,000,000 horse power wasted annually by manufacturing plants in this country, power that is worth upward of half a billion dollars. He has not said, as Mr. TESLA is reported as saying, that the new engine will give the world a flying machine that, without planes or screw propellers, "excessively swift, and, above all, perfectly safe in the greatest storm," will be small and compact compared with present machines, but capable of being built to carry shiploads of passengers. What Mr. PRICE does say about the engine, however, arrests attention. A small turbine with a rotor two inches thick and hardly ten inches in diameter, without vanes, blades, valves, or sliding contacts, has been exhibited at the Edison station here, and has been found "capable of developing 110 horse power." In fact, several of TESLA's engines have been tested. The Electrical Review publishes his description of them, declaring that his invention "cannot fail to excite interest in engineering circles the world over."

Sir WILLIAM RAMSAY said in his recent address before the British Association that "a good steam engine converts about one-eighth of the potential energy of the fuel into useful work; seven-eighths are lost as unused heat and useless friction." In a good gas engine two-thirds of the fuel energy is wasted. It is quite conceivable that inventions will be made to conserve the enormous energies now wasted. TESLA's turbine, operating without the shocks or vibrations of engines that work with pistons, paddles, vanes, or blades, directs the propelling fluid along rotating disks in free spirals, and by its adhesive and viscous properties the fluid communicates its energy to the disks. By a reverse process the disks may be made to impart motion to fluids, thus acting as a pump which, if what is said about it is true, will effect great changes in mining operations. As a motor its inventor says the machine will presently be seen in automobiles, working by gas or steam, in locomotives and ocean liners, and in factories all over the world.

Mr. TESLA has acquired a reputation for revolutionary inventions that never quite arrived at the point of practical utility. But some of his inventions have proved to be practical and eminently useful. The new engine may be one of them.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Amending a Law by Construction.

Magistrate BUTTS, in refusing to hold for trial on a charge of felony under the Sullivan weapon law an Italian watchman who had used a revolver in scaring away a gang of roughs by whom he had been attacked, discoursed at some length on the merits of the new statute and on the interpretation which it must receive from the courts or else fail to receive the support either of the Constitution or of public sentiment.

Underlying the Magistrate's remarks was evidently the assumption that everybody has a natural right to possess, and on fit occasions to use, firearms for the defense of life or property, and that it was not the intention of the Legislature to deny this right or to make its exercise difficult or unreasonably expensive. He declared that it was not, and could not be made, unlawful, even for an alien, either to own or to carry a pistol or other weapon with recognized legitimate uses if the ownership were for purposes demonstrably lawful or the carrying explicable and justifiable by a special need and a consequent special danger.

In other words, the Magistrate almost explicitly declared that the heavy penalties of the Sullivan law could and should be enforced only against the person who "habitually or otherwise carries a revolver without a license and can give no satisfactory or reasonable explanation for carrying or possessing one."

All that is sensible enough, and it undoubtedly expresses the belief, conscious or unconscious, of thousands and thousands of respectable citizens who have a revolver tucked away somewhere at home, but have not yet been, and are not likely soon to be, moved to go to the trouble of asking anybody's permission to keep the thing—particularly if the permission is going to cost $10 a year. It does seem, however, that the Magistrate's "reasonable construction" of the law is a statement of what the law ought to be, rather than of what it is.

If that law means anything it means that the unlicensed possession by anybody of a pistol is a misdemeanor, and the unlicensed carrying of one a felony, with especial severity for aliens who neglect to get the required permit. To read into it—or out of it—all that Magistrate BUTTS says is necessary to preserve its constitutionality would be judicial legislation of the most obvious kind, and the law is not worth preserving at any such cost. What it needs is amendment in the regular way.

Scholarships Differ from Debts.

In his presential address before the British Association, Sir WILLIAM RAMSAY raised anew the old question whether or not the acceptance of a university scholarship imposes on the beneficiary an obligation, as soon as his circumstances permit, to repay the money thus obtained. As answer to this question the eminent scientist expressed the opinion that not only was the obligation a strong one, but that it should be made a compulsion.

Others have been of the same mind, and Sir WILLIAM presented an impressive, if not a strong, argument in support of his contention when he declared that if all university scholarships were repaid, $30,000,000 would be made available for higher education in England alone, or one-fourth of the sum needed there to make that education satisfactory and complete. There are, however, other aspects of the subject which are at least worthy of consideration.

It might reasonably enough be said, for instance, that the founders of scholarships either have or ought to have the purpose, not of benefiting individuals by giving them an education, and so making life for those individuals easier or pleasanter, but of benefiting society at large by increasing the number of its educated units and thus decreasing the common dangers that arise from ignorance. On that theory, the only obligation created by accepting the scholarship is that of using it as the founder intended. If the assistance extended to the poor student is a loan, unlike other loans only in its easier terms and immaterial security, that fact should be stated explicitly and the debt acknowledged in the ordinary business way.

A scholarship, especially when it has been won in competition, is different from a debt, and does not make the recipient a debtor in any ordinary sense of that term. He will, to be sure, if a person of delicate sensibilities, be more apt than other people to feel it something between a duty and a privilege, when he can afford it, to give some other boy the same assistance which he himself was glad to get. Many winners of scholarships do this—as many, perhaps, as find the doing compatible with the meeting of nearer and more definite obligations—but those who do not, with or without avowed reason, are not fairly to be reproached, even by implication, for having repudiated or left unpaid a debt. No loan was made and no debt incurred.

Imitated Only Too Well.

Everybody who has visited the little cruiser which is such a large part of China's beginning of a navy speaks of the Hai-Chi as a warship admirably kept and ordered, and of her officers and crew as hardly distinguishable except by their features from those on the smartest ships of any nation.

In these praises there is a sub-current of hardly concealed surprise that must be rather trying to the representatives of an ancient, high and amazingly successful civilization—of a people who were wearing silks and reading books before the ancestors of most of us had passed the bow-and-arrow stage of barbarism.

Of course the Chinese can keep a ship clean; of course they can navigate her with the compass they, not we, invented; of course they have easily learned the naval conventions and courtesies which are so much simpler than the ceremonies which govern their lives at home. What really is surprising—and more than a little discouraging, from some points of view—is that this Chinese warship is so dreadfully like every other warship!

There is apparently not one thing characteristic about it—nothing foreign, picturesque, or interesting, except its flag.

THE TIMES'S SIXTY YEARS.

Stands for the Best Traditions of American Journalism, Says Leslie's Weekly.

From Leslie's Weekly.

When on Sept. 18, 1851, Henry J. Raymond established THE NEW YORK TIMES, a notable addition was made to the roll of American journals. Although The Evening Post, The Herald, The Sun, The Tribune, and a few other great newspapers then in existence seemed to many persons to meet the demands in that sphere very acceptably, yet the newcomer quickly made a field for itself. Its editor was one of the most alert and versatile journalists of his or any other day. He had a wide acquaintance with the history and politics of his own country and of the leading nations of Europe, he had been an assistant of Horace Greeley on The New Yorker and The Tribune and was for years an editorial and special writer on The New York Courier and Enquirer, and he had held some political posts.

Raymond's knowledge and newspaper experience told in his new venture, and THE TIMES became a paper which progressive people of all parties and all sections felt compelled to read. A Whig at first, he was one of the founders and leaders of the Republican Party, wrote the "Address to the People" which that party sent out in its first National gathering, that which met in Pittsburgh on Washington's Birthday in 1856, and he stood so close to the great war President of 1861-65 that THE TIMES was called Lincoln's personal organ. His death in 1869, while still under 50 years of age, was a serious loss to American journalism. But neither in Raymond's day nor afterward was THE TIMES ever an organ in the narrow sense. As, successively an advocate of Whig and Republican principles, it showed an independence which often offended the politicians. This was shown conspicuously in the reconstruction contest, which raged shortly after Lincoln's death, during the administration of Andrew Johnson. It took the side of Johnson on State restoration, as against the Congress which had a two-thirds Republican majority in both branches, when Johnson attempted to carry out Lincoln's policy without having any of Lincoln's tact or any of his influence with the Republican Party.

Those traits of individuality and fearlessness have clung to THE TIMES to this day. While much of the credit for the overthrow of Tweed was claimed for Samuel J. Tilden, it was THE NEW YORK TIMES which led off in the exposure of Tweed. Day after day in 1871 it pilloried him and the other big members of the ring, and it organized the victory which resulted in the collapse of that arrogant gang of plunderers, and which placed their head behind prison bars. THE TIMES was prominent among that Republican independent element which went over to Cleveland in 1884, and which gave the Democrats their first triumph for President since Buchanan carried the country in 1856. While supporting Cleveland in each of his three campaigns, it remained with him to the close of his career, and fought that radical element which, under Bryan, got control of the Democratic Party before Cleveland's second term ended. This placed the paper on the Republican side in Bryan's three Presidential campaigns. Under the administration of Adolph S. Ochs, as through that of all of his predecessors, THE TIMES has been a clean, strong, courageous newspaper, which has stood for the best traditions of American journalism.

OLD TORONTONIAN.

If He Likes Toronto So Much, Why Live Here?

To the Editor of The New York Times:

You publish a letter from "An Old Torontonian," in which he admits that he has been with us for twelve years, and, I dare say, has returned to spend the rest of his life with us. He must imagine that we are indeed provincial not to be aware of the current political scandals in Canada. I cannot remember when we have had anything more odoriferous. I have just returned from a three weeks' stay in Toronto, and, while the city may be ideally governed, I must say that I saw more intoxication there to the square inch than exists in New York to the block.

I was talking with a construction engineer while there. He had just returned from Pittsburgh, where he had been getting prices on steel to be used in building a factory, and, after allowing for transportation and adding 33 1-3 per cent. to his original figures, the Pittsburgh man was still lower than the Canadian bidder. This condition is doubtless very encouraging to the Canadian manufacturer, but it is rather hard on the consumer; and isn't it very much the same condition that has developed our own deplorable monopolies?

I have met those fellows who tell us how much better their own country is than ours, though they continue to stay with us.

HUDSON STREET.

A Princeton Man's Disclaimer.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I have read the startling disclosures of the Hon. Richard T. Crane on college immorality in general and drunkenness in particular with some dismay to think that such sweeping statements could be made upon such slender proof, but with some amusement withal. One statement in particular deserves a place in the history of fabrications beside the immortal data of the late lamented Dr. Cook, viz.: That at Princeton, at one and the same time, 200 students were "dead drunk"! Ye shades of wine bibbing Bacchus, bear me witness that never, never, never was there enough "booze" in all Princeton at any one time to throw 200 Princeton students into such an uninteresting and unpardonable condition of drunkenness as Mr. Crane describes.

Since the reformation dating from the third year of the reign of Woodrow Wilson there hasn't been enough beer sold in Princeton to pay the license fees of the few unregenerate "gin mills" that have had the hardihood to remain open. Poor Crane! I fear he is only a "muckraker."

A SIMPLE STUDENT.

Elizabeth, N. J., Sept. 11, 1911.

Canada's Immigration Service.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I would like to express the gratification I feel regarding the work done by the Immigration Service. A recent case has just been called to my attention, in which a special detailed officer was sent out in regard to the admission from Canada of an Italian young woman who wished to enter this country to join her fiancé, also an immigrant. The pains which the Government took to protect her were gratifying.

An Inspector called regarding the character of both the man and the young woman, who in this case were of good faith and sincere intentions; she was admitted when this was absolutely proven. The case both at the Canadian border and here was skillfully handled.

A SULLIVAN LAW OUTRAGE.

Counsel for Mr. Becker Sets Forth the Facts in His Case.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

As counsel for the German Consulate in this city we have read with considerable interest your comments in Monday's issue concerning the case of Mr. Becker, who on Sept. 7 was arrested in this city pursuant to the provisions of the new "Sullivan act," which prohibits the carrying of firearms and other deadly weapons. This matter was referred to our office. We shall state the facts very briefly:

Mr. Becker, who is a German subject, arrived in New York at the station of the Pennsylvania Railroad in Dey Street early on the morning of Sept. 7. He had sent his trunk in advance, and had with him a bag and a leather case containing a shotgun. With the intention of proceeding to the express office to claim his trunk he came out of the station carrying his bag in his hand, and with his shotgun in the case slung over his shoulder. As soon as he got into the street he was arrested, taken to the police station, where the gun was taken from him; a patrol wagon was then called, in which he was placed in custody of an officer, and taken to the Tombs. Later he was arraigned before a Magistrate, held without bail, and returned to the Tombs. The Grand Jury was not in a position to take up cases of this kind until Monday morning, Sept. 11.

During the interval we busied ourselves with the legal aspect of the case, and consulted with the District Attorney's office. On Monday morning, Sept. 11, the matter was presented to the Grand Jury and the prisoner was discharged.

In the Tombs Mr. Becker was placed in a cell in company with a common criminal accused of petty theft.

It remains to be said that Mr. Becker is a young man subject to military service in Germany, and that his leave of absence expires on Sept. 25. If Mr. Becker had not been discharged in time to sail on Sept. 12 he would not have been able to reach his home and to report to the military authorities before the expiration of his leave. In this event he would have been listed as a deserter and would have had to clear himself from this charge. Any one having any knowledge of the severity of military discipline in Germany will understand that this would have been a very serious matter.

Thus Mr. Becker, without any wrongdoing on his part, was kept in an ordinary prison with common criminals for four days; he missed the steamer on which he was originally to have sailed; he ran the risk of serious complications with the military authorities in Germany, and all this in a civilized community.

It is quite apparent that there is something radically wrong with a law which makes occurrences of this character possible. If this law is not to succumb to its own shortcomings it must be promptly amended. We should welcome any further comment that your valuable paper might desire to make on this subject.

THE NEW PISTOL LAW.

Have Mr. Roosevelt and Police Commissioner Waldo Secured Licenses?

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I heartily agree with your topical remark, "A Good Law, but Needs Amendment." In my opinion registration is all that is needed, which is in accordance with Senator Pollock's disclosure of the purpose of the Sullivan law, and on what Senator Sullivan himself has lately said, is agreeable with his idea of its value.

Compulsory registration could readily be made to comprehend such full information as to the age, occupation and standing in citizenship of the pistol owner as might be deemed requisite, with the alternative of the penalties already provided for possession of arms not so registered.

I don't see that under such circumstances even a permit is necessary, although that should prove useful for the owner against unnecessary police interference. No fee, or, at all events, no more than a nominal fee, should be exacted for registry, and no re-registry should be required without change in possession of the arm. In short, all that should be aimed at is the establishment of responsibility of ownership with facility for ready tracing of same. As the matter now stands a majority of us are "misdemeanants," if not "felons," under this law, simply because we have held certain personal property in our possession beyond the 1st of September.

I, for instance, am living in an isolated situation near one of the Long Island beaches, and I claim the right to protect my home against criminal invasion without pulling political wires for a ten-dollar police permit. If, as it appears, too, the police intend enforcing this law in all its rigidness, why haven't they already apprehended the notorious "gun toters"—the "gangsters"—of this town? Do they mean to have us believe that these offenders are not known to them? Do they suppose we shall be satisfied with the arrest of an occasional foreign possessor of a shotgun?

Col. Roosevelt, as a sportsman and a crack shot, is undoubtedly possessed of arms galore. Why not go after him for a test?

Why shoudn't the Police Commissioner arrest himself as an offender? His office doesn't, I should say, put him above the ordinary respectable citizen in that particular. Only the other day he had a pistol match with somebody. Did he have a permit?

CONSERVATION OF BEAVERS.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The Conservation Commission would have been glad if "J. W. T." had made it more clear that the beaver have been allowed to fell trees at Old Forge only because of the very complete protection given these ingenious and industrious animals by the existing law, which says:

> There shall be no open season for beaver. No person shall take, trap, or snare in any manner, any beaver, or have in his possession any beaver so taken, trapped, or snared.

In view of the foregoing it is difficult for the Conservation Commission to evolve a plan which will at once afford relief to the cottager on Fulton Chain and still conform with the law; nevertheless, we are hopeful that we may find a way.

I wish to thank you for your editorial of Sept. 9, in which you refer to the very gratifying increase of game animals in New York State. The dawning of the hunting season does, as you assert, find game more abundant in this State than ever before.

New York State Conservation Commissioner.

Stephen Foster's Pittsburgh Monument

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I was surprised when I read the article printed from The Washington Post in yesterday's TIMES under the heading, "Deserves a Monument," in which Mr. Reuben Stockwell deplores the fact that Stephen Foster's name is forgotten. To set him right, I beg to mention that in 1898 or 1899 one of the most beautiful monuments I have ever seen was unveiled in Pittsburgh, at Highland Park, in honor of Stephen Foster.

MOST IMMIGRANTS ARE NOW NEGROID?

Finds an Intermixture of Black Blood in the Swarthy Mediterranean Peoples.

AFRICANS WILL COME NEXT

Anonymous Observer Fears "Race Murder" Unless Fresh Exclusion Laws Are Enacted.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I have been struck by a remark in a letter that appears to-day in your columns regarding the ethnical superiority of the emigrants to Canada over those to the United States. I think its writer's remarks in this connection are true. That we are committing race suicide, or, more accurately, race murder, in another sense than that mentioned by a late occupant of the Presidential office is patent. The main part of our immigration is now from peoples who are strongly marked with negro blood, as the Neapolitans, Sicilians, and Portuguese, peoples differing radically from the Anglo-Saxon. My mention of the blood mixture of the Mediterranean littoral, I would say, is but a truism of modern anthropology. No science, however, is needed in the observer to note this. It is but too evident. Of the effect of such intermixture we may judge by the decadent Moor and Berber, who have been brought by an overintermixture of black blood from their high estate of seven centuries ago, when they built the Alhambra and the Mosque of Cordova, to the point of scarcely repairing their ancient fine architectural remains in Morocco.

Our integrity as a people representative of those of Northwest Europe, to whom we look for the best achievements of civilization, is already badly damaged. Are we to go on in the same careless way until the characteristics we have inherited from such progenitors are wholly submerged?

It looks like it. In the last six years some 7,000 blacks have come into Massachusetts from the Cape Verde Islands. They call themselves Portuguese, as the islands belong to Portugal, but they are Congo negroes in race. We shall shortly have the whole 150,000 population of the islands here, as, having found the way, no negro will stay on these bare volcanic rocks who can come to America. They began coming in small schooners; there is now a line of steamers which brings them.

These islands are but 300 miles from the African Coast. How long will it be before the migratory fever extends thither and we shall have a true African migration from Africa itself? Not long. It is as certain as anything can be that, unless we forbid the entrance of such emigrants as these from the Cape Verdes, we shall before long be faced by a new importation of black blood as great in extent as that of the eighteenth century, perhaps much greater. Are we prepared in mind to look forward to an America peopled by a race of which the immigrants from the Western Islands (Azores) are a fair sample? In other words, shall America remain fairly white, or shall it be markedly negroid? The latter alternative is sure to arrive unless in immigration we draw an African race line as we have drawn one for the Chinese and Japanese. The Mongolians, though enormously superior in race character to the African and near-African races, are excluded, while free advent is given the latter whether they come from the Cape Verdes, Africa, or the West Indies. Our position is thus wholly illogical. If we look upon the Chinaman or Japanese as an undesirable immigrant, much more so should we so regard the man from Africa. The question of the negro in America is already sufficiently serious; to add to it by unrestricted black immigration would be a crime against our race. The question is upon us, and we shall have to consider it soon, or better now.

INEBRIETY BOARD MEETS.

Soon to Open Offices in the Old Police Headquarters Building.

The first meeting of the new Inebriety Board for the reclamation of the habitual drunkard was held yesterday afternoon in the Aldermanic Chamber at the City Hall. All the members of the board were present, and it was decided to open headquarters on Oct. 1 in the old Police Headquarters Building at 300 Mulberry Street and call on the police after that date to furnish data as to all arrests for intoxication.

The board decided to acquire land within thirty-five miles of the city as a site for hospital buildings. Four such sites aready have been offered to the city at from $30,000 to $40,000, and on one of these there will be erected three hospital buildings to accommodate some 166 patients each. The cost of the site and the buildings was placed at about $550,000. This, and the fact that $8,000 is needed to pay for the temporary employment of seven field officers to look into aggravated cases of drunkenness, will be reported to the Board of Estimate. Branch headquarters, it is expected, will be opened in Brooklyn by Oct. 1 for Brooklyn, Queens, and Richmond.

Commissioner Whitney of the Department of Correction suggested an old building on Riker's Island as a temporary hospital. The board will examine this building early next week. It is estimated that about $80,000 a year will be needed to maintain the board's work as it is outlined by the statute.

REINSTATE MARINE ENGINEER

J. A. Wilson, Who Was Dismissed, Is Put Back in His Old Place.

It came out yesterday through an announcement in The City Record that Jonathan A. Wilson, who was dismissed as chief marine engineer because of his activity in the recent strike of marine engineers, was recently reinstated. The place pays $1,800 a year. Wilson was the engineer whose dismissal from the department resulted in the calling of a delegation of marine engineers on the Mayor. They were headed by President Healy of the marine engineers' organization. At that time the Mayor said to them:

"I understand that you men think of striking. If you strike, not a man among you will come back to the employ of the city while I am Mayor."

Wiser counsel prevailed later and Commissioner Tomkins of the Dock Department received a call from Wilson, who was considered one of the best engineers in the department. He was immediately put on the preferred list and his reinstatement followed.

EDWARDS PLANS EXHIBIT.

Street Cleaning Department to Take Important Part in Budget Show.

The Department of Street Cleaning will have an important display at the Budget Exhibit to open at 320 Broadway on Oct. 2. Photographs will show important features of the work of the department, there will be a display from the Department of Final Disposition, models of new covered dumping wagons, horse stalls with a new system of ventilation, sanitary horse troughs, a model automobile street sweeper, and charts showing increases in street mileage.

Commissioner Edwards is anxious to get 100 additional sweepers to clean the streets of the east side at night, and this fact is to be set forth in connection with the exhibit. At present the department does no street cleaning after 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Several east side societies will present their views and cooperate in arousing sentiment for night street cleaning, that the matter may be favorably acted upon by the Board of Estimate this Fall.

BRILLIANT SOCIAL SEASON PLANNED

Young Hostesses, Including Mrs. J. J. Astor, to Lead in Variety of Winter Entertainments.

PLENTY OF DEBUTANTES

Among the Titled Visitors Expected Is Denmark's Crown Prince—Dates of Some of the Big Events.

Plans for the coming Winter social campaign are already being made, and it is predicted that this season will eclipse everything that has gone before in point of variety and brilliancy of entertainment. Young hostesses, including the new Mrs. John Jacob Astor, will predominate, and a campaign of unusual activity is promised for New York society with this infusion of young blood.

There will be a bevy of débutantes also this year to make their bow to society, and dancing will be the popular amusement, even more so than last season. Dates have already been chosen for next Winter, as far forward as next April, for the popular society dancing classes, and dates have been fixed, too, for balls, coming-out parties, teas, and many and varied forms of social entertainment.

Among some of the private entertainments that have already been arranged for may be mentioned the large dance which Mrs. James Remsen Strong of Short Hills, N. J., will give on Dec. 29 at Sherry's for her niece, Miss Grace Henry. On Dec. 2 Mrs. Henry N. Johnson will give a débutante dance for Miss Louisa A. Johnson, also at Sherry's. Miss Bessie Claflin will give a dance on Jan. 19.

On Dec. 22, Mrs. Charles D. Sabin of 175 West Fifty-eighth Street will give a supper dance. Mrs. Schuyler Warren is giving a large dance at Sherry's on Dec. 26, and the next evening Mrs. William Ross Proctor of 30 East Thirty-ninth Street will also by a dance hostess. Mrs. Joseph Todhunter Thompson of 10 East Seventy-eighth Street will give a dance on the night of Dec. 28, and on the following night comes the first of the Metropolitan dances.

Mr. Robert Varnum will give a tea to introduce her daughter, Miss Justine Ingersoll, on the afternoon of Dec. 1 at Sherry's, which will be one of the interesting coming-out affairs of the year. Mrs. Elisha P. Cronkhite of 337 West Seventy-seventh Street is giving a ball at Sherry's on Jan. 5. Mrs. William Manice has arranged to give a dance on Jan. 12.

The last horse show which Madison Square Garden will house before it is torn down starts on Saturday evening, Nov. 18, and this event, followed by the opening of the opera season at the Metropolitan, will formally open the social season.

Many titled visitors from Europe are expected to visit here during the Winter, and among them will probably be the Duke and Duchess of Roxburghe. The Duke and Duchess of Connaught are planning to make frequent trips to this city from Ottawa, Canada, where the new Governor General will soon arrive from England with his family. Among the first titled visitors expected here is Denmark's Crown Prince, who is due to arrive early in October. He is a nephew of Queen Alexandra of England and King George of Greece.

Mrs. Taft expects to leave her Beverly home about Oct. 19 for New York, and will remain here for several days before returning to the White House.

The Junior Cotillion will be danced on Dec. 5, Jan. 2, and Feb. 6 at Sherry's, the Cinderella on Dec. 27 and Feb. 25, and the Metropolitan on Dec. 29, Feb. 16, and April 13.

At Delmonico's will be held the New Assembly dances, which will take place on Dec. 1, Jan. 26, Feb. 16, and April 12; the Saturday Evening Dances on Dec. 16, Jan. 6, and Feb. 17; the Gramercy dances on Jan. 5 and Feb. 9, and the Holland dances on Jan. 12, Feb. 9, and April 9. The St. Christopher League dances will be held at the Plaza on Jan. 12 and 26 and Feb. 16.

WAR LOOKS REMOTE TO THE HOMECOMERS

C. B. Wolffram, Back from Berlin, Declares Germany's Stand in Morocco Justifiable.

UNTERMYER DENIES REPORT

Says He Never Recommended Organization of a Labor Party as a Weapon Against Capital.

The North German Lloyd liner Kronprinzessin Cecilie, with 897 cabin passengers, of whom 561 were in the first cabin, arrived from Bremen and Southampton yesterday morning after a speedy passage of the Atlantic. Among the cabin passengers were Daniel Willard, President of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad; ex-Controller Herman A. Metz, Samuel Untermyer, Cecil Grenfell, the English banker; James A. Blair, Jr., Charles B. Wolffram, editor of The German Herold; Isaac Gimbel, James B. Colgate, and Leo Speyer.

The Moroccan situation, which looked serious in the news from Europe published yesterday, was the most interesting of the topics discussed by those more or less familiar with conditions on the other side. All were agreed that while the controversy appeared to them further from settlement yesterday than ever there was still no immediate cause for alarm, the belief being general that France and Germany would yet find terms of agreement that would be honorable to both.

Commenting on the Franco-German situation Mr. Willard said that while it looked serious he could not imagine the two nations going to war over Morocco. He believes the trouble will be amicably arranged.

Mr. Willard, who, accompanied by Mrs. Willard, has been motoring in Europe, said that he had heard nothing about his being the next President of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad in the event of the retirement of President Mellen.

Mr. Grenfell expressed the opinion that "Germany does not want any of the Congo, but that she does want a piece of Morocco."

Mr. Blair, who is a member of the Wall Street banking firm of Blair & Co., said that European bankers did not believe the Franco-German situation would get beyond the arbitration point. A war between those two nations, in his opinion, he said, would wreck the commerce of Europe for years to come.

Samuel Untermyer had nothing to say about the Franco-German controversy, but he did wish to deny that he had at any time said that the organization of a labor party in this country would prove a good weapon with which to fight capital.

"On reaching here to-day," said Mr. Untermyer, "my attention is called to a cable from London, in which I am represented as having recommended in effect the organization of a labor party as a weapon that labor might use to advantage in its struggle with capital. I made no such suggestion and am not of that opinion. Such a course would, in my judgment, be most unwise. It would array class against class. Labor would find itself in a hopeless minority, while under existing conditions it will in the end, and as soon as it knows how to use its great strength, be able to exact a fair measure of justice through exercising the balance of power that rests in its hands. Beyond correcting that misstatement I have nothing to say."

Mr. Metz said he had not changed his mind about the New York subway situation. At the present rate of progress, in his opinion, the subway situation would be the same five years from now that it is to-day. He also said that he did not believe that either Germany or France wanted war, and he did not believe there would be any.

Mr. Wolffram told of his visit to Germany with Congressman Bartholdt of Missouri, and of the enthusiasm of the Emperor and the German people over the Steuben statue that was presented to that nation by the United States Government.

"Our mission," said Mr. Wolffram, "was a success in every particular. The Secretary of Foreign Affairs, Kiderlen-Waechter, I found to be one of the most communicative diplomats I have ever met. We were entertained by him at breakfast and had the extraordinary pleasure of hearing from his own lips the true version of the Morocco trouble, from which I could dradw only one conclusion that the stand which Germany has taken in the matter was fully justified by the action of France, and that, in fact, there never had been any real danger of war.

"As to Germany in general, prosperity is in evidence everywhere, the Americans contributing their share to it by spending more time and money there than ever before. Wages are on the increase. So is business.

"As to Dr. Hill's recall, the people I met had all a kind word for him, and regret seemed general."

C. E. O'Hara Weds Mrs. Bertha Walker.

KEENAN IN "THE MILLION."

Leaves Vaudeville to Act Leading Role in Henry W. Savage's Production.

Frank Keenan, who was the Sheriff in "The Girl of the Golden West," is going back into the legitimate drama this season, to play the leading male role in Henry W. Savage's production of "The Million." Last season and this Mr. Keenan has been playing in vaudeville in a dramatic sketch called "Man to Man," except for a short season early last year in "The Heights."

In "The Million" Mr. Keenan will play a burglar, a second-hand clothing dealer, a policeman, and a negro minstrel. He accepted the part last week, on condition that he could be released from his vaudeville contracts with Percy G. Williams. Negotiations for the release were completed yesterday and contracts signed with Mr. Savage.

Others in the cast of "The Million," which is an adaptation by Leo Ditrichstein of a French play, are Taylor Holmes, William Burress, Henry C. Mortimer, Paul Kerr, Irene Fenwick, Eulalie Jensen, John Butler, Robert Webb Lawrence, Richard Pitman, William J. Mahoney, Charles J. McCarthy, Gustav Hartsheim, Jennie Weathersby, and Kenyon Bishop. Rehearsals will be held under Mr. Ditrichstein's direction, and the first performance of the play will be given at the Columbia Theatre, Washington, on Sept. 25.

NEW SUTRO PLAY IN LONDON.

"A Perplexed Husband" Perplexes Audience, but Has Exquisite Comedy.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—Alfred Sutro's new play, "A Perplexed Husband," produced to-night at Wyndham's Theatre, appears to have greatly perplexed the audience in its study of feminism, but whether it is satire or phantasy, prophecy or warning, revolutionary or reactionary, nobody seemed able to decide.

What, however, all agreed upon was that it was decidedly interesting, and that parts of it provide some of the most exquisite comedy witnessed on the English stage for some time.

Maud Raymond for Winter Garden.

Maud Raymond has been added to the list of stars that will appear with Gaby Deslys in the new Winter Garden entertainment, and Harold Crane, who has been in various Broadway musical plays, has also been engaged for a prominent place in the company. Rehearsals of the new show are now being held in the Seventy-first Regiment Armory until "The Musical Revue of 1911," now at the Winter Garden, goes on tour at the end of this week.

Grace George to Act Beatrice.

Grace George will make her first appearance as Beatrice in "Much Ado About Nothing" next Thursday evening at Detroit. James Bernard Fagan's drama, "The Earth," will also be produced during the present tour of Miss George and her company, and several other plays will be put in rehearsal preparatory to the beginning of the season here.

Anna Held arrived in New York yesterday on the Kronprinzessin Cecilie, ready to begin rehearsals of "Miss Innocence," in which she is to make a tour the earlier part of the season. She had with her a collection of new French gowns, and she went to see "The Pink Lady" last night to display one of them. She danced at the ship's concert on the way over and helped the Seamen's Fund to the extent of $650. After a short tour in "Miss Innocence" she is to have a new play.

Charles Frohman Improved by Trip.

Charles Frohman returned to New York yesterday from Atlantic City, his first trip out of town since his recent illness. He went to Atlantic City to be present at the first performance of Billie Burke in "The Runaway," which occurred Monday night. The trip seemed to do him a great deal of good, and his health yesterday was better than it has been for several months.

Speedy Divorce Suit Against Monroe.

Within twelve hours after she believed she had obtained grounds for divorce, Mrs. Anna R. Monroe, wife of George W. MRS. BROWN'S PEARLS MERELY IMITATIONS

Boston Customs Officials Who Inspected Her Necklace Say So and She Admits It.

GIFT TO DAUGHTER-IN-LAW

But What of Their Value? She Asks, When They Are to be Worn Only in a Mining Camp.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Sept. 12.—In denying that grounds existed for the indignation of Mrs. James J. Brown of Newport and Denver, Col., over the alleged treatment accorded her by Boston customs officials when they seized one of her pearl necklaces, Winthrop T. Hodges, Appraiser for the Port of Boston, who said last night that he knew nothing about the case, issued a statement this afternoon, in which he declares that the only question at issue involved the genuineness of Mrs. Brown's pearls.

According to Appraiser Hodges, Mrs. Brown told the examiner that the pearls were only imitations, and requested the examiner to keep this fact from the public, saying that, although she and other wealthy women often carried and wore imitations of precious stones, she didn't want it generally known. The pearl necklace was found by an expert to be as Mrs. Brown represented it, "imitations of pearls."

Appraiser Hodges's statement follows:

"At the time Mrs. Brown's baggage was examined at the pier Mr. Kinnealey was detailed to appraise the dutiable articles found by the Inspector. Among other articles was a pearl necklace, stated by Mrs. Brown to be composed of imitation pearls. Examiner Kinnealey makes no pretense of being an authority on jewelry or precious stones, but accepted Mrs. Brown's statement as to the character of the article and appraised it at a reasonable valuation for such jewelry.

"Later in the day Mr. Kinnealey very properly advised me of his action in the matter, referring to his lack of experience in passing on jewelry and inability to distinguish real from artificial pearls. Under the circumstances, it seemed wise to ask Mrs. Brown for the necklace in order that it might be re-examined by an examiner familiar with jewelry and precious stones.

"As Mrs. Brown had previously told Mr. Kinnealey that she expected to go to Newport, Mr. Kinnealey met her at the south station. He did not wear a uniform at the time, and as he found that the baggage had been forwarded to Newport he went there in the train, riding in the same car with Mrs. Brown, which was a parlor car and not a day coach as has been stated. No statement was made by Mr. Kinnealey to the effect that he would lose his position if he returned without the necklace.

"Mrs. Brown was extremely courteous and without protest on her part agreed to allow Mr. Kinnealey to take the necklace to Boston, which was done, and it was found to be as represented by her. The examiner was equally courteous to Mrs. Brown, and after receiving the necklace at the baggage room of the Newport station accompanied Mrs. Brown, at her request, to the hotel entrance for the purpose of assisting her in the care of her numerous pieces of baggage. The Customs Inspector in uniform who was present at the South Station did not travel to Newport, but went as far as the train in order to assist Mrs. Brown in carrying a part of her hand baggage.

"The statements attributed to Mrs. Brown seem rather surprising in view of her uniform courteous and obliging attitude throughout the entire transaction, and especially in view of her apparent desire that the character of the necklace be not disclosed."

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 12.—Mrs. James J. Brown enjoyed a hearty laugh at the Muenchinger-King this evening when THE TIMES correspondent informed her that the Boston customs authorities had declared that the necklace she brought from London was one of imitation pearls.

"This is amusing," said Mrs. Brown, "when I recall that the customs authorities informed me, when they inspected the necklace, that I was trying to get in a necklace worth $10,000 as imitation pearls.

"The necklace was made for me in Bond Street, London, as a gift I was to make to my son's wife, Mrs. Lawrence Palmer, who lives in a mining camp in the West with her husband, who has charge of Mr. Brown's mining interests there.

"As the couple were recently married, I wished to make the present. They were called pelka pearls. The pearls themselves were not so valuable, but the clasp was.

"It was the principle of the whole transaction with the customs authorities that I rebelled against. It was the trouble of bringing in the necklace and the doubting of my veracity that caused my indignation when I informed the authorities what the necklace really was.

"The officials seemed to know who I was and they appeared to be waiting for me.

"It does not make so much difference about the value of the necklace, for it was for Mrs. Palmer, to be worn at the mining camp, which was just as acceptable as if the gift were much more valuable.

"My veracity was questioned and the customs authorities were sure I was trying to get in a necklace of great value after I had informed them they were reconstructed pearls."

Mrs. Brown would not state the value of the necklace or the duty paid on it.

LINSEED OIL PROFITS DROP.

American Company Shows Lower Net Figures Than a Year Ago.

The annual report of the American Linseed Company for the year ended July 31, issued yesterday, shows net profits of $434,611 compared with $720,952 in 1910, and $979,600 in 1909. The practical failure of the flax crop in 1910 resulted in an unprecedentedly high price for linseed oil. This has checked consumption to a considerable degree and at the same time introduced the use of adulterants in the form of corn and cotton oils in the trade. Speaking of the outlook Henry E. Cooper, Chairman of the Committee of Management, says:

As things stand to-day, Sept. 11, a better crop is promised in this country, though how much better we cannot yet tell conclusively. Canadian and Argentine crop conditions are also better than a year ago, Russia about the same, while India promises poorly. The Canadian crop position, as to its availability at competitive prices, is more or less concerned with the reciprocity bill now under consideration in Canada.

World supplies of oil still continue in practically an exhausted state. All things considered, therefore, it would seem a reasonable judgment that products of flaxseed will continue throughout the year as they have the past year, on a materially higher level than the average of the past. Whether this will continue to affect consumption materially and whether an enlarged use of adulterants will be developed in the trade, cannot of course yet be determined.

Your company will have to meet the problems involved as they arise, though naturally a policy of opportunism which abnormal conditions necessitates, is more unsatisfactory and less profitable in the prosecution than a settled and consistent policy possible under normal conditions.

The company, which is controlled by John D. Rockefeller, has been conducted, since the resignation of President J. A. McGean in August, by a Board of Management, of which H. E. Cooper is Chairman. At the annual meeting Bayard Dominick, Jr., was elected a Director, to succeed President McGean, and Charles O. Heidt to succeed the late H. L. Francis.

John Souther.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 12.—John Souther, probably the oldest iron manufacturer in the country, died at his home in Newton to-night, aged 97 years. Born in Boston, Mr. Souther established the Globe Locomotive Works in 1821 in South Boston. During the civil war the ironwork of sixteen vessels was turned out by him. Excavating machinery for the Suez and French Panama Canals constituted another of his contracts, and for twenty-five years all the sugarmaking machinery used in Cuba was turned out in Mr. Souther's plant. Mr. Souther was the father of the automatic sprinkler and invented machinery for making ice.

FERDINAND GOTTSCHALK ILL.

Actor Collapses at Rehearsal of "The Rack" and Play Is Postponed.

Ferdinand Gottschalk, the well-known actor, who was to have appeared as the District Attorney in William A. Brady's production of "The Rack" at The Playhouse, in West Forty-eighth Street, to-night, was taken suddenly ill at a rehearsal late last night and was hurriedly removed to his home. Shortly afterward the announcement was made that the play would not open until Friday night. Frederick Perry will play Mr. Gottschalk's rôle.

The rehearsal was begun at The Playhouse immediately after the close of the performance of "A Gentleman of Leisure," and when Mr. Gottschalk came on the stage he was apparently on the verge of a collapse. He was scarcely able to articulate, and, although prompted several times was unable to remember his part. Finally William A. Brady, who was on the stage, went to him and asked if he was ill. Mr. Gottschalk turned helplessly to the manager.

As it was apparent that Mr. Gottschalk was unable to continue with the rehearsal a taxicab was called and he was sent to his home. The rehearsal was ended abruptly.

At The Playhouse last night it was stated that Mr. Gottschalk had appeared ill earlier in the evening, but that no alarm had been felt and his collapse had come very suddenly.

WORKINGS OF ELECTION LAW.

Certificates of Nominations Must Be Filed with the Commissioners.

ALBANY, Sept. 12.—Certificates of nominations, declinations, objections, &c., that heretofore have been filed with County Clerks, must be filed with the Election Commissioners of the various counties, according to an interpretation of the Levy election law to-day by Attorney General Carmody.

The Attorney General to-day issued this statement:

"The intent of the so-called Levy election law seems to be to transfer to the Election Commissioners, created by the law in the various counties of the State, the control of the elections, and charges them with the duty of performing each, every, and all of the duties which heretofore devolved upon the County Clerks, and makes a transfer to them of all books, papers, documents, records, and election appliances and appurtenances held or under the control of any officer of any county."

BOSTON, Sept. 12.—The Giants got back into their batting stride to-day at the South End grounds and took a firmer grip on first place in the pennant struggle by taking two games from Boston, the first by a score of 9 to 6 and the second, a runaway match, by a score of 11 to 2.

The first game was productive of a big shock when, with all the suddenness of a bolt out of a clear sky, Rube Marquard blew up in the seventh inning, and in a fusillade of six hits the Rustlers grabbed five runs and took the lead. Crandall came to the rescue and checked the onslaught, while the Giants developed a timely batting rally and hammered two Boston pitchers, Hogg and Griffin, hard enough to collect four runs and win out.

The second game was a calamity for the grizzled veteran Cy Young. The sturdy campaigner could not stand the gaff against the stickwork of the Giants, and he lasted less than three innings. In that time Fred Merkle had pounded the ball over the outer walls twice, Doyle had lifted out another homer, and Meyers's double and a few singles and bases on balls were distributed through the matinée. Mathewson was pitted against Young, but when Manager McGraw saw that the victory would be ridiculously easy he withdrew the Big Train from the game and sent Crandall back at the Bostonese.

Crandall can never tell when he has to work these days. One day he has to relieve a slabster who falls by the wayside and on the next he has to go in because it's too easy for a master twirler like Big Six. Crandall is like a fire horse. He has to be near the harness, ready to gallop out at the first alarm.

Boston seems to be Marquard's Jonah. Three times this season they have received him without the consideration that is due the gentleman. He pitched fine ball up to the seventh, with his speedy drop falling in elusive twists about the tray. Then all of a sudden the ball refused to break and hits began to flicker to various corners of the lot.

After Snodgrass had poled a home run off Perdue in the fifth inning and it looked as if his cunning had waited, Manager Tenney sent Hogg to the box. After two singles were made in the eighth, Hogg gave way to Griffin. Griffin was easy for the New Yorks, and they promptly proceeded to win the game off him.

Nearly 11,000 people crowded into the South End grounds, which was the largest gathering by thousands that has consented to patronize Mr. Russell's ball team this season. The Boston fans, usually dignified in the face of stirring events, laid aside all restraint and actually yelled with delight when Marquard was hammered out of the game. And, more than that, they arose on their feet and guyed Umpire Johnstone when he put Mike Donlin out of the game for being "too all-fired gabby." Mike is in fine with the Boston fans, and was cheered as loudly as if he was a native son.

The Giants have recovered from the batting slump which came over them at the Polo Grounds last week. They peppered the ball savagely and at exactly the proper time. Just gaze over the day's accomplishment with the ash furniture:

Larry Doyle got five hits, four of them in the second game, one a homer. Merkle got four, two of them home-run bangs and one a three-bagger. Snodgrass got a homer and a single in the second game, and, taking it all in all, it was a glorious young outing for the boys who are expected to deliver the swats.

The bright sensational play of the two games came just when the curtain was about to drop on the second session. Charley Herzog was on third base, by virtue of a resounding two-bagger and an error, and was waiting patiently for some one to send him home. He didn't wait long; he took his life in his own hands, and, with all the Rustlers looking at him, made a dash for home, and after a beautiful slide under Raridan bobbed up on the pan with a run.

The Rube did not start off with his usual array of strike-outs in the first game. Ingerton greeted him with a single to centre, Bridwell sacrificing him to second. Kaiser fanned and Mike Donlin trotted up amid a round of applause. "Turkey" hoisted a Texas leaguer to centre, just out of the reach of Snodgrass, Ingerton scoring. Miller's foul was grabbed by Herzog near the bleachers. The Giants got the run back promptly. With two out in the second inning Herzog cracked a single to left and stole second. Fletcher got a ticket, Meyers rapped one to centre, scoring Herzog and pushing Fletcher to third. He counted when Marquard poked a single to left.

Two Rustlers had succumbed in the second when Kling doubled over Devore's cap. He was marooned there because Perdue monoplaned to Murray. Merkle slapped a grounder to Gowdy in the fourth, but "Hank" made a bad toss to Perdue, who was covering first base. Merkle went to second on this error and took third on Herzog's sacrifice. He registered while Fletcher was being thrown out at first.

No one knows why Perdue walked Marquard in the fifth, but he did, and Devore sacrificed him to second. Doyle died, Gowdy to Perdue. Snodgrass then put the ball over the left field fence into the property of Mr. Mellen's railroad and sent Rube home ahead of him. Murray ripped a single to centre, but was nipped stealing second. Gowdy's double in the fifth went for nought because the three Rustlers following him died without a whimper. Hogg succeeded Perdue in the box for Boston.

The Bostonese woke up in the seventh and Gowdy landed a single in centre. Kling bounced a hot single off Herzog's shins and both runners advanced a peg on Hogg's out at first base. Ingerton jolted a smash to left, scoring Gowdy and Kling. Al Bridwell bounded the ball off the right field fence for two bases, sending Ingerton to third. Kaiser singled back of second and Ingerton counted. Doyle made a great stop, holding Bridwell at third. Kaiser stole second. It looked very gloomy for the Giants, and the crowd worked up to a high pitch of cultured Boston emotion. Mike Donlin then poled a large sacrifice fly to centre, sending Bridwell across with the tieing run. Snodgrass foolishly made a long throw home, which allowed Kaiser to travel to third. Miller slapped a single to centre and Boston took the lead with Kaiser's run. Miller was nailed trying to steal second.

Nonplused by the terrific panning to Marquard the Giants sailed into Hogg's service. Doyle singled to right and Snodgrass banged one to left. Manager Tenney then derricked Hogg and sent Griffin to the slab. Murray rolled a grounder to Griffin, who tossed to Kling to get Doyle coming home. Larry was acrobatic and elusive, and slid home safely, tieing the score again. Merkle's three-base drive to the right jungle scored Snodgrass and Murray. Merkle crossed the plate on Herzog's demise at first. Fletcher singled and was caught stealing. Meyers ended the tumult by grounding out to first. Manager McGraw then sent Old Doctor Crandall to the mound to halt the Rustler. Mike Donlin then uncorked the loudest kick that has been heard in Boston in ages and was ejected from the game, Spratt taking his place in centre field.

"Grandpa" Cy Young made a heroic start in the second game by striking Devore out. The third strike was called and Josh made a big kick. He hated to be fanned by a young fellow like Cy. Larry Doyle wasn't afraid of the old youngster and he walloped the second ball pitched over the right field fence on to the veranda of a house on Columbus Avenue. Snodgrass fanned, an event which displeased him considerably. "Red" Murray soaked a sizzling grasser through second. Merkle then pummeled a tremendous drive over the left field fence and trailed Murray home.

More trouble for Mr. Young in the second stanza. Fletcher passed away, Bridwell to Gowdy. Chief Meyers looked dangerous, so Cy gave him a ticket. Mathewson rammed a single to right field. Devore was hit and the bases were then crowded. Doyle smashed a good hit to right, scoring Meyers and "Matty." Snodgrass shot a liner at McDonald and Devore was doubled off third.

Poor Cy Young! This is no way to treat gray hairs. Murray walked and Merkle made his second excursion smash over the right field fence and paraded home with Murray. Herzog's long fly was caught off the left field fence by Kaiser and Fletcher was out at first. Meyers doubled against the left stockade. Drucke got into the game for the first time in months, running for the Indian. Mathewson walked and Devore cracked a single to right, scoring Drucke. Matty and Devore worked a double steal, Matty counting on the theft. That was the finish of Old Cy. Tyler went to the hillock and Doyle got an infield hit. Snodgrass ended the chapter by striking out.

No need now of working "Big Six" any more, so the reliable Crandall was called on to relieve him. Otey took matters easy and let the Rustlers hit him so that the fielders could do a little work. His pitching appealed to the Bostons strongly in the sixth inning. Bridwell was safe on an infield tap and Kaiser forced him at second. Spratt doubled to left field, sending Kaiser to third. Miller pumped a long fly to centre, which sailed over Snodgrass's roof, Kaiser and Spratt scoring. Crandall tightened up then and McDonald and Gowdy were easy victims. Not content with sealing the game away in safe deposit vault fashion, the Giants began to tease the Rustlers again in the ninth inning. Herzog opened the good-night chapter with a two-base smash to the centre meadow. Fletcher was safe on Tyler's bad toss to Gowdy, Herzog going to third. He stole home with the whole Boston team gazing at him in wonderment. Wilson hit into a double play. Crandall then gave the ball a delightful ride over the right field fence, the fourth home run of the game. Devore doubled to left, but was stranded when Doyle died, Ingerton to Gowdy.

GALLOPING OUT IN FRONT.

BOSTON, Sept. 12.—Going up.

Yes, and two at a time.

Smoke from the railroad engines was so thick that it stopped the game a couple of times, but it didn't cloud the Giants' eyes when they were at the bat.

Occasionally Marquard somehow reminds one of the kind of pitcher he used to be. Only against Boston, thank goodness.

Dick Hennessey, the bat boy, worked out at first base between games and was something of an infant sensation.

Little Boston boys who wear big spectacles would willingly forfeit all they know about Shakespeare if they could cavort around first base like fourteen-year-old Dick.

Rube Faust pleaded with McGraw to pitch the first game. Marquard wishes McGraw had let him.

It wasn't as close as the Maine election, and Boston can't demand a recount.

Fred Tenney wore a grouch which would make an Egyptian mummy look as if it was smiling.

SUPERBAS AS SLUGGERS.

Philadelphia Pitchers Hammered for Seventeen Hits and Eleven Runs.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 12.—Brooklyn defeated the home team in a slugging bee here to-day by 11 to 6. All of Philadelphia's pitchers, including Stanley, a "southpaw" from the Tri-State League, were ineffective. Rucker went to Knetzer's rescue in the seventh inning and checked the home team's hitting. The batting of Daubert, Wheat, Erwin, Knabe, and Luderus featured the contest. "Runt" Walsh made his first appearance as catcher for Philadelphia, and did excellent work. Walsh has now played every postion on the team in championship games except that of pitcher. Score:

McALEER TO BUY RED SOX.

John I. Taylor to Dispose of His Entire Holdings in American League Team.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—James R. McAleer, manager of the Washington American League baseball team, has gone to Youngstown, Ohio, to complete financial arrangements that will enable him to close the deal for the Boston American League team at his conference with Owner John I. Taylor in Boston next Thursday. It is understood here that McAleer proposes to purchase the entire stock of the club. Negotiations some weeks ago fell through, it was said, because Mr. Taylor wanted to retain a block of stock in the club.

Testimonial to Frawley.

Senator James J. Frawley was presented with a bronze and gold membership card last night by his associates in the Brown's Gymnasium A. C., during the progress of the regular weekly contests held in the clubhouse in West Twenty-third Street. Following the three four-round preliminaries and a six-round semi-final, Andy Morris and Jewy Smith fought ten rounds, the result of which found the honors even. Throughout the battle was a well-fought, hard fight, the big men giving and taking a great amount of punishment. The members voted the go one of the best that had been staged at the club this season.

Luytles Horses Disposed Of.

Many prominent horsemen were in attendance at the dispersal sale of the horses of Herman C. G. Luytles of St. Louis, which was held at Durland's. On all sides the prices obtained were favorably commented upon, in view of the early season. The average was $[illegible], and the carriages and harness brought $2,300.

The Athletics gave another exhibition of bunching their own hits and killing prospective Yankee bingles on the hilltop yesterday and walked away with the second game of their final series here, 10 to 1. As in the opening game Monday, the world's champions grabbed off seven hits and six runs in the first two innings and were not threatened during the remainder of the game. At every angle of the game, except in the number of hits made, the champions showed up so much better than the Hilltoppers that the only interest for the crowd was in wondering what the Mackmen would spring next.

The Yankees came within one hit of equaling the Athletics' batting record, but there was a big difference in the quality of the hits. Six doubles and a triple were packed away among Philadelphia's dozen swats, and they were so well bunched that only three failed to figure in a run. The Yankees failed to crack Jack Coombs's delivery for anything better than a single, and at no time could they bunch the hits effectively. The lone run which saved New York from the kalsomine was started on a pass and helped along by a wild pitch. Coombs, like Bender on the day before, did his most effective work with men on bases and thirteen Yankees were stranded. More than half of New York's hits were registered after two were out.

The champions pushed themselves out of danger early by hitting Warhop's benders to every section of the lot. His underhand delivery had no more terrors for the Mackmen than Vaughn's fork arm slants or Jack Quinn's speed on Monday, and the little pitcher was excused from further labor after being batted for four runs in the second inning. Fourteen Athletics faced him while he lasted, and they got away with a triple, two doubles, four singles, a pair of sacrifice flies, and a pass. Caldwell went into the box at the beginning of the third inning and the batting of the Mackmen slumped decidedly. Caldwell's wildness and an error by Zinn were responsible for three of the four runs picked up after the departure of Warhop.

The Athletics put up a brilliant fielding game. McInnis, at first, led in the dazzling plays with a spectacular stop of a sizzling grounder, a one-handed catch of a lofty toss by Barry, and the capture of a difficult foul fly which brought him dangerously close to the Yankee bench. Jack Barry, whose excusable error yesterday is the only mark to mar a perfect record for the champions in the past two days, retired Hartzell and Knight in succession in the second inning after stops which seemed impossible, and Danny Murphy made a fancy grab of Blair's hoist in the fourth inning after a sprint to the foul line. Hartzell did some nice fielding for the Yankees.

Lord's double, Oldring's single, Collins's double, and Baker's sacrifice fly gave the Athletics two runs in the first inning. They picked up four more in the second inning on a pass to Barry, an out, singles by Coombs, Lord, and Oldring, and Collins's sacrifice fly. Lord was on third and Oldring on second when Collins flied to Daniels, and both scored on the out. In the third inning Barry was hit, he went to third when Zinn dropped Coombs's fly, and scored on a double steal with Coombs. The latter counted on Lord's double, a pop fly which dropped between Daniels and Chase. The other two runs came in the sixth inning on a double by Coombs, a pass to Lord, Collins's second double, and Baker's second sacrifice fly.

The Yankees scored their only run in the third inning. After Caldwell and Daniels had fanned, Zinn walked, and went to second on a wild pitch. He scored on Hemphill's single past second base.

Tigers Beat in Long Game.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Sept. 12.—Taking advantage of Cleveland's errors and Krapp's wild throw, Detroit led 6 to 3 when Cleveland went to bat in the ninth. Singles by Jackson, Stovall's double, and a single by Graney, who batted for Fisher, tied the score. With Summers finishing the game, Cleveland failed to score again, but in the thirteenth Detroit scored three runs on Cobb's triple, passes to Crawford and Drake, and singles by Delehanty and Moriarty. ATLANTIC LEADS KARINA.

Wilson Marshall's Schooner Wins Race to Cape May Point and Return.

With every stitch of her great cloud of canvas swelling in the strong westerly breeze driving her black hull through the beam seas at a ten-knot clip, Wilson Marshall's three-masted schooner Atlantic swept across the finish line at Ambrose Channel Lightship at 27 minutes after sunset last night the winner of the 214-mile race for the Cape May Challenge Cup. Her opponent, Robert E. Tod's Karina, was three miles astern. She crossed the finish line half an hour later.

The Atlantic's starting time on Monday morning was 10:10:55, so that her elapsed time for the whole course was 32 hours 26 minutes 5 seconds. This is 7 hours 20 minutes 45 seconds slower than the record made by the schooner Dreadnought in 1872.

The Atlantic and the Karina started in a light head wind from the S. S. W., and it was not until late Monday night that they were favored with a good whole sail breeze. The Atlantic's lead of 3 minutes 45 seconds at the start was cut down by the Karina before dark, according to the reports from shore stations.

Brighton Flights Ended.

Unfavorable conditions, an almost total absence of spectators, and but one aviator were the factors in the combination which put an end to the proposed flights at Brighton Beach racetrack yesterday. George W. Beatty, who is said to be in the employ of the management, which had been promoting the exhibitions for a few days past, was the only birdman present, and he admitted that the gale which blew would keep him on the ground, no matter how many persons desired to see a flight. Mr. Beatty admitted that Claude Grahame-White and T. O. M. Sopwith would do no more flying at the Beach, but that there was a slight possibility that he and Atwood might fly if there was any one to look at them and the conditions were favorable.

Poor Bouts at Twentieth Century.

Of the two ten-round bouts, which served as a special attraction at the Twentieth Century A. C. last night, the final, which was anything but interesting, was stopped in the seventh round by Referee Charley White. Young Britt of Baltimore was to have boxed Young Shugro, the local featherweight, but the latter failed to appear, and Billy Murphy was substituted. From the very first round the contest was tame, and although the Baltimore boy tried hard to fight his opponent, who was in no shape for a contest, could not fight back, and was on the defensive all the time. Britt landed at will without much return from Murphy, who, after six rounds of sprawling about and taking what little punishment Britt handed him, announced that he had had enough at the ending of the sixth session. The first ten-round session, between Phil Cross and Al Shumacker, was not much better than the final, as Cross, although willing to fight, lacked strength in his blows, and his opponent did not force matters until near the close of the bout.

Golf Tournament for Boys.

The first junior championship tournament of the Metropolitan Golf Association will take place on the links of the Plainfield Country Club, Plainfield, N. J., on Tuesday, Sept. 19. The tournament is open to boys of 17 years or under, who are members of or have playing privileges at clubs belonging to the Metropolitan Golf Association. The tournament will consist of stroke competitions, scratch and handicap, each of eighteen holes, driving competition, approaching and putting competition. Four medals and six other prizes are offered by the Metropolitan Association and the Plainfield Country Club. Members of the club will furnish accommodations at their homes over night on Monday, Sept. 18, to boys who compete in the tournament. Entries close on Saturday, Sept. 16.

Hildreth to Race Abroad.

There is every likelihood that Samuel C. Hildreth will ship the pick of his thoroughbreds to France and race there. In the meanwhile it is his intention to have some of his horses take part in the Pimlico meeting, from Oct. 7 to 23, inclusive. Thoroughly dissatisfied with the turn racing affairs had taken in this country, Hildreth caused the announcement of a dispersal sale of his entire stable last week at Sheepshead Bay, but in view of the low prices the four animals brought which were put under the hammer, he called the sale off.

GOLF STARS FALL FAST AT APAWAMIS

Travis, Fownes, Byers, Gardner, Phelps, and Sherman Among the Amateurs Defeated.

Champions and former champions fell as thick as Autumn leaves in the amateur golf championship at the Apawamis Golf Club at Rye, N. Y., yesterday, and the sixteen who survived the final round of medal play and the first round of match play included only one player that has borne the American title. Among the sixteen, however, are two likely foreigners in H. H. Hilton, the British champion, and J. Douglas Brown, the Irish holder of 1907, and Jerome D. Travers, who won in this country in 1907 and 1908.

Those who will play in the second round of thirty-six holes to-morrow include six players from the metropolitan district, three from Chicago, two from Vermont, two from Great Britain, and one each from Boston, St. Louis, and Minneapolis.

Among those who closed their national golfing careers for 1911 to-day were William C. Fownes of Pittsburgh, who won last year at the Country Club; Walter J. Travis, once a British and thrice an American champion; E. M. Byers of Pittsburgh, who won in 1906, and such famous players as Robert Gardner and Mason Phelps of Chicago and T. M. Sherman of Utica.

As one of the Western players remarked: "The eliminations this morning were painful, but the slaughter this afternoon was dreadful."

When Secretary R. C. Watson came off the last green a couple of hours after noon yesterday with a card that just completed the necessary thirty-two players for the afternoon play, the committee immediately drew the opponents for the first round of match play. The drawing was a public event, and all hands regretted that it brought together such brilliant golfers as Travers and Travis, Herreshoff and Fownes, and Seckel and Gardner. Hilton drew a place at the top of the list, while Charles Evans is near the foot, and it is figured that if each of these players should continue his winning streak for the next three days it will be Saturday when they cross clubs for the first time.

The honors of the day were easily Hilton's, and the odds against his chance of winning the American title were considerably lower last night. The first prize in the tournament went to him on the completion of the thirty-six-hole medal play for which he turned in a card of 150, that led Gardner and Seckel by two strokes. Mr. Hilton also hopes to take home with him to the Royal Liverpool Golf Club on Saturday the championship medal and the Havemeyer Cup.

It was necessary to make 163 or better in order to keep in the play in the afternoon, and there were just thirty-two players who accomplished it.

Nearly all the afternoon matches were well fought, two of them going an extra hole and one being finished on the eighteenth green.

The drawings to-morrow are as follows: Hilton and Watson, Hunter and Travers, Inslee and Martin, Bowers and Whittemore, Herreshoff and Stickney, Kirkby and Brown, Seckel and Legg, Evans and Kammer.

The following is the complete list of those who qualified for the first match play round:

H. H. Hilton, Royal, 150; Albert Seckel, Riverside, 152; Robert A. Gardner, Hinsdale, 152; Paul Hunter, Midlothian, 153; Oswald Kirkby, Englewood, 155; G. Evans, Jr., Edgewater, 155; W. C. Fownes, Jr., Oakmont, 156; W. J. Travis, Garden City, 156; Fred Herreshoff, Ekwanok, 157; H. G. Legg, Minikahda, 158; C. J. Sullivan, Baltusrol, 159; G. T. Brokaw, Garden City, 159; T. M. Sherman, Yahnundasis, 159; J. D. Travers, Upper Montclair, 159; W. W. Taylor, Ekwanok, 160; S. J. Graham, Greenwich, 160; M. E. Phelps, Midlothian, 160; E. M. Byers, Alleghany, 160; R. F. Mundy, Audubon, 160; J. H. Rhett, Crescent A. C., 160; S. G. Stickney, St. Louis, 161; A. G. Kammer, Fox Hills, 161; G. Brown, Wyantenuck, 161; P. W. Whittemore, Country Club, 162; F. A. Martin, Ekwanok, 162; W. E. Shackelford, Atlantic City, 163; J. Douglas Brown, Murray Field, 163; C. W. Inslee, Wykagyl, 163; S. D. Bowers, Brooklawn, 163; H. E. Kenworthy, Metacomet, 163; R. C. Watson, Westbrook, 163; A. C. Travis, Englewood, 163.

Match Play—First Round—Hilton won from Graham, 3 up and 2 to play; Watson won from Kenworthy, 2 up and 1 to play; Hunter won from Brokaw, 2 up and 1 to play; Travers won from Travis, 3 up and 2 to play; Inslee won from Byers, 1 up; Martin won from Mundy, 3 up and 2 to play; Bowers won from Sullivan, 1 up, 19 holes; Whittmore won from A. C. Travis, 3 up and 2 to play; Stickney won from Shackelford, 1 up, 19 holes; Herreshoff won from Fownes, 3 up and 4 to play; J. D. Browne won from Taylor, 3 up and 2 to play; Kirkby won from Rhett, 5 up and 4 to play; Seckel won from Gardner, 4 up and 3 to play; Legg won from T. M. Sherman, 5 up and 3 to play; Evans won from G. Brown, 7 up and 6 to play; Kammer won from Phelps, 4 up and 2 to play.

MUST GET FIRE HEAD'S O. K.

Commissioner Johnson to Scrutinize All Fight Club Applications.

That there will be no more laxity in the matter of the safety of patrons of fight clubs in New York City was evidenced by the announcement yesterday by Fire Commissioner Johnson that in future, by an arrangement with the State Athletic Commission, all applications for licenses to hold boxing exhibitions will be forwarded by the commission to the Fire Department for Commissioner Johnson's approval.

Therefore, from now on Inspectors will make examinations of all buildings in which clubs asking for licenses will hold their bouts, and no licenses will be issued unless all the Fire Department requirements are met.

Investigation was immediately begun on the buildings of the following clubs: Brooklyn Beach A. C., 6,423 Third Avenue, Brooklyn; Fordon Amusement Company, 314 to 320 Grand Street, New York, and Carlyle A. C., Elk Park, Wyckoff Avenue and Halsey Street, Brooklyn, all of which have made applications for licenses from the commission.

In connection with the commission's work to-day, there will be another examination into the proposition as to the year's lease, supposedly held by the Madison Square A. C. for Madison Square Garden. Rumor has it that six men connected with the club and the Garden will be quizzed at this morning's session. Among the half dozen are Frank K. Sturgis, President of the Madison Square Garden Company; J. C. Young, the Secretary-Treasurer, and Alwyn Ball, Jr., who represents the syndicate which purchased the Garden, and which will take possession Feb. 5 next.

SMALL CHANCE FOR FIGHT.

Wolgast-McFarland Bout at Milwaukee Probably Blocked by Sheriff.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 12.—The obtaining of an injunction prohibiting the Sheriff of Milwaukee County from interfering with the ten-round boxing contest on Friday night between Lightweight Champion Ad Wolgast and Packey McFarland of Stock Yards fame appears to be the only means left by which the promoters will be able to stage the bout.

A conference between State officials and the National Athletic Club which was expected to-day did not materialize, and, furthermore, Acting Gov. Thomas Morris, who was in La Crosse to-day, declared nothing could be accomplished by such a meeting. One of the attorneys in the State Law Department at Madison announced that an opinion bearing on the fistic affair was in course of preparation, and a hint was dropped that it would be adverse to the holding of the contest, on the ground that the star bout came within the prohibitory clause.

Matchmaker Mulkern still contends that the bout will take place.

Pal Moore and Murphy Draw.

BOSTON, Sept. 12.—Tommy Murphy of New York and Pal Moore of Philadelphia fought 12 rounds to a draw at the Armory Athletic Association to-night. The decision was generally well received.

THE COMMODITY MARKETS.

WHEAT.—The market at present is narrow so that temporary congestion is easily brought about. Oversold pit conditions were disclosed yesterday, when following some weakness at the start, efforts on the part of shorts to cover, and a small increase in commission house demand brought about a fair recovery and established small net gains. Sentiment seems to be slightly bullish, as is attested to by the buying on the scale down, but pending the disposition of the liberal stocks and an increase in public interest the buying is not aggressive.

Early heaviness in the market was attributed to further disappointment over foreign markets. Fair declines were scored at leading centres abroad, with crop conditions generally favorable, particularly from Argentine, which country may help to offset the deficiency in the Russian crop. Inquiry from abroad at present is not of an urgent character, although on the small declines a moderate business is reported. Movement of Spring wheat continues liberal, with American Northwestern markets reflecting larger offerings than anticipated, but it is the general opinion that the small crop of Spring wheat will lead to conservative marketing by farmers. The fate of the reciprocity measure in Canada on the 22d inst. will doubtless influence farmers materially.

Steadiness late in the day was generally ascribed to considerable buying by interests who sold early. Flour advices from Minneapolis were more optimistic, and there were reports of a bullish tenor relative to the crop of Western Canada, but these lacked detail and were not generally credited. Bradstreet's report was comparatively bullish, showing an increase of 1,298,000 bushels, against an increase of over 9,000,000 bushels last year. World's wheat stocks are about equal to last year, but it is noteworthy that holdings in Europe are smaller, amounting to only 76,000,000 bushels, against 90,000,000 last year. American and Canadian stocks are 60,000,000 bushels, against 44,000,000 last year. The weekly weather report given by the Government partly confirmed advices at hand last week of wet weather interfering with harvesting and being rather unseasonable otherwise.

Cash No. 2 red was quoted at 98¾c, elevator, export basis, and 99¾c, free on board, afloat, for export; No. 1 Northern Spring, $1.10¾; No. 1 Northern Manitoba, $1.08¼.

CORN.—The good undertone continues, and although with the early reaction in wheat there was some selling pressure, the loss was more than regained in the late trading. The cash situation is still healthy, and while export demand from foreigners shows some diminution holders are confident of surplus corn being readily disposed of. Weather conditions are good, with the Iowa State report rather bearish, claiming that about 10 per cent. was already safe from frost, but such conditions and reports do not accelerate country marketing, farmers continuing to offer only in a very limited way. Predictions were for lighter receipts next week. Cash No. 2 Western quoted at 74¾c, elevator, domestic basis, and No. 2 corn quoted at 74¼c, free on board, afloat, for export.

OATS.—Price movements are governed largely by the fluctuations in wheat and corn. Sentiment continues slightly bullish, due to the feed crop situation, which is conducive to a good demand. Speculative buying was in smaller volume, but sentiment is bullish in the main. Cash standards quoted at 49c; No. 2 white, 49½c; No. 3 white, 48½c.

PROVISIONS.—The undertone was weak for a time on rather bearish hog advices and selling by packers, but a somewhat steadier undertone developed as the pressure subsided. Sentiment is mixed, but there is still a belief in many quarters that offerings from manufacturers will be liberal on the scale up.

COTTONSEED OIL.

The early session was excited with initial prices showing declines of over 20 points as compared with Monday's finals. Interests which were the best buyers at the recent high levels were among the largest sellers, and in absence of support the list yielded easily. At the decline a better class of buying was reported, and it was predicted that foreign inquiry would probably improve on the reaction. The weakness in lard attracted some attention, and while the cotton situation is not convincing to either bulls or bears, it is the consensus of opinion that prospects favor a large outturn. Crude was offered more freely on the basis of recent sales, but demand was lacking and some concessions were reported. The market was quoted at 5.13@5.34.

COTTON.

Despite a heavy movement of new cotton and a further lowering of the spot basis at several Southern points, the undertone to the market was very steady during yesterday's session. Rather bullish private crop estimates were at hand, resulting in some conservative short covering, but it is still evident that outside enthusiasm is at a minimum. Trading was not heavy, and the belief prevailed in some quarters that no decided change could be expected until crop conditions are better understood and the trade situation defined more clearly.

Slightly lower quotations were witnessed during the early part of the day, due to the indifference of the Liverpool market and generally favorable weather for cotton maturing and picking. Demand from spot interests, however, was fair, and there was decidedly less pressure from the South and Wall Street. Some buying was caused by the Norden report showing deterioration since Aug. 25 of 3 points, and stating that while the deterioration was hardly more than normal for the period, it accentuates the facts shown by the last bureau report that this crop no longer ranks with the good crops of recent years. Comment on this report was not all one-sided, however, it being asserted in some quarters that while the condition figures may be bullish, the increased area and good cultivation of the crop are at least partial offsetting features.

At all events, however, just as there is an absence of bull aggressiveness, operators bearish on the situation are making little progress at this time. A rumor that the National Ginners' Association would issue a bullish report tended to restrict pressure. Private crop accounts vary in tenor, but little bullish information is to be had aside from parts of Arkansas and Alabama. The weekly weather report was rather bearish.

Port receipts were 56,000 bales, against 32,000 last year. Houston received 23,000 bales. Receipts to-day promise to be fairly liberal, and with good picking weather a moderate movement is expected in the near future, which the bears claim will tend to readjust the disparity between Southern spot markets and the local Exchange. Exports were about 10,000 bales and since Sept. 1 approximate 215,000 bales, against 154,000 last year. Manchester trade advices continue rather optimistic, but from other quarters no important change for the better is noted. A French cable reported business quiet and stocks large. In this country it is generally admitted that business is quiet, but stocks very limited.

Southern spot markets were generally easier; Savannah ⅛c lower and others unchanged to 1-16c decline. New York spot cotton was .05c advance; middlings, 11.85c.

COFFEE.

Coffee was quiet early and 2 to 4 points lower, but became more active and advanced, sharply closing firm at a net gain of 3 to 13 points. Total sales were 108,500 bags. The buying movement was believed to be inspired by continued firmness in Brazil. Private cables from Santos complained of the flowering for the new crop and other unfavorable crop advices from the interior. Havre declined ¼ to ½ franc and Hamburg was ¼ to 1 pfennig lower. Early cables reported Rio 75 reis lower and Santos unchanged to 50 reis higher, and the special cable said the Santos market was quiet, with 4s 50 reis lower.

Spot coffee unchanged, 13⅝c for Rio No. 7. Contract prices follow:

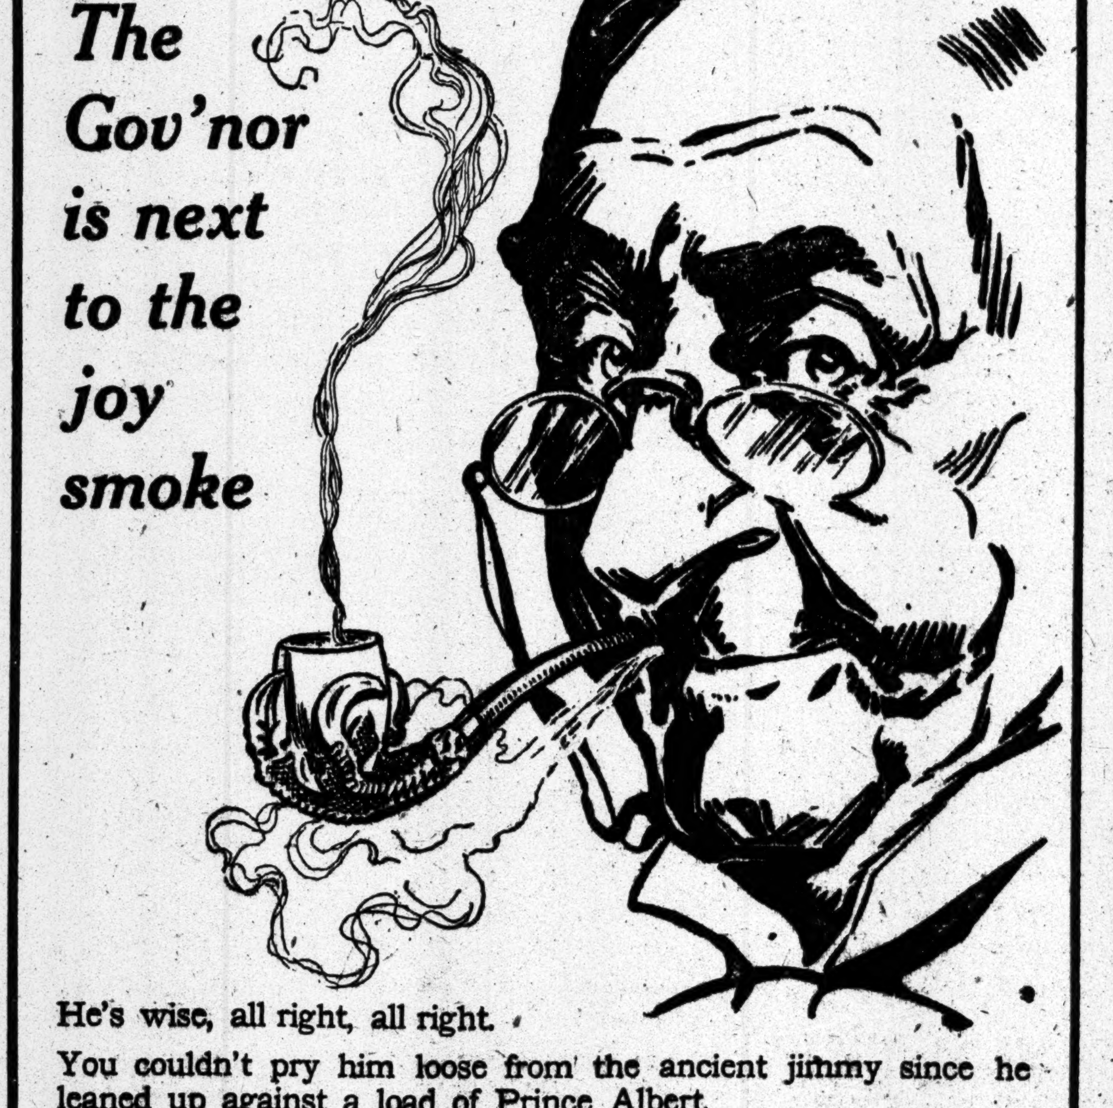
FOR THOSE WHO LIVE BY BRAIN WORK.



The Gov'nor is next to the joy smoke

He's wise, all right, all right. You couldn't pry him loose from the ancient jimmy since he leaned up against a load of Prince Albert.

PRINCE ALBERT
CRIMP CUT
LONG BURNING PIPE AND CIGARETTE TOBACCO

P. A. gets 'em. It's the great pipe popularizer. It's the tobacco that kicks over all your old notions of pipe-smoking and gives you a fresh, new start with the joy banners waving.

You can smoke P. A. the clock around and like it more and more every puff. It can't bite your tongue. It can't get rank. It can't turn your feelin's topsy-turvy. Simply CAN'T.

The exclusive patented process takes out the bite, all the cantankerousness, leavin' nothin' but pure smokin' joy.

It's because of this process that Prince Albert is a class by itself, with the "justasgoods" no good by a blamed sight. Don't fall for the substitute bune. Get P. A.

At all tobacco-ries. 10c in the tidy red tin. 5c in a protected bag that keeps the tobacco fresh and sweet for cigarette smokers. Pound and half-pound humidors.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks Close at Net Advance After Irregular Movements on Reduced Trading.

MONEY MOVEMENT ABROAD

Canada Again Drawing Gold from New York—Dividend Results on Some Railroads.

Both at the opening and at the close the stock market yesterday showed firmness. During the day the movements were irregular, but on balance the fluctuations were in the direction of improvement, and with few exceptions prices closed at some advance over Monday's prices. Most of the international stocks were quoted at advances before the opening here and this facilitated better prices at the start of trading in New York. The foreign markets themselves were uneven, though the close in all three of the principal European centres was steady. Neither the general tone on the European bourses nor the higher prices sent over from the other side for American stocks bore out the tenor of the morning's news regarding the status of the Moroccan situation, a fact which served to emphasize the strong conviction prevailing in the financial district here that, notwithstanding possible threatening incidents in the situation which is now engaging the attention of Europe, the Franco-German negotiations will be amicably concluded. The situation is, of course, one that makes for caution, however firm may be the conviction that peace will prevail. The labor situation is another of the continuing causes of hesitancy, but yesterday's news that official sanction had been refused to a strike on the Illinois Central naturally increased the confidence of those who have held to the view that a strike at this time was improbable.

The announcement of the failure of a Stock Exchange house was made the signal for one of the selling movements which brought about sharp downward turns in yesterday's market, but recovery from this recession was rapid. The belief prevailed that this incident had very little if any connection with the present position of the market, and for that reason contained no element to cause any uneasiness. Some of the day's monetary developments were interesting, but it was rather in the European markets than here that money market changes of importance were under way. A sharp drop in sterling exchange in Paris indicated the drawing in of funds from London, while a reaction in the sterling rate in Berlin following the sharp advance on Monday suggested that the outflow from Berlin to London and indirectly from Berlin to Paris had been checked. Sterling exchange here has been firm and again rose slightly yesterday, which is not unnatural in view of the buying back by this market of American securities sold by European holders. The withdrawal yesterday of $250,000 gold from the Sub-Treasury for shipment to Canada was possibly the forerunner of other similar shipments designed to meet the increasing demands for currency in Canada.

The recent discussion of the position of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul dividend gives added interest to the annual report of that road issued yesterday. It bore out the preliminary estimates that the dividend for the year was earned with a slight surplus. This surplus, the report shows, was $127,000, which, of course, is a very narrow margin over the road's dividend requirements, which amount to more than $16,000,000. The Boston & Maine's showing for the past year, which derives increased importance from the current discussion regarding the New Haven's dividend, showed a deficit of $1,602,000 compared with a surplus of $783,000 the previous year, although the rate of dividend on the increased stock of the road was reduced during the year from 6 per cent. to 4 per cent. In pleasing contrast with the results of the year on this road was the information current in banking circles regarding the showing to be made by the forthcoming annual report of the Lehigh Valley, concerning whose dividend rumor has also busied itself, although bankers closely identified with the road express complete confidence in the maintenance of the present rate. The forthcoming annual report, it was said, allowing for the decrease during the year in fixed charges and after increased charges for maintenance, would show a higher rate earned on the stock than was reported for the previous year.

THE EUROPEAN MARKETS.

Tone Good on London Exchange, Firm in Paris, Steadier in Berlin.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—The supply of money was shorter to-day owing to the withdrawal of French funds from the local market.

Traders on the Stock Exchange were busy with the settlement, in which the carryover rates for American shares were quoted at 3½ per cent. A fair amount of business was done for the new account and the tone was good, especially in Kaffirs and copper shares. Home rails were exceptions to the general trend, and declined on realizing.

American securities opened steady, and during the forenoon advanced under the lead of Canadian Pacific. In the rest of the session the trading was limited, and fluctuations were moderate. The closing was steady.

Money, 1@1¼ per cent.

The rate of discount in the open market for short bills is 3 per cent.; for three months 3⅛ per cent.

Gold premium at Madrid, 8.35; at Lisbon, 7.

PARIS, Sept. 12.—The Bourse opened firm to-day, and continued so until the last hour, when prices declined a fraction. The closing was steady.

Three per cent. rentes, 94f 42½c for the account.

Private rate of discount, 3 per cent.

BERLIN, Sept. 12.—Prices opened rather weak on the Boerse to-day. The market strengthened later and closed steady.

Exchange on London, 20 marks 47½ pfennigs for checks.

Money, 2¾ per cent.

Private rate of discount, 3¾ per cent.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Business in Southwest.

As has been frequently noted, business in the South and Southwest has been free from many of the depressing influences felt throughout other sections in the last two years. The South has had good corn and cotton crops, and business in all lines has felt the resulting stimulation. There has been a great increase in the number of industrial plants put into operation. The Missouri, Kansas & Texas, for example, reports that in the last year 245 new manufacturing plants were started along its line, and while there has been no appreciable abatement in agricultural pursuits, interest in manufacturing his been rapidly increasing. The new plants opened in the Missouri, Kansas & Texas's territory last year represent a capital investment of $4,575,000, and employ 3,136 persons. In the previous year the company reported the establishment of 158 new manufacturing plants.

Willard on His Dividend.

Daniel Willard, President of the Baltimore & Ohio, who returned from Europe yesterday, discouraged to some extent the recent talk of a probable cut in the dividend rate on that road. Mr. Willard said he was still of the opinion, which he had expressed before, that Baltimore & Ohio is a conservative 6 per cent. issue. Judged by the earnings of the first two months of the current fiscal year, he did not believe that there was any present worry among the shareholders over the dividends. Mr. Willard was quoted as promising to earn enough money for continuing the 6 per cent. rate this year, putting the question of declaring it up to the Directors. Mr. Willard told the Baltimore & Ohio's German stockholders that he saw no reason to look for a reduction in the rate, but Wall Street continues to predict that the company will go on a 5 per cent., or possibly even a 4 per cent. basis next year. The stock gained a quarter of a point yesterday.

Tobacco Strong Before Conference.

American Tobacco common, which has been strong on the Curb for some weeks, in face of the general declines in the market, advanced to 401 yesterday, but did not hold the advance, the close being at 397, after transactions of 296 shares. At yesterday's high point the shares showed a gain of 37 points over the low level reached early in August, and 25 points of this advance has been made since Sept. 1. Coincidently with the show of strength in the common shares, yesterday, the 4 per cent. and 6 per cent. bonds were active on the Stock Exchange. The 4s in the early part of the session were up 1¼ points from the closing price of Monday. As in the case of the common stock, however, the gain was not maintained, and the close, 87⅝, was even with the close of the previous day, although still ⅜ of a point above Monday's opening. The 6s, although less active, closed at an advance of ½ point. The hope was expressed yesterday that after the conference with the court to-morrow, the reorganization plans will have been advanced to a point where their public discussion may be taken up with the various security holders.

September Calls for London Funds.

Payments on securities falling due in London this month aggregate £6,639,902, or approximately $33,199,510. This is £909,371, or about $4,546,855, less than the payments on calls in September last year.

Sugar Speculation.

Sugar trade men believe that a large factor in the rapid advance in sugar in the last two months has been due to the speculative opportunities offered abroad, where the commodity is traded in on much the same basis as cotton or coffee in this market. There is speculation here, too, if trade reports are trustworthy, but it is limited to the refiners and dealers with capital enough to take over the actual stuff in lots of hundreds of tons and pay storage, cooperage, and other charges incident to actual warehousing operations.

STOCKS OUT OF TOWN

Irregular Movements, with Some Sharp Declines Due to Local Causes.

SOME INVESTMENT BUYING

Demand for Odd Lots in Philadelphia Taken as Evidence of the Presence of the Investment Buyer—Sears-Roebuck's Position.

Price movements were somewhat irregular in the principal out-of-town markets yesterday. There was a local holiday in Baltimore.

In Chicago there were losses of a point or more intermingling with gains of a like amount. Sears-Roebuck sold off more than a full point compared with last night and closed a fraction above 134, and there were fractional losses in Diamond Match, People's Gas, and some others. Commonwealth Edison was the strong feature, with a gain of 1½ at the best, though easing off a fraction from this later. The Can issues were up slightly. Practically all of the selling of Sears-Roebuck common on the Chicago Exchange, it appears, has been local liquidation. The further break in the price to around 134 was the direct result of this pressure. A prominent broker who has executed most of the orders in the stock explained that the selling has been due to market conditions, and that it is not caused by any falling off in the company's business, which showed sales in August comfortably ahead of those of a year ago, while a substantial increase has been shown thus far in September. It is true that net profits have averaged at a lower rate in the last few months, which is due to numerous reasons, and the surplus returns will be less on account of paying dividends on $10,000,000 more common stock than a year ago.

Notwithstanding the continued investment demand for Pennsylvania, which was again very much in evidence to-day, as shown by the large quantity of odd-lot transactions recorded on the tape, the stock developed renewed weakness, selling down well below 60. Later it rallied moderately, but not so consistently as some of the other leaders. Lehigh Valley, as well as Reading, was also under pressure at intervals, but both met support from investment buying.

The undertone in the Boston market was somewhat stronger, and a fair demand was noted for the copper shares. Amalgamated, East Butte, and North Butte were active, and all made fractional gains for the day. Among the miscellaneous issues, United Shoe Machinery was the feature, with a decline of nearly two points, to 41¼.

Yesterday's transactions on the various out-of-town Exchanges as reported to THE NEW YORK TIMES were as follows:

ST. PAUL'S NET DECREASE.

Due, Says President Earling, to Inability to Raise Rates and Higher Wages.

The annual report of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway for the fiscal year, which ended on June 30 last, showed a surplus earned for the stock of $16,358,314. A year's dividends of 7 per cent. each on the preferred and common stock required $16,230,000, leaving the road with a narrow margin over its stock needs.

The St. Paul's new extension to the coast, the Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound, contributed $5,000,000 to the parent company's income by the payment of two dividends during the year. One of these, amounting to $2,300,000, was paid out of the Puget Sound's earnings in the past year, which amounted to $2,772,197 after charges, while the other, of $2,700,000, was charged to the profit and loss accounts as coming out of the net income of the preceding year, 1910.

The St. Paul's gross earnings last year were $64,975,995, an increase of only $129,000 over 11910, while its operating expenses increased in the same time $2,262,721. Net earnings from operation were $17,922,276, a decrease of $2,133,620 from the preceding year.

"The large decrease in the net operating revenue is accounted for by the inability to obtain increased rates and the great increase in the cost of labor," explained President A. J. Earling.

The St. Paul's income account for the year was charged with only half a year's dividends. The payment for the first half of the year is carried in the report as a charge against the profit and loss account.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Weather favorable to the maturing of the corn crop continues over the Middle West, high temperatures being reported from the Plains States, and moderate though cooler weather in the Mississippi and Ohio Valleys.

Winds along the New England Coast will be moderate north; Middle Atlantic Coast, light to moderate north; South Atlantic Coast, light to moderate variable.

Steamships departing Wednesday for European ports will have moderate north to east winds and generally fair weather to the Grand Banks.

THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Two Important Deals in the Fort Washington Section—Investor Buys the Tacoma—Loft Project for East Seventeenth Street—Bronx and Suburban Sales.

A cash deal involving nearly $250,000 for a new apartment house in the Fort Washington section of the upper west side and the sale of a plot for prospective improvement in 167th Street reflected the great activity in that part of the city for investment buying. The apartment house sale was that of the Tacoma, a six-story structure, with stores, completed about two months ago, and which is now about three-fourths rented, all of the stores being occupied.

It was sold to a client of Henry Oppenheimer, who negotiated the deal for the Tacoma Construction Company, Benjamin Barnett, President. The holding price has been $250,000. The house occupies a plot, 100 by 100 feet, at 1,364 to 1,370 St. Nicholas Avenue, within 50 feet of both 178th and 179th Streets. The sellers acquired the plot in May, 1910, from Hellner & Wolf and the Realty Mortgage Company.

The other west side deal included the plot, 50 by 85 feet, at 508 and 510 West 167th Street, being on the south side, 175 feet west of Amsterdam Avenue. An old three-story building occupies part of the plot. It was bought by the Brown Realty Company from Max Magnes and Henry Guttman. In part payment the buyers gave a three-story dwelling at 55 Sound View Avenue, New Rochelle, on a plot 50 by 100. The buyers of the 167th Street parcel, it is said, will hold the property for resale to a builder.

Buys Midtown Loft Site.

Joseph A. Damsey has purchased from Hellner & Wolf 17 East Seventeenth Street, an old four-story dwelling, on a lot 25 by 100. The buyer will erect a seven-story loft on the site.

Sale on East Sixty-eighth Street.

Mrs. Nora M. Moran has purchased from Moses and Abraham Gluck 228 East Sixty-eighth Street, a three-story dwelling, on a plot, 18.6 by 100.5. The William S. Anderson Company were the brokers in the transaction.

Investors Buy Tenements.

Duff & Conger have sold for Goldfield & Lachman the five-story store and tenement property at the northwest corner of First Avenue and Eighty-eighth Street, 50 by 100, to an investor, who has retained Duff & Conger as agents for the property.

T. Scott & Son have sold for Valentine Yehling to J. Kahn the five-story double flat 166 East Seventy-eighth Street, on a lot 25 by 102.2.

Crist & Herrick have sold for William S. Bogert the five-story apartment house at 41 Jane Street, on lot 26.5 by 87, to a client for investment.

Bronx.

The Knepper Realty Company has sold for a client 615 and 617 East 138th Street, a six-story building, 37.6 by 100, to Serafina Piciulo, and has taken in part payment four lots at Corona, L. I.

Samuel Weil has sold the southeast corner of 180th Street and Third Avenue, a plot about 100 by 275, to the Kellwood Realty Company, for immediate improvement. The seller held the property for over twenty years.

Hand Brothers have sold to Bachan & Wolfe the lot, 25 by 100, on the west side of Bathgate Avenue, 310 feet south of 172d Street.

Brooklyn.

E. C. Vail, Jr., has sold a two-family detached house on Eighty-second Street, near Nineteenth Avenue, Bensonhurst, to a party who had previously bought four houses from him.

The Pinover Construction Company has sold a three-family brick house on Nineteenth Avenue, near Benson Avenue, and two stucco two-family houses on Bay Parkway.

Recent Buyers.

Mrs. T. B. Van Beuren is the buyer of the dwelling 55 West Seventy-first Street.

A. H. Muller is the purchaser of the dwelling 270 West Seventy-seventh Street, sold recently.

Leases.

Heil & Stern have leased for the Pocono Company, the fourth loft in the building at the northeast corner of Fourth Avenue and Eighteenth Street, containing 22,000 square feet, for a long term of years, at a total rental of $75,000, to Messrs. Rothschild Brothers & Co.

Everett M. Seixas & Co. have leased for the 507 Fifth Avenue Company, offices 1,204 and 1,205 to Mrs. Emma H. Brinkley and Miss Jessie Brinkley.

The three-story dwelling at 217 East Seventy-second Street has been leased by the William S. Anderson Company for Clara A. Ellis to a client.

New Uptown Church Plans.

Revised plans have been filed for the new home for the Fourth Avenue Presbyterian Church, which will be on the northwest corner of Broadway and 114th Street. The plans call for a one-story church edifice, 56.9 feet high, with a tower at the street corner, and having a frontage of 72.9 feet on Broadway. A three-story parish house will be built in the rear of the church, in which will be a gymnasium and lecture rooms. A three-story office building will be constructed on the Broadway plot, adjoining the church, with a frontage of 28 feet. In architectural design it will harmonize with the church edifice. The buildings are to cost $150,000, according to the estimate of the architect, Louis E. Jallade.

BROKERS FAIL WITH $600,000 BAD DEBTS

DEFALCATION RUMORS FALSE

Firm Had Employed Jackson, Who Was Murdered by Geidel, but His Accounts Are Straight.

The Stock Exchange firm of Van Schaick & Co., 7 Wall Street, which had passed down from father to son, and had been actively in business for more than half a century, failed yesterday. The announcement caused little surprise and had almost no effect on the market.

Rumors of trouble in the firm's affairs had been floating about the market for a week or more, but the first definite news the Street got of the firm's true condition came shortly after 10 o'clock yesterday morning when John B. Van Schaick, board member of the firm, went to the floor of the Stock Exchange and turned in his membership card, explaining that he and his partner, Derby Crandall, who have composed the firm since 1907, were unable to meet their obligations. As a matter of fact, it was stated authoritatively later in the day that Messrs. Van Schaick and Crandall had been making a desperate struggle ever since Tuesday of last week to keep their heads above water and avoid an assignment.

The firm fails for $500,000, against which are about $600,000 bad, or at least very slow, debts, according to a statement from Eliot Norton, a lawyer, of 2 Rector Street, who was named as assignee. Besides these debts of $600,000 on which it has so far not been possible to realize, the firm has, Mr. Norton declares, about $3,500,000 assets in high-class securities, against which are $2,500,000 loaned to the firm by banks, and other liabilities, which practically remove these assets from consideration in any effort to estimate the condition of the business. Mr. Norton says, therefore, that if it is possible to collect the $600,000 due the firm every creditor will be paid dollar for dollar, and the house will resume business. He hopes, and says he has good reason to expect, that this can be done. He was out after bad debtors yesterday an hour after a general assignment of the firm's business had been made to him.

No Defalcation; Jackson's Accounts Straight.

News of the failure had not been on the street ten minutes before there was connected with it a story of a heavy defalcation by some one connected with the house, causing it to suspend. As soon as the story was repeated to Mr. Crandall and Mr. Norton it was denied emphatically, and no explanation could be given by them of its origin. The opinion was expressed, however, that Wall Street had curiously enough connected up two rumors, one about a defalcation and the other about a failure, and applied both to the case of Van Schaick & Co.

A report was in circulation last week that a failure for $750,000 by a Stock Exchange house was imminent, due to a defalcation. About twenty-four hours later came the announcement of the failure of L. B. Wilson & Co., 60 Wall Street, members of the Consolidated Stock Exchange. This failure was due, according to Mr. Wilson, to falsification of the firm's accounts by D. M. Ferguson, the junior partner, who had disappeared. The loss in this case was estimated, however, at only $35,000. Wall Street apparently had accepted this failure as the origin of the rumor regarding a Stock Exchange house, but the report of a defalcation was revived as soon as the news of the Van Schaick suspension was flashed about the district.

Van Schaick & Co. were the employers of William H. Jackson, the aged man for whose murder Paul Geidel, bellboy at the Iroquois Hotel, where Jackson lived, was recently sentenced to prison for twenty years or more. Jackson had been cashier for the firm for many years, and a hurried examination of its books yesterday by Mr. Norton showed that he speculated in stocks through the firm, and at his death owed it about $11,000. This amount, Mr. Norton said, was amply covered by securities owned by Jackson's estate, and in the firm's possession, and that he had no doubt whatever but that the estate was solvent. Mr. Norton added that Jackson's accounts had been found to be straight, and nothing he had done was in any way responsible for the failure.

Mr. Van Schaick went straight to his home, 500 Madison Avenue, from the Stock Exchange after handing in his membership card, leaving explanations to be made by his partner, Mr. Crandall, and by Mr. Norton. Mr. Crandall issued a very brief statement, and all comers after that were referred to Mr. Norton. Mr. Crandall said:

"If we could collect the money due us we could pay our debts in full. The failure is due to inability to collect in the face of a dropping market."

Mr. Norton considerably amplified this. He said that the Van Schaick firm was one of the oldest in Wall Street. It had been conservative and had carried a large number of long-standing accounts. In some instances accounts had not been balanced in years. A number of old customers had come to owe the firm, some $2,000 and some $25,000 or more. While business was good and the market strong there had been no occasion to press these customers, and when the market became first unsettled, then weak, and stocks began to seek new low levels the firm found itself embarrassed. An effort was made to collect, and it was found that these overextensions of credit had been a serious mistake, because the customers who had been indulged either would not or could not pay their indebtedness.

One Big Creditor Unpaid.

According to Mr. Norton, the firm felt its first shock on Tuesday of last week when a customer of many years' standing and a warm friend of Mr. Van Schaick came to the office and asked for a settlement of his account. The firm owed this customer about $100,000. Mr. Van Schaick replied that it was impossible at that time to pay the entire amount, and the customer who, Mr. Norton says, was as considerate as possible, asked if there was any objection to his seeing the firm's books. Mr. Van Schaick replied there was none, and Mr. Norton added that this was the first time an examination of the books had been made by an outsider. This creditor was not paid in full, and, Mr. Norton says, he enjoys no preference over other creditors. This man was one of the largest creditors, and there are about 150 others, to most of whom very small amounts are due. On the other hand, there are between 150 and 200 persons who owe the firm, the highest single indebtedness being $30,000.

Mr. Norton said that among the $3,500,000 worth of securities which had been deposited with the banks to secure the loan of about $2,500,000 were some of the choicest stocks on the market, and that the banks were giving no trouble whatever. Nearly all of these banks called him up yesterday and offered, he said, to carry the present loans without additional security.

Speaking of the willingness of persons not debtors to help the firm out as an evidence of faith in it, Mr. Norton said that only an hour or so before he had received an offer to lend the firm $100,000. He added that if this offer had come on Monday night the firm might have been saved. In this connection Mr. Norton said he was seriously considering the advisability of making public the list of customers of the firm who had failed to pay up when the very existence of the firm depended on it. He denied that either member of the firm had personally speculated to any great extent.

For about three months Van Schaick & Co. have been clearing for F. W. Duryea & Co., who occupy a suite next to theirs, because the Stock Exchange suspended the latter firm for that period for a violation of the Exchange rules regarding carrying accounts for employes of other Stock Exchange members. Mr. Norton, when asked if the accounts which Duryea & Co. carried were in any way responsible for Van Schaick & Co.'s suspension, replied that it was yet impossible to tell how the accounts of the two firms balanced, but that it was certain that Van Schaick & Co. held securities belonging to Duryea & Co. sufficient to cover every dollar of that firm's indebtedness, if there was any.

Van Schaick & Co. had branch offices in Jersey City and in Baltimore, the latter being, it was said, the chief outside source of business until recently, when little business had come in from the South.

The firm celebrated its fiftieth anniversary on Oct. 17, 1907. The house was founded by Jacob Van Schaick in 1857, grandfather of the present head of the firm. John B. Van Schaick is a graduate of both Harvard and Cambridge University, England. He is a member of the New York Yacht, University, Harvard, and Riding Clubs. His wife was formerly Miss Gertrude M. Knowlton. He is an athlete, and two years ago won a $500 wager by walking from the University Club to Gramatan Inn, Bronxville, sixteen miles, in 3 hours 57 minutes and 30 seconds.

Derby Crandall, the junior partner, was formerly office manager for the firm, and was taken in as partner when, after the death of A. S. Gorham, the firm was reorganized in 1907. He had formerly been with L. G. Quinlan & Co., 66 Broadway.

Will of Man Killed by Taxicab Disposes of Estate of $200,000.

The will of William H. Stanford, who died from the effect of injuries received in being run down by a taxicab on Aug. 31, was probated yesterday in Newark. He left bequests of $3,000 each for the endowment of rooms for old men in both the Pole Haines Home for Aged People at Watsessing and the Society of St. John's Home in New York.

Legacies of $50,000 each are left to Mary Mercereau of East Orange and Jennie Clark Denman of Newark. He left the pharmacy which he kept at 256 Mulberry Street, Newark, from some time early in the sixties until his death to Theodore Grimes, a clerk in his employ.

The value of the estate is about $200,000, and Mary Mercereau is named as residuary legatee.

LATEST CUSTOMS RULINGS.

Dress Protractors Made Wholly of Pyroxylin Must Pay Higher Duty.

The Board of United States General Appraisers has handed down a decision to the effect that articles made wholly of celluloid are dutiable as finished or partly finished articles of which collodion or any compound of pyroxylin or of other cellulose enters as the component material of chief value at 65 cents a pound and 30 per cent. ad valorem. The merchandise in question consists of dress protractors made wholly of pyroxylin. They were assessed for duty at the rates mentioned above.

F. B. Vandegrift & Co. contended in their protest that inasmuch as Paragraph 17, under which the assessment was made, provides for articles composed in chief value of pyroxylin, articles composed wholly of that substance are not included in that paragraph, and hence are dutiable at 20 per cent. as manufactured articles not enumerated or provided for elsewhere in the act of 1909. Judge Sharretts decides in his decision that the tariff does not contemplate the fine distinction sought by the importers, and accordingly overrules the protests. Collector Loeb's classification is upheld.

The O. Hommel Company succeeded in convincing the board that excessive duty was levied on importations of colors used for decorating chinaware and glassware. Duty was taken at the rate of 30 per cent. ad valorem under the provisions of Paragraph 58 of the act of 1897. This provision specifies the rates to accrue on colors, but it happens that the act also, in another paragraph, contains a lower rate on colors containing lead. Judge McClelland says that the official record sustains the contention of the importers for a tax of only 5 cents a pound. The Collector is reversed.

Thomas Meadows & Co. have been sustained partially in protests involving the classification of metal, paste, and jet articles intended for ornamental purposes. The merchandise consisted of crosses, necklets, clasps, brooches, collars, bracelets, and similar articles. Collector Loeb exacted duty under the jewelry paragraph at 60 per cent., whereas the importers alleged the goods entitled to a rate of 45 per cent. as manufactures in chief value of metal and paste. All of the claims are sustained with the exception of the necklets. These the board holds are dutiable as assessed.

NEGLECT KILLED CHRISTIAN SCIENTIST

So Coroner's Jury Decides in Case of Arthur W. Eager, Hotel Man, Treated Three Years by Healer.

KNOWS NOTHING OF MEDICINE

Mrs. Meeker Testifies That She Heals Only by Prayer—Case of Malaria Brought Fatal Complications.

"Death due to neglect" was the verdict of the Coroner's Jury in the inquest held before Coroner Feinberg yesterday on the death of Arthur W. Eager, manager of the Martha Washington Hotel. Mr. Eager died on Aug. 11 after three years of Christian Science treatment. The jury found that although the death was really due to chronic malaria this ailment had been aggravated into many other diseases by neglect.

At the inquest it developed that Eager was a devout Christian Scientist and an usher in one of the Science churches. Mrs. Mary Wilson Meeker, a Christian Science practitoner at 80 Madison Avenue, was the only person to treat him during his long illness. Just before Mr. Eager died Dr. Eugenie Hancock of 126 was called by Mrs. Eager. Dr. Hancock testified that he was so low then that she was unable to do anything to save his life.

Coroner's Physician Weston, who made the autopsy, testified that Mr. Eager died of a complication of diseases. He said he had a rupture of the spleen, internal hemorrhages, fatty heart and liver and chronic gastritis. Dr. Weston testified that all these complications were due to the lack of treatment for chronic malaria.

Mrs. Eager tesified that the night before his death her husband, who had been failing steadily for three years, complained of pains in his abdomen and retired early. He called her at 4:30 o'clock the next morning and seemed to be suffering intense pain. He refused to allow her to call a physician and insisted that she call Mrs. Meeker. She did this, and for a time her husband seemed to rest easier, but later he had another and more violent attack. Then she sent for Dr. Hancock, who was unable to do anything for her husband.

Mr. Meeker was then called. She is young, and was handsomely gowned. She testified that she had been treating Mr. Eager for nearly three years. At one time he had typhoid fever, which yielded to the treatment.

"Do you, a Christian Scientist, believe there is no such thing as disease and yet speak of malaria and typhoid and giving treatment for them?" asked the Coroner.

"I do not deny disease. I call myself a healer. How could I heal if there were no disease?" replied the witness.

"What is your treatment?" asked Coroner Feinberg.

"Prayer," answered Mrs. Meeker.

"Have you ever studied medicine?" asked the Coroner.

Mrs. Meeker replied that she had not. She also admitted that she knew nothing of the quinine treatment for malaria. She said she believed that the Christian Science treatment would cure cancer or any other kind of disease Coroner Feinberg then asked what her treatment was.

"We do not heal; God heals," replied Mrs. Meeker. "Our work is to pray to God to use his healing influence and to put the patient into a proper frame of mind and soul to receive it."

"Why didn't you heal this man?" questioned the Coroner.

"I do not feel that I had a fair chance," replied Mrs. Meeker.

Coroner Feinberg asked what she would do in the case of a man who had a broken leg or arm. The witness promptly replied that she would call a surgeon. The Coroner then wanted to know why she had refused to call a physician to attend Mr. Eager when she saw he was not yielding to her treatment.

"Our treatment cures those kind of ailments," answered the witness.

William Donahue of 1 Liberty Street, who appearde as counsel for Mrs. Meeker, asked her if she ever used medicine in her treatment. Sheh said she did not.

Coroner Feinberg, addressing the jury, disclaimed any intention of attacking a religious belief, but said

"If Mrs. Meeker's argument is right the Johnstown flood could have been stopped by absent treatment from this city. Gentlemen, I turn the matter over to you for consideration."

The jury was out only five minutes. The verdict seemed to surprise Mrs. Meeker.
